Introduction

Definition of Web 2.0

“Refers to a supposed second-generation of Internet-based services - such as social networking sites, blogs, wikis, communication tools, and folksonomies - that let people collaborate and share information online in ways previously unavailable.”

Introduction

Definition of Library 2.0

Library 2.0 is a loosely defined model for a modernized form of library service that reflects a transition within the library world in the way that services are delivered to users. The focus is on user-centred change and participation in the creation of content and community. The concept of Library 2.0 borrows from that of Business 2.0 and Web 2.0 and follows some of the same underlying philosophies.

Education Newsblog

<http://edulibpretoria.wordpress.com>

The screenshot shows a Windows Internet Explorer browser window displaying the Education Library Blog @ University of Pretoria. The browser's address bar shows the URL <http://edulibpretoria.wordpress.com/>. The page features a navigation menu with buttons for Home, About, Downloads, and Permission. A prominent blue banner reads "EDUCATION LIBRARY BLOG @ UNIVERSITY OF PRETORIA". Below the banner are links for "Entries RSS" and "Comments RSS", and a search box. The main content area includes a sidebar with a photo of the Education Library building, a link to the "Library Website" (<http://www.library.up.ac.za/edu/>), and a section for "New Books in the". The main article is titled "Minister of Education proposes replacement of 3 year university degrees with 4 year degrees", posted on 15 August, 2008 by Johann van Wyk. The article text discusses the proposal for four-year degrees in South Africa to address language skills and academic challenges. A calendar for September 2008 is visible on the right, and a "Google Translator" section is at the bottom right. The Windows taskbar at the bottom shows the system tray with the time 03:41 PM and the taskbar containing icons for Microsoft PowerPoint and the Education Library Blog.

Purpose and target audience of the Blog

- “To keep people informed of new trends and developments in services and products in the library as well as new trends and developments in the field of Education”.
- Primary target: Students and academic staff of Faculty of Education
- Secondary target: researchers in the field of Education internationally (supports networking)

Why we decided on Wordpress?

- Many university libraries are using Wordpress. We used Cubberley Education Library's Blog at Stanford University as a benchmark.
- Wordpress had many of the features we wanted in a blog.
- You could easily add your own widgets to the blog (Customizable)
- The lay-out of the blog templates looked very professional
- The blog had a thorough statistical function
- The blog had a good Spam filter

Accessible from library web site

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the Department of Library Services website. The browser's address bar shows the URL <http://www.library.up.ac.za/>. The website features a navigation menu with categories like Home, About the Library, Services/Facilities, E-Resources, Journals, Catalogue, Training, and Contact. A sidebar on the left lists various services such as Education Library, Collections, and Useful Links. The main content area includes a 'What's new?' section with a list of links, some of which are circled in red. The bottom of the page displays the physical address and telephone number.

Hi

It is my pleasure to assist you with your assignment on "Much ado about nothing".

1. Unfortunately, not many books on this topic are available in our library at Groenkloof and I am suggesting you visit the Hatfield Campus Library.

On level 6 (Hatfield Campus) at 822.361 you will be able to

At the bottom of the browser window, there is a status bar showing "Transferring data from i2.ytimg.com..." and a taskbar with icons for "Blog for Undergradu...", "Microsoft PowerPoin...", and the system clock showing "11:45 AM".

Reflection on Undergraduate Education Blog

- Provides a platform where information specialist can post information tips concerning assignments topics
- The blog is run on Blogger which lays outside the UP domain. This means that students have to go on the Internet to access it, implying costs to the students
- We did get positive feedback but would like to attract more readers
- We are planning to move this Blog to Internal UP Blog platform which is run on b2Evolution software.

Reflection on Facebook Profiles of staff

- Library staff has a presence where the majority of our users are
- Provides another platform for library users to communicate with their information specialists
- It is used as a marketing tool for our library and its services
- It increases our library's presence on the web
- We have found however that very few library users contact our library staff in this way, but we are there.
