

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

THE EXTENT OF VOLUNTARY DISCLOSURE IN CORPORATE REPORTS OF SOUTH AFRICAN LISTED INDUSTRIAL COMPANIES

by

JEAN ELIZABETH MYBURGH

submitted in fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of

DOCTOR OF COMMERCE (ACCOUNTING SCIENCES)

in the

FACULTY OF ECONOMIC AND MANAGEMENT SCIENCES

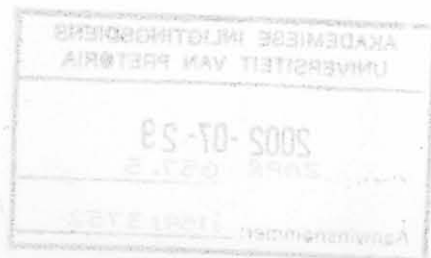

at the

UNIVERSITY OF PRETORIA

Promoter: Prof. L M Brümmer

PRETORIA

April 2001

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to record my sincere gratitude and appreciation to all persons who were involved in the completion of this thesis and in particular I thank the following:

- My promoter, Prof. Leon Brümmer, for his guidance, motivation and support while completing this study.
- The Bureau of Financial Analysis for the use of their facilities and specifically, Ms Ina Botes for her assistance with statistical manipulations.
- My friends and colleagues who pilot tested the questionnaires.
- Prof. C W I Pistorius for his professional advice.
- To all the financial directors and respondents who were willing to complete the questionnaires.
- Ms Chrissie Boeyens at the Merensky library for her assistance in providing the relevant literature.
- Mrs Marielienne Janeke for the linguistic editing of the thesis.
- My family and close friends for their unfailing encouragement, support, faith and interest in this study. To them I dedicate this thesis.

My Creator for giving me the health, strength and courage to complete this thesis.

	CONTENTS
		Page
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS		i
CONTENTS		ii
LIST OF TABLES		xii
LIST OF FIGURES		xvi
LIST OF ANNEXURES		xvi
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS		xvii
	CHAPTER 1
	INTRODUCTION
1.1	Background	1
1.2	Objectives and scope of the study	2
	1.2.1 Hypothesis formulation	3
1.3	Methodology and data base	4
1.4	The importance of the study	5
1.5	Limitations of the study	6
1.6	The structure of the study	6
1.7	Conclusion	8
	CHAPTER 2
	THE EVOLUTION OF CORPORATE DISCLOSURE
2.1	Introduction	9
2.2	The earliest form of informational disclosure	9
2.3	The development of disclosure and the emergence of reporting legislation in various countries	14
	2.3.1 Historical background	14
	2.3.2 Present-day voluntary disclosure	16
	2.3.2.1 The United Kingdom	16

2.3.2.2	The United States of America	17
2.3.2.3	Canada	17
2.3.2.4	Australia	17
2.3.2.5	New Zealand	18
2.3.3	The Republic of South Africa	18
2.3.4	International standardization	18
2.4	The influence of the Johannesburg Stock Exchange listing requirements on reporting practices	19
2.5	The influence of financial reporting awards on voluntary disclosure	21
2.5.1	Awards for best annual reports	21
2.5.2	Awards for employee, environmental and other reports	24
2.5.3	Awards by accountancy firms	26
2.6	Conclusion	27

CHAPTER 3

CONSTITUENTS OF THE FINANCIAL INFORMATION MARKET

3.1	Introduction	28
3.2	Definition of a constituent or user	30
3.3	Types of users	30
3.3.1	Internal users	32
3.3.1.1	Directors and top management	32
3.3.1.2	Auditors	34
3.3.2	External users	34
3.3.2.1	Shareholders/owners, investors and potential investors	35
3.3.2.2	Financiers and creditors	36
3.3.2.3	Employees	37
3.3.2.4	Government and official bodies	37
3.3.2.5	Customers	37
3.3.2.6	Financial analysts	38
3.3.2.7	Competitors	39
3.3.2.8	Society in general	39

3.4	Value relevance of qualitative characteristics of voluntary disclosure to users	42
3.4.1	Understandability	43
3.4.2	Relevance	43
3.4.3	Reliability	44
3.4.4	Comparability	45
3.4.5	Timeliness	45
3.5	Other sources of voluntary information	48
3.6	Conclusion	55

CHAPTER 4

VOLUNTARY DISCLOSURE IN CORPORATE REPORTS

4.1	Introduction	56
4.2	Objectives of annual reports	58
4.3	The nature of voluntary disclosure	60
4.3.1	Definition of disclosure	60
4.3.2	Distinction between mandatory disclosure and voluntary disclosure	60
4.4	The merits and benefits of improved voluntary disclosure	62
4.6	Statutory regulations governing disclosure	63
4.7	Inadequacies, limitations and problem areas of disclosure	65
4.8	Factors influencing a company's voluntary disclosure policy	67
4.8.1	The cost of disclosure in corporate annual reports	67
4.8.2	Number of shareholders	70
4.8.3	Listing status	71
4.9	The management of disclosure in annual reports	71
4.10	Disclosure and market efficiency	72
4.10.1	Basic definitions of market efficiency	75
4.10.2	Forms of market efficiency	76
4.10.3	The nature and role of efficient capital markets	76
4.10.4	Investor behaviour	77
4.10.5	Factors affecting share price volatility	78

4.10.6	Determining the value of a share	80
4.11	Conclusion	81
CHAPTER 5
VOLUNTARY DISCLOSED ITEMS
PERCEIVED AS PRICE-INFORMATIVE
5.1	Introduction	83
5.2	Biographical profile of the board of directors and top management	83
5.3	Size and nature of shareholdings	85
5.4	Table of comparative statistics	87
5.5	Corporate governance	87
5.5.1	Definition of corporate governance	88
5.5.2	Objectives of corporate governance	89
5.5.3	Background of corporate governance	89
5.5.4	Items discussed in corporate governance reports	91
5.5.4.1	Financial statements	92
5.5.4.2	Chairman and board of directors	92
5.5.4.3	Internal control	92
5.5.4.4	Committees	93
5.5.4.5	Management reporting	98
5.5.4.6	Ethics	98
5.5.4.7	Affirmative action	99
5.5.4.8	Going concern	99
5.5.4.9	Worker participation	99
5.5.4.10	Fraud	100
5.5.4.11	Insider trading	100
5.5.4.13	Conclusion	101
5.6	Segment reporting	102
5.6.1	Definition of a segment	103
5.7	The value added statement or statement of wealth created	106
5.7.1	The format of the value added statement	107

5.8	Inflation reporting Zelenka (1997)	108
5.8.1	Advantages of inflation adjusted accounting	109
5.8.2	Disadvantages of inflation adjusted accounting	110
5.8.3	Statutory requirements	110
5.9	Employee and social reporting	112
5.9.1	Historical background	113
5.9.2	Contents of employee reports	114
5.10	Environmental reporting	115
5.10.1	Statutory requirements	117
5.11	Money exchanges with the government	118
5.12	Voluntary disclosure items in interim reports	119
5.12.1	The purpose of interim reports	120
5.12.1	Frequency of interim reports	120
5.13	Conclusion	121

CHAPTER 6

PRIOR RESEARCH ON VOLUNTARY DISCLOSURE IN CORPORATE REPORTS

6.1	Introduction	122
6.2	Empirical studies on disclosure and company characteristics	122
6.2.1	Cerf (1961)	123
6.2.2	Singhvi and Desai (1971)	123
6.2.3	Buzby (1974 and 1975)	123
6.2.4	McNally, Eng and Hasseldine (1982)	123
6.2.5	Firth (1984)	124
6.2.6	Firer and Meth (1985)	124
6.2.7	Chow and Wong-Boren (1987)	125
6.2.8	Cooke (1992)	125
6.2.9	Negash (1990 and 1995)	125
6.2.10	Malone, Fries and Jones (1993)	126
6.2.11	Meek, Roberts and Gray (1996)	126

6.2.12	Patton and Zelenka (1997)	127
6.2.13	Adams and Hossain (1998)	127
6.3	Empirical studies on the perceived importance of voluntary disclosure	131
6.3.1	Buzby (1975)	131
6.3.2	Benjamin and Stanga (1977)	131
6.3.3	Firth (1978)	131
6.3.4	McNally, Eng and Hasseldine (1982)	132
6.3.5	Firer and Meth (1986)	132
6.3.6	Courtis (1992)	132
6.3.7	Eccles and Mavrinnac (1995)	133
6.4	Conclusion	134

CHAPTER 7
RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

7.1	Introduction	136
7.2	First empirical study on the extent of voluntary disclosure	136
7.2.1	The development and design of a disclosure index	137
7.2.2	Selection of the population and selection criteria	143
7.2.3	Selection of the time interval	145
7.3	Second empirical study on the perceptions of compilers and users	146
7.3.1	Reasons for choosing mail questionnaires	147
7.3.2	Design and content of the questionnaires	148
7.3.3	Pilot testing the questionnaires	152
7.3.4	Selection of the population and the selection criteria	152
7.3.4.1	Selection of compilers of annual reports	153
7.3.4.2	Selection of users of annual reports	154
7.3.5	Selection of the time interval	154
7.3.6	Data preparation and processing	154
7.4	Descriptive statistics of the biographical profile of the respondents	155
7.5	Conclusion	159

CHAPTER 8RESULTS OF THE FIRST EMPIRICAL STUDY

8.1	Background to hypothesis formulation	161
8.2	Formulation of hypotheses	161
8.3	Descriptive statistics	162
8.4	Statistical procedure	167
	8.4.1 Results of correlation with performance variables	168
	8.4.2 Results of correlation with structural variables	171
8.5	Stepwise regression analysis	173
	8.5.1 Company share price as dependent variable	173
	8.5.2 Extent of disclosure as dependent variable	177
8.6	Conclusion	181

CHAPTER 9RESULT OF THE SECOND EMPIRICAL STUDY

9.1	Introduction	183
9.2	Formulation of hypotheses	184
9.3	Results of the second empirical study	184
9.4	Results from section 2 of questionnaires A and B	185
	9.4.1 Segmental reporting (V25)	186
	9.4.2 Corporate governance (V30)	188
9.5	Results of section 3 in questionnaires A and B	190
	9.5.1 Additional reports and statements in the annual report (V37-V42)	192
	9.5.1.1 Inflation adjusted financial statements (V37)	192
	9.5.1.2 Employee and social reports (V38)	195
	9.5.1.3 Environmental reports (V39)	197
	9.5.1.4 Tax reconciliation statement (V40)	198
	9.5.1.5 Statement of money exchanges with
	Government (V41)	200
	9.5.1.6 Managements' operating and financial review and long-term corporate planning (V42)	201

9.5.2 The value added statement or statement of wealth created (V43-V46)	203
9.5.3 Fixed and intangible assets (V47-V50)	205
9.5.4 Table of comparative statistics (V51-V61)	208
9.5.4.1 Period covered by the table (V51)	208
9.5.4.2 Contents of the table of comparative statistics (V52-V59)	210
9.5.5 Sundry voluntary disclosure items (V64-V75)	215
9.5.5.1 Dividend policy (V64)	217
9.5.5.2 Disclosure of activities of all subsidiaries (V65)	218
9.5.5.3 Promotion of products or services (V66)	218
9.5.6 Statement on research and development projects (V71 & V72)	221
9.5.7 Profile and shareholdings of directors and top management, distribution of shareholdings and group structure (V78-V81)	223
9.5.7.1 Biographical profile of directors and top management and their individual shareholdings (V78-V79)	223
9.5.7.2 Diagrammatical presentation of the distribution of total shareholdings according to size, type and group structure (V80 - V81)	228
9.5.8 Contents of directors' and chairman's report (V82-V84)	231
9.5.9 Voluntary disclosure in interim reports (V85-V90)	234
9.6 Conclusion	237

CHAPTER 10

SUMMARY OF CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

10.1 Introduction	244
10.2 Reiteration of the purpose of the research	245
10.3 Recommendations for future research	246
10.3.1 A code of ethics	246
10.3.2 Operating and financial review statements or

	management's discussion and analysis report	247
10.3.3	Productivity statements	247
10.3.4	Incentive schemes	248
10.3.5	Adherence to international accounting standards	249
10.3.6	Environmental awareness and conservation	250
10.3.7	Price sensitive information	251
10.3.8	Intangible assets	251
10.3.9	Websites	252
10.4	Conclusion	252

REFERENCES		253
-------------------	--	-----

SUMMARY		264
----------------	--	-----

LIST OF TABLES

No.		Page
2.1	Compilers' responses to the question: Do competitions for best reporting affect your company's voluntary disclosure policy?	26
3.1	Users' responses to the question: Who do you regard as the most important users of financial reports?	40
3.2	Compilers' responses to the question: Who do you regard as the most important users of financial reports?	41
3.3	User perceptions of the importance of corporate report characteristics that enhance the usefulness of information disclosed	47
3.4	Compiler perceptions of the importance of corporate report characteristics that enhance the usefulness of information disclosed	47
3.5	Perceptions of respondents as to how useful they find annual and interim reports for investment decisions	49
3.6	User responses to the question: Which five most important sources of information are used by you when making an investment decision?	50
3.7	Compiler responses to the question: Which five most important sources of information are used by you when making an investment decision?	51
3.8	User responses to the question: Which five sections of a corporate report are the most important?	53
3.9	Compiler responses to the question: Which five sections of a corporate report are the most important?	54
4.1	Survey respondents' ranked impression of potential returns of improved corporate disclosure	62
4.2	Users' and compilers' responses to the question: Do you believe that the share prices on the Johannesburg Stock Exchange react immediately to information made public?	78
6.1	Summary showing sample size and type of disclosure index scale used by prior studies on extent of voluntary disclosure	128
6.2	Summary of survey findings of the relationship between company characteristics and extent of voluntary disclosure	129

6.3	Summary of previous studies examining perceptions of users and compilers showing number of disclosure items, type of user groups and scale	134
7.1	Index of common voluntary disclosed items used to measure the extent of voluntary disclosure in 1977	139
7.2	Index of common items used to measure the extent of voluntary disclosure in annual and interim reports for the period 1993 to 1998	141
7.3	Items eliminated because they had not been included for the full period	143
7.4	Sample population categorised by industry type	145
7.5	Level of academic education of respondents	155
7.6	Experience in the field of investment analysis	156
7.7	Managerial position held by compilers of corporate reports	157
7.8	Size of share portfolio/s held or managed by users of corporate reports	158
7.9	Users' and compilers' responses to the question: What do you normally do upon receipt of a corporate report?	159
8.1	Descriptive statistics of extent of voluntary disclosure of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	163
8.2	Extent of full disclosure per item for the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	164
8.3	Symbols and description of variables used in the survey	168
8.4	Pearson's correlation analysis between extent of disclosure and the performance variables from 1993 to 1998	170
8.5	Pearson's correlation analysis between extent of disclosure and the structural variables from 1993 to 1998	172
8.6	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with price as the dependent variable for the total period 1993 to 1998	173
8.7	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with price as the dependent variable for the year 1993	174
8.8	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with price as the dependent variable for the year 1994	175

8.9	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with price as the dependent variable for the year 1995	175
8.10	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with price as the dependent variable for the year 1996	176
8.11	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with price as the dependent variable for the year 1997	176
8.12	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with price as the dependent variable for the year 1998	177
8.13	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with voluntary disclosure as the dependent variable for the sample companies for the total period 1993 to 1998	178
8.14	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with voluntary disclosure as the dependent variable for the sample companies for the year 1993	178
8.15	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with voluntary disclosure as the dependent variable for the sample companies for the year 1994	179
8.16	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with voluntary disclosure as the dependent variable for the sample companies for the year 1995	179
8.17	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with voluntary disclosure as the dependent variable for the sample companies for the year 1996	180
8.18	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with voluntary disclosure as the dependent variable for the sample companies for the year 1997	180
8.19	Forward stepwise multiple regression outputs with voluntary disclosure as the dependent variable for the sample companies for the year 1998	180
9.1	Level of disclosure of segmental reporting of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	186
9.2	Compilers' responses to the question: Has your company appointed the following committees in accordance with the King Report on corporate governance?	188
9.3	Users' responses to the question: Is it important to you as a user of corporate reports for a company to appoint the following committees in accordance with the King Report on corporate governance?	189
9.4	Respondents perceived price informativeness value of inflation adjusted financial statements	193

9.5	Level of disclosure of inflation adjusted financial statements for the period 1993 to 1998	194
9.6	Respondents' perceived price informative value of employee/social reports	195
9.7	Level of disclosure of employee reporting of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	196
9.8	Respondents' perception of the price informative value of environmental reports in corporate reports	197
9.9	Level of disclosure of environmental reports in annual reports of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	198
9.10	Respondents' perceived price informative value of tax reconciliation statements in corporate reports	199
9.11	Level of disclosure of a tax reconciliation statement in the annual reports of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	199
9.12	Respondents' perceived price informative value of a statement of money exchanges with government in corporate reports	200
9.13	Level of disclosure of money exchanges with government of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	201
9.14	Respondents' perceived price informative value of the disclosure of a management's operating and financial review in corporate reports	202
9.15	Level of disclosure of long-term corporate planning for the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	203
9.16	Respondents' perceived price informative value of the format of and number of years covered by value added statements in corporate reports	204
9.17	Level of disclosure of value added statements in the annual reports of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	205
9.18	Respondents' perceived price informative value of the disclosure of information on fixed and intangible assets	206
9.19	Level of disclosure of the valuation of fixed property of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	208
9.20	Respondents' perceived price informative value of the disclosure of the distribution of shareholdings and group structure	209

9.20	Respondents' preferred period to be covered by a table of comparative statistics and average level of disclosure of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	209
9.21	Respondents' perceived price informative value of voluntary disclosed items included in the table of comparative statistics in corporate reports	211
9.22	Respondents' perceived price informative value of financial ratios included in the table of comparative statistics	212
9.23	Respondents' perceived price informative value of stock exchange performance statistics included in the table of comparative statistics	213
9.24	Level of disclosure of voluntary disclosed items of the sample companies in the table of comparative statistics for the period 1993 to 1998	215
9.25	Respondents' perceived price informative value of sundry voluntary disclosed items	216
9.26	Level of disclosure of the dividend policy of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	217
9.27	Respondents' perceived price informative value of sundry voluntary disclosed items	219
9.28	Summary of extent of disclosure of voluntary disclosed items in general of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	220
9.29	Respondents' perceived price informative value of details of research and development projects in corporate reports	221
9.30	Level of disclosure of research and development projects of sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	222
9.31	Respondents' perceived price informative value of the disclosure of the biographical profile and individual shareholdings of directors and top management	224
9.32	Level of disclosure of the profile of directors and top management of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	226
9.33	Level of disclosure of the individual shareholdings of directors and top management of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	227
9.34	Respondents' perceived price informative value of the disclosure of the distribution of shareholdings and group structure	229

9.35	Level of disclosure of distribution of shareholdings of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	230
9.36	Level of disclosure of diagrammatic presentation of group structure provided by sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	231
9.37	Respondents' perceived price informative value of the contents of the directors' and chairman's report	232
9.38	Level of disclosure of the contents of the directors' and chairman's report of the sample companies for the period 1993 to 1998	234
9.39	Respondents' perceived price informative value of voluntary information disclosed in the interim report	235
9.40	Summarised importance rankings of voluntary disclosed items by users and compilers	239

LIST OF FIGURES

No.	Title	Page
2.1	The occupation of an accountant	10
2.2	The Accounting Profession: Stage 2	13
3.1	The market for corporate information	33
4.1	An interpretive view of corporate reporting	59

LIST OF ANNEXURES

No.	Title	Page
1.	Evaluation score sheet used to measure the extent of voluntary disclosure	266
2.	Cover letter sent to financial directors with guidelines for completion of the score sheet	268
3.	List of sample companies classified according to industry type	277
4.	Cover letter addressed to individuals chosen for the pilot run	283
5.	Names of individuals who reviewed and pilot tested the questionnaires	284

6.	Cover letter to accompany questionnaire A addressed to financial directors (compilers) of annual reports	285
7.	Questionnaire A sent to financial directors (compilers) of quoted industrial companies included in the survey	286
8.	Cover letter to accompany questionnaire B addressed to users of annual reports	294
9.	Questionnaire B sent to users of annual reports	296

LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS

AC	Accounting Standard
ASRB	Accounting Standards Review Board
APB	Accounting Principles Board
AICPA	American Institute of Certified Public Accountants
AIMR	The Association for Investment and Management Research
BFA	Bureau of Financial Analysis
CICA	Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants
DP	Discussion Paper
ED	Exposure Draft
FASB	Financial Accounting Standards Board
GAAP	Generally Accepted Accounting Practice
IAS	International Accounting Standard
IASC	International Accounting Standards Committee
ICAEW	Institute of Chartered Accountants of England and Wales
JSE	Johannesburg Stock Exchange
SAICA	South African Institute of Chartered Accountants
SEC	Securities and Exchange Commission
SFAC	Statement of Financial Accounting Concepts
SFAX	Statement of Financial Accounting Standards