In each case, whether of whipping or flogging, the Court shall in its sentence specify the number of strokes to be inflicted. No flogging or whipping shall take place after the expiration of six months from the passing of the sentence. The period of imprisonment is to be calculated from the date on which such sentence is passed: Provided, however, that the period during which the sentence may be suspended, pending appeal, is not to be reckoned in calculating the term of imprisonment if the appeal be rejected.

CHAPTER III.

No. 24—1886.

JUSTIFICATION AND EXCUSE FOR ACTS WHICH WOULD OTHERWISE BE OFFENCES.Common Law Principles.

24. All rules and principles of the law in force in the Cape Colony which render any circumstance a justification or excuse for any act or a defence to any charge, shall be in force and be applicable to any defence to a charge under this Code, except in so far as they are thereby altered or are inconsistent therewith. The matters hereby provided for are declared and enacted to be justifications and excuses for all charges to which they apply.

Common Law principles.

Children exempted.

25. No one whose age does not exceed seven years shall be convicted of any offence.

Children exempted.

No one whose age exceeds seven and does not exceed fourteen years, shall be convicted of any offence, unless it appear that at the time he committed the offence he had sufficient intelligence to know the nature and consequences of his conduct, or to appreciate that it was wrong.

Insanity.

26. If it be proved that a person who has committed an offence was, at the time he committed it, insane, so as not to be responsible for that offence, he shall not therefore be simply acquitted, but he shall be found not guilty on the ground of insanity, and in such case the Court before which such trial shall take place shall order such person to be kept in strict custody in such gaol, lunatic asylum, or other place of confinement either in the said territories or in the Cape Colony, and in such manner as to the Court shall seem fit, until the pleasure of the Governor shall be known, and the Governor may thereupon give such order for the safe custody of such person in such place, in such manner, and for such time as to the Governor shall seem fit.

Insanity.

To establish a defence on that ground it must be proved that the offender was at the time he committed the act labouring under natural imbecility or disease of or affecting the mind to such an extent as to render him incapable of appreciating the nature and quality of the act or that the act was wrong. A person labouring under specific delusions but in other respects sane, shall not be found guilty on the ground of insanity, unless the delusions caused him to believe in the existence of some state of things which if it existed, would justify or excuse this act: Provided that insanity before or after the time he committed the act, and insane delusions though only partial, may be evidence that the offender was at the time that he committed the act in such a condition of mind as to entitle him to be found not guilty on the ground of insanity.

uu

Everyone committing an offence shall be presumed to be sane until the contrary is proved.

Intoxication.

Intoxication.

27. Nothing is an offence which is done by a person who, at the time of doing it, is by reason of intoxication incapable of knowing the nature of the act, or that he is doing what is either wrong or contrary to law: provided that the thing which intoxicated him was administered to him without his knowledge or against his will.

28. In cases where an act done is not an offence unless done with a particular knowledge or intent, a person who does the act in a state of intoxication shall be liable to be dealt with as if he had the same knowledge as he would have had if he had not been intoxicated, unless the thing which intoxicated him was administered to him without his knowledge or against his will: Provided, however, that if the existence of a specific intention is essential to the commission of a crime the fact that an offender was drunk when he did the act which if coupled with that intention would constitute such crime shall be taken into account by the Judge or Magistrate in deciding whether he had that intention.

Compulsion.

29. Compulsion by threats of immediate death or grievous bodily harm from a person actually present at the commission of an offence, shall be an excuse for the commission of any offence other than high treason, murder, attempting to murder, assisting in rape, forcible abduction, robbery, causing grievous bodily harm, and arson: Provided that the person under compulsion believes that such threat will be executed: Provided also that he was not a party to any association or conspiracy, the being party to which rendered him subject to such compulsion. No presumption shall be made that a married woman committing an offence in the presence of her husband does so under compulsion.

Ignorance of Law.

Ignorance of Law.

30. The fact that an offender is ignorant of the law is not an excuse for any offence committed by him; but nothing is an offence which is done by any person who is justified by law, or who by reason of a mistake of fact and not by reason of a mistake of law, believes himself to be justified by law in doing it.

Act of Judicial Officer.

Execution of lawful process and warrants.

Execution of erroneous Sentence or Process.

34. If a sentence is passed or process issued by a Court having jurisdiction under any circumstances to issue such warrant, the sentence passed or process or warrant issued shall be sufficient to justify the officer or person authorized to execute such warrant, and every gaoler and person lawfully assisting, although the Court passing the sentence or issuing the process had not in the particular case authority to do so, or although the Court or the person in the particular case had no jurisdiction to issue or exceeded its or his jurisdiction in issuing the warrant, or was, at the time when such sentence was passed or process or warrant issued, out of the district for which such person was entitled to act. Execution of erroneous sentence or process.

35. Every officer, gaoler, or person executing any process, sentence, or warrant, and every person lawfully assisting such officer, gaoler, or person, shall be protected from criminal responsibility, if he acts in good faith under the belief that the sentence or process was that of a Court having, or that the warrant was that of a Court, Justice of the Peace, or other person having authority to issue warrants, and if it be proved that the person passing the sentence, or issuing the process acted as such a Court, under colour of having some appointment or commission lawfully authorizing him to act as such Court, or that the person issuing the warrant acted as a Justice of the Peace or other person having such authority, although in fact such appointment did not exist or had expired, or although in fact the Court or the person passing the sentence or issuing the process was not the Court or the person authorized by the commission to act, or the person issuing the warrant was not duly authorized so to act. Effect of irregular Warrant or Process.

Effect of irregular warrant or process.

134. Homicide is the killing of a human being by another directly or indirectly by any means whatsoever.

Homicide defined.

A child becomes a human being within the meaning of this Code, when it has completely proceeded in a living state from the body of its mother, whether in a case of suspended respiration, it has breathed or not, and whether it has an independent circulation or not, and whether the navel string is severed or not; and the killing of such a child is homicide when it dies after birth in consequence of injuries received before, during, or after birth.

Culpable Homicide.

135. Homicide is culpable when it consists in the killing of any person either by an unlawful act or by a culpable omission to perform or observe any legal duty, or by both combined, or by causing a person by threats or fear of violence, or by deception, to do an act which causes that person's death, or by wilfully frightening a child or sick person.

Culpable homicide.

Homicide which is not culpable is not an offence.

Where the cause of death is an omission to fulfil a legal duty, the period shall be reckoned inclusive of the day on which such omission ceased. Where death is in part caused by an unlawful act and in part by an omission, the period shall be reckoned inclusive of the day on which the last unlawful act took place or the omission ceased, whichever happened first.

Acceleration of Death.

Acceleration of death.

137. Every one who by an act or omission of a legal duty causes the death of another shall be deemed to kill that person, although the effect of the bodily injury caused to such other person be merely to accelerate his death, while labouring under some disorder or disease arising from some other cause.

Provocation.

141. Homicide which would otherwise be murder may be reduced to culpable homicide if the person who causes death does so in the heat of passion occasioned by sudden provocation.

Any wrongful act or insult of such a nature as to be sufficient to deprive any ordinary person of the power of self-control may be provocation, if the offender acts upon it on the sudden, and before there has been time for his passion to cool.

Whether any particular wrongful act or insult, whatever may be its nature, amounts to provocation, and whether the person provoked was actually deprived of the power of self-control by the provocation which he received, shall be questions of fact: Provided that no one shall be deemed to give provocation to another only by doing that which he had a legal right to do, or by doing anything which the offender incited him to do in order to provide the offender with an excuse for killing or doing bodily harm to any person: Provided also that an arrest shall not necessarily reduce the offence from murder to culpable homicide because the arrest was illegal, but if the illegality was known to the offender, it may be evidence of provocation.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it has been found that to reserve the imposition of oaths as much as may be for judicial proceedings and such other weighty and important affairs as obviously require a recourse to the most solemn and effectual means of eliciting truth has a direct and salutary tendency to establish and preserve a proper reverence for the nature and obligation of an oath: And whereas all oaths imposed merely for the protection of the public revenue and matters of a like nature are at variance with the principle aforesaid, and by weakening amongst the people generally the force of the religious sanction fail in a great measure to secure the objects contemplated by their enactment: And whereas it is expedient that such oaths should be abolished and that declarations should be substituted in their room and stead: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, that so much of any of the Ordinances hereinafter mentioned and of any former law or usage heretofore in force in this Colony as is repugnant or inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be and the same is hereby repealed.

And be it enacted that in any case when a declaration shall be substituted for an oath, affidavit, or affirmation by virtue or in pursuance of the provisions of this Ordinance any person who shall wilfully and corruptly make and subscribe any such declaration knowing the same to be untrue in any material particular shall be deemed to be guilty of the crime of contravening the provisions of this Ordinance, and shall upon conviction thereof suffer such punishment as shall be by law provided for the crime of perjury.

Prohibition of extra-judicial oaths and affidavits.

4. And whereas voluntary and extra-judicial oaths have been occasionally administered by Resident Magistrates and Justices of the Peace in regard to matters wholly unconnected with any suit, inquiry, or proceeding at law and not in any wise pending or at issue before such Magistrates or Justices: And whereas the practice of administering such oaths is one productive of injurious consequences and which should be totally suppressed: Be it therefore enacted that it shall not be lawful for any Magistrate or Justice of the Peace or other person authorized to administer an oath to administer or cause or allowed to be administered any oath, affidavit, or solemn affirmation touching any matter or thing whereof such Magistrate, Justice, or other person hath not or doth not believe himself to have jurisdiction or cognizance under and by virtue of some law or ordinance in force at the time being.

To Limit the Liability of certain Members of certain Partnerships.

WHEREAS it is expedient to limit in certain cases and under certain conditions, the liability of certain members of certain partnerships formed for the purpose of carrying on trade or business in this Colony: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

Preamble.

1. The partnerships coming within the meaning of this Act shall not include such as are joint-stock companies nor such partnerships as may be formed for the purpose of banking.

Joint-stock and banking companies not within the meaning of this Act.

2. Limited partnerships for the transaction of any mercantile, mechanical, or manufacturing business, except as is hereinbefore excepted, may be formed within this Colony upon the terms and subject to the conditions and liabilities hereinafter mentioned.

Limited partnerships may be formed.

3. The said partnerships may consist of one or more persons who shall be called general partners, and shall be jointly and severally responsible as partners now are by law, and who only shall be authorized to transact business and sign for the partnership, and to bind the same; and of one or more persons who shall contribute to the common stock a specific sum in actual cash payment, and who shall be called special partners, and who shall not be personally liable for any debts of the partnership, except in the cases hereinafter mentioned, beyond the amount so paid in by them: Provided, however, that nothing in this Act contained shall be deemed or taken to make a special partner liable for any debts contracted by the general partners previous to the formation and registration of such limited partnership.

To consist of general and special partners.

- No. 24—1861.
Partners to sign a certificate.
4. Any persons forming such partnership shall make and severally sign a certificate which shall contain the name or firm under which the said partnership is to be conducted, the names and residences of all the general and special partners, distinguishing who are general and who are special partners, the amount of capital which each special partner has paid in to the common stock, the general nature of the business to be transacted, the time when the partnership is to commence, and the time when the partnership is to terminate.
- No partnership valid until certificate is registered in Deeds office.
Copy of certificate to be filed with civil commissioner.
5. No such partnership shall be deemed to have been formed until a certificate containing the particulars as aforesaid shall be acknowledged by all the partners before a Justice of the Peace and registered in the office of the Registrar of Deeds of the Colony, in a book to be kept for that purpose, open to public inspection; and if the partnership shall have a place of business situated in any division of the Colony, other than Cape Town and the district thereof and the Cape division, then a copy of the aforesaid certificate, certified by the Registrar of Deeds of the Colony shall be filed and registered in like manner in the office of the Civil Commissioner of every such division; and if any false statement shall be made in any such certificate all the persons interested in the partnership shall be liable, as general partners are under this Act, for all the engagements thereof.

6. Upon every renewal or continuation of any such limited partnership beyond the time originally agreed upon for its duration, a certificate thereof shall be made, acknowledged, and registered in like manner as is hereinbefore provided for the original formation of limited partnerships; and in every such partnership which may be renewed and continued, but not renewed and continued in conformity with the provisions of this Act, all the partners shall be deemed and taken to be general partners, and liable, as general partners under this Act are, for all the engagements of the partnership.

8. All suits respecting the business of such partnership shall be brought and prosecuted by and against the general partners in the same manner as if there were no special partners; except in those cases in which it is provided in this Act that the special partners shall be deemed general partners and that special partnerships shall be deemed general partnerships; in which cases all the partners deemed general partners may join or be joined in such suits.
- No dissolution to take place until notice thereof be registered.
9. No dissolution of a limited partnership shall be held to have taken place, except by operation of law, before the time specified

No part of sum contributed by special partner to be

To provide for the Granting, in this Colony, of Patents for Inventions.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient that the making of new and useful inventions should be encouraged by securing to their inventors for a limited time the exclusive enjoyment thereof: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

Interpretation of terms.

1. In the interpretation of this Act the term "invention" shall bear and have the same meaning as the term "invention" bears and has in the Act of the Imperial Parliament, the fifteenth and sixteenth of Her Majesty, chapter 83, and the term "letters patent" shall mean authorizations granted by the Governor under the public seal of the Colony, and the term "proceeding in the nature of a "scire facias" shall mean as much as may be what the same term would mean if used in an Act of the Imperial Parliament.

Power to grant patents.

2. as to the right of the party to enter such disclaimer or memorandum of alteration under this Act.

AN ACT

For enabling Municipalities to obtain additional Police, by contributing towards the Expense thereof.

WHEREAS, in certain of the municipalities of this Colony, the want of an adequate and efficient body of police, for the prevention of crime and the preservation of peace and order, has for some time been seriously felt by the inhabitants; and whereas, whilst the expense of some policemen at each of the several seats of magistracy to be employed in the execution of criminal warrants, the safe keeping of offenders, and the conduct of the criminal business of the Courts held in and for the several districts of this Colony, may fitly and properly be borne by the public revenue, it will be necessary that the inhabitants of such municipalities as may desire the advantage of a body of police, sufficiently numerous to patrol their streets, prevent drunkenness and disorder, and perform other duties of a like nature, within the municipal limits, should contribute towards the expense of such police: And whereas, from the claims upon the public revenue which the inhabitants of municipalities regarded as contributors thereto, must be considered as possessing, it would not be just to require such municipalities to contribute towards the expense of such additional police more than one-half of the cost and charge thereof, leaving the other half of such cost and charge to be borne by the public revenue: And whereas there is reason to believe that certain municipalities would be desirous to obtain a more efficient police force, upon the terms just referred to: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and the House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

Preamble.

1. It shall be lawful for the municipal commissioners of any municipality, acting in pursuance of the vote or decision of a meeting of the resident householders thereof, to communicate to the Resident Magistrate of the district that such municipality is desirous of availing itself of the provisions of this Act: Provided that no such meeting shall be held unless upon a notice, setting forth the object of such meeting, and published, in whatever manner shall be by law directed in regard to the meetings of resident householders in such municipality, for not less than twenty-one days.

2. Every Resident Magistrate, receiving any such communication as aforesaid, shall, by conference or correspondence with the municipal commissioners, ascertain what number of policemen, in addition to the police force for the time being, such commissioners desire; and such Magistrate shall, in conjunction with the said commissioners, frame a detailed estimate of the probable cost, per year, of such additional policemen: Provided that, thereafter the police force, for the time being, to be maintained exclusively from and out of the public revenue, in the district of which such seat of magistracy is, or shall be, a municipality, shall be the number set forth as regards such seats of magistracy in the schedule annexed to this Act,—leaving all additional policemen to be provided for under this Act.

3. As soon as the number and the estimated cost of such additional policemen shall have been agreed upon, between the Resident Magistrate and the municipal commissioners, the Resident Magistrate aforesaid shall report the particulars, for the consideration and approval of the Governor of the Colony, who may, in case the number or cost shall appear to him to be unnecessarily large, communicate, through the said Magistrate, with the municipal commissioners, for the purpose of agreeing upon some smaller number or reduced cost.

4. As often as the Governor aforesaid shall approve of the number and cost of additional policemen as originally submitted, or as subsequently reduced, he shall signify such approval to the Resident Magistrate, who shall, in writing, communicate the same to the municipal commissioners.

5. It shall be the duty of any municipal commissioners to whom any such approval as in the last preceding section shall have been communicated, should they not already have been placed in possession of funds applicable to, and sufficient for, defraying one-half of the cost of such additional policemen for a period of not less than one year, to call, upon a notice of not less than fourteen days, a meeting of resident householders, for the purpose of assessing a police rate, for defraying one-half of the cost of the said policemen, and such rate shall be regarded as a rate duly assessed by virtue of the Ordinance or Law under which such municipality shall have been established: Provided that at such meeting as aforesaid a police rate may be assessed for one year only, or successive annual police rates may be then assessed for any number of years not exceeding three: And provided that meetings of resident householders shall and may be called, in manner aforesaid, for the purpose of assessing the necessary police rate, so long as such municipality shall continue to avail itself of the provisions of this Act.

No. 15—1857.

6. When and as soon as the municipal commissioners aforesaid shall have paid to the Civil Commissioner of the division, acting for and on behalf of the Colonial Treasury, one-half of the estimated cost of such additional policemen for one year, the Resident Magistrate of the district shall, with all convenient speed, nominate and appoint the additional policemen agreed to by the municipal commissioners and approved of by the Governor.

When half the estimated cost for one year has been paid, the magistrate to appoint the additional police.

7. Such additional policemen shall be deemed and taken to be appointed under the Ordinance No. 25 of 1847, entitled "An Ordinance for Improving the Police of the Colony," and shall possess all the powers and perform all the duties belonging to the members of the police force in the said Ordinance mentioned: Provided, however, that the stated and ordinary duties of a number of the police force of the district, not less than the number of such additional policemen, shall be confined within the limits of the municipality which shall have desired to have such additional policemen: Provided, however, that every member of the police force aforesaid, whether his stated and ordinary duties be confined within the municipal limits or not, may proceed and act beyond the said limits when engaged in the pursuit of an offender flying from justice, or when the exigency of some particular occasion shall induce the Resident Magistrate, or, in his absence, the chief constable, to order one or more of the members of the said police force to repair to and perform duty at some place other than the said municipality within the said district of such Magistrate.

Duties of additional police.

Proportion of ordinary police to be retained for duty within the municipality.

8. <sup>(1)</sup> A true and correct account shall be kept of the cost, in each respective district, of the additional policemen desired by, and employed in, any municipality within such district; and a copy of such account, or an abstract thereof, shall be furnished to the municipal commissioners of such municipality, at the expiration of one year from the date of the payment, to the Civil Commissioner, in the sixth section mentioned; and so on, from year to year, as long as such municipality shall continue to avail itself of the provisions of this Act, and shall pay to the Civil Commissioner of the division, from year to year, in advance, one-half of the estimated annual cost of the additional policemen.

Civil commissioner to furnish an annual account of the expense of such additional police to commissioners of municipality, who will pay one half in advance.

9. Should the actual expenditure in any year have fallen short of the estimated expenditure, so that the sum paid in as aforesaid exceeds, in amount, one-half of such actual expenditure, the excess shall be repaid by the Colonial Government to the municipality; and vice versa, should the actual expenditure have exceeded the estimated expenditure, the municipality shall make good to the Colonial Government one-half of such actual expenditure.

If the actual expenditure falls short of the estimate, difference to be restored to municipality, and vice versa.

<sup>1</sup> See Act 23, 1855, infra. All payments to be made quarterly in advance.

No. 15—1857.

Municipality to give three months' notice before ceasing to avail itself of this Act.

10. Should any municipality, which shall have availed itself of the provisions of this Act, become afterwards desirous to cease to do so, it shall be necessary for the municipal commissioners of such municipality to give to the Colonial Government, through the Resident Magistrate of the district, not less than three months before the expiration of the year for which such municipality shall have made its latest payment, under this Act, notice, in writing, that, at and after the expiration of the current year, the said municipality will cease to avail itself of the provisions of this Act: and, thereupon, steps shall be taken to dismiss, at the expiration of the said year all additional policemen, or a number of the police force for the time being, equal to the number of additional policemen.

If municipality neglect to give such notice, police to be continued for three months at its expense.

11. Should any municipality neglect to give such notice as aforesaid, then it shall be lawful for the Colonial Government to continue in employment such additional policemen as aforesaid, until the expiration of three months from the last day of that month, on any day of which month notice shall be given by such municipality to the Resident Magistrate aforesaid, that such municipality desires to cease to avail itself of the provisions of this Act, and one-half of the cost of all additional policemen employed by desire of such municipality, down to the expiration of such three months, shall be payable by such municipality to the Colonial Government, and may be recovered by the Colonial Government from the municipal commissioners for the time being by action in any competent Court.

Municipality may add to or reduce the additional police.

12. It shall be lawful for any municipality which shall have desired and received, in manner aforesaid, any particular number of additional policemen, afterwards to add to or reduce that number, as circumstances may require, and thereupon the provisions of this Act shall apply to such altered number: Provided that the number of additional policemen for the time being shall not be altered, except in pursuance of the vote or decision of a meeting of resident householders, called upon a notice similar to that in the first section of this Act mentioned: Provided, further, that as often as the number of additional policemen for the time being shall be increased, one-half of the estimated cost of such increase shall be paid by the municipality to the Civil Commissioner before such increased number shall be employed: And provided, also, that as often as the number of additional policemen shall be reduced, the provisions of the ninth and tenth sections of this Act shall apply to the number of policemen proposed to be reduced, precisely as if the number proposed to be reduced were the whole number of additional policemen for the time being, and as if such municipality were desirous to cease altogether to avail itself of the provisions of this Act.

Moiety of expense to be paid before any addition takes place.

Sections 9 and 10 to apply in respect of policemen proposed to be reduced.

Act to apply to all municipalities, except Cape Town.

13. The provisions of this Act shall apply to all the municipalities within this Colony for the time being, except the municipality of Cape Town.

Imprisonment substituted where nulla bona for payment of fine.

2. And whereas by several Laws and Ordinances which are now in force in this Colony certain fines and penalties are inflicted on persons convicted of certain offences which are directed to be recovered before a Justice of the Peace or Resident Magistrate within their respective jurisdictions, who is authorized to issue forth his warrant for levying such fines and penalties by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender or offenders, but no further remedy is provided in case no sufficient goods and chattels of such offender or offenders can be found whereon to levy such fines and penalties, for remedy whereof be it further enacted that from and after the passing and publication of this Ordinance, whenever it shall appear to any such Justice of the Peace or Resident Magistrate by whom any fine or penalty shall be adjudged to be paid upon the return of any such warrant of distress that no sufficient goods and chattels of the offender or offenders can be found whereon to levy such fine or penalty within the jurisdiction of such Justice of the Peace or Resident Magistrate, it shall be lawful for such Justice of the Peace or Resident Magistrate to issue forth his warrant for committing such offender or offenders to the common gaol for any term not exceeding three calendar months, unless such fine or penalty shall be sooner paid; or in case it shall appear to the satisfaction of such Justice of the Peace or Resident Magistrate, either by the confession of the offender or offenders or otherwise, that he, she, or they hath not or have not sufficient goods or chattels within the jurisdiction of such Justice of the Peace or Resident Magistrate whereon to levy such fine or penalty, such Justice of the Peace or Resident Magistrate may at his discretion without issuing any warrant of distress proceed to the commitment of such offender or offenders in such and the like manner as if a warrant of distress had been issued and a return of nulla bona made thereon as aforesaid.

Ordinance for enabling Resident Magistrates to exercise in regard to disputed Rights of Water certain Powers formerly exercised by Landdrost and Heemraden.

WHEREAS in times of drought, disputes not unfrequently arise between farmers and others respecting the enjoyment of the water running through and over their respective properties; And whereas, before the abolition of the Boards of Landdrost and Heemraden such disputes were cognizable by such boards, which were accustomed to settle and arrange the same speedily and at small expense. And whereas since the abolition of the said boards on the 31st of December, 1827, no local Court or functionary has had any jurisdiction or authority touching or concerning such disputes, which alone could be entertained by the Supreme Court of the Colony or by some Circuit Court: And whereas recourse in the first instance to either of such Courts is necessarily attended with delay in a class of cases in which a speedy remedy is particularly important, while the expense of resorting to the same is often disproportioned to the injury complained of, whereby wrong-doers, calculating upon probable impunity, are emboldened to deprive their neighbours of their just rights: And whereas, by the Ordinance No. 77, bearing date the 30th October, 1830, and entitled "Ordinance for the better defining and fixing the Duties and Functions of the Civil Commissioners of this Colony," all such duties as were formerly performed by the Landdrosts of the same districts and which had not by any other Ordinances been appointed to be performed by the Resident Magistrates or any other officers were directed to be performed by such Civil Commissioners: And whereas no law or ordinance has yet bestowed upon such Civil Commissioners or any other officers the powers or any of them which were formerly exercised by the Board of Landdrost and Heemraden: And whereas it will be expedient in regard to disputes and questions about water to bestow the jurisdiction and authority hereinafter mentioned upon the Resident Magistrates rather than upon the Civil Commissioners, the same being of a judicial nature: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council

Every Resident Magistrate forwarding any such record, as is in the forty-seventh section of this Act mentioned, shall inform the person convicted of the day upon which such record will be forwarded, and it shall be lawful for any attorney of the Supreme Court, duly acting for such convicted person, to peruse, and, if need be, take a copy of such record, whilst in the possession of the Registrar of the said Court, or of any of the judges thereof; and it shall be lawful for such attorney, should he so think fit, acting as aforesaid, to set down the case contained in such record for argument before the said Court, in like manner as if such record had been returned or transmitted to such Court in obedience to any summons of such Court, issued in or for an appeal from, or review of, a judgment of the Court of Resident Magistrate: Provided always, that a written notice shall, in every such case, whether prosecuted at the public instance, or at the instance of a private party, be served upon the Attorney-General of the Colony, at his office, in Cape Town, not less than forty-eight hours before the hour appointed for the argument, setting forth that such case has been so set down for argument, as well as the grounds or reasons upon which the judgment is sought to be reversed or altered. And provided, that whether the said judgment shall be confirmed, or shall be reversed or altered, no costs shall be payable by the prosecutor to the person convicted, or by the person convicted to the prosecutor. Provided, also, that no sentence contained in any record of proceedings, forwarded as in the forty-seventh section of this Act directed, which sentence shall have been pronounced in regard to what was by law an offence, sufficiently charged and proved, and lawfully punishable as by the said sentence directed, shall be reversed or altered, by reason merely that the degree of punishment awarded by such sentence may appear to the Court or judge considering such record to have been unusually or unnecessarily severe. And provided, lastly, that nothing herein contained shall extend to prevent such Court or Judge, or any other person, from making such representation to the Governor of this Colony, respecting the mitigation of any such sentence, as the circumstances of the case may appear to justify.

Suits by minors and married women competent in certain cases.

51. Persons under age, and married women, shall be entitled to sue in any Court of Resident Magistrate for any cause of action accruing to them, without being assisted by their guardians or husbands (as the case may be) unless the defendant shall show to the Court that any such minor or married woman (as the case may be) has a guardian or a husband (as the case may be), resident within the district of such Magistrate: Provided also, that if, after such proof by the defendant, the plaintiff shall make it appear that the assistance of such guardian or husband (as the case may be) has been solicited, and has, without just and reasonable grounds been refused, the Resident Magistrate may disallow the objection of the defendant, and permit the suit or action to proceed precisely as if such minor were of full age, or such married woman were unmarried.

52. Whenever any person whom it shall be necessary to examine as a witness in the course of any preparatory examination, or at the trial of any cause, whether civil or criminal, before any of the Resident Magistrates aforesaid, shall reside, or be for the time within any other district than that of such Magistrate, then, and in every such case, it shall and may be lawful for the said Magistrate to issue a summons for the attendance of such person before him, in the like form as is by law provided in respect of summonses to be issued in the like cases, for procuring or compelling the attendance of witnesses residing or being within the district of the Resident Magistrate issuing the same; and every such summons when endorsed by the Resident Magistrate or any Justice of the Peace for such other district, or by the Field-cornet of the Field-cornetcy within which the person so to be summoned resides for the time, or shall be found (who are hereby respectively authorized and required, on production to them of any such summons, to endorse the same), and being duly served and returned, by any person authorized to serve such a summons in either of the said districts, shall have in law the like effect in requiring the attendance of such person as aforesaid, before the Magistrate by whom the same was issued, and in rendering such person, if he shall fail so to attend, liable to every penalty provided for the non-attendance of persons summoned as witnesses, as if such person, at the time when such summons was served, had resided or been within the district of such last-mentioned Magistrate: Provided that, as often as any witness in any civil case brought in any Court of Resident Magistrate shall reside or be in a district other than that under the

54. If any person shall wilfully insult the Resident Magistrate during his sitting in any such Court, or any clerk, or messenger, or other officer of any such Court, during his attendance therein, or shall wilfully interrupt the proceedings of such Court, or otherwise misbehave in such Court, it shall be lawful for any constable or private person, by order of the said Court, to take such offender into custody, and to detain him until the rising of the Court; and the Resident Magistrate shall be empowered, if he shall think fit, by warrant under his hand, to commit any person so offending to prison, for any period not exceeding seven days, or to impose upon any such person a fine not exceeding five pounds, for every such offence, and in default of payment thereof to commit the offender to prison, for any time not exceeding seven days, unless the said fine be sooner paid. But in any case in which any such Court shall commit or fine any person, under the provisions of this section for contempt of Court, the Resident Magistrate shall without delay (and if in a country district, by the next succeeding post) transmit to the Registrar of the Supreme Court, for the consideration of a Judge in chambers, a statement, certified by such Magistrate to be true and correct, of the grounds and reasons of his proceedings, and shall also furnish to the party committed a copy of such statement, so certified as aforesaid.

And if, at any time hereafter, Courts of Resident Magistrates should be created by any such proclamation as in the second section of this Act mentioned, and the district assigned for the jurisdiction of such Court by any such proclamation as is in the third section of this Act mentioned, should be composed of any territory before then under the jurisdiction of some other Court of Resident Magistrate, any judgment or sentence of such last mentioned Court, pronounced previously to the publication of such last mentioned proclamation, and affecting any person or any property in such territory, shall be as valid and effectual, and may be proceeded upon precisely in the same manner, as if such territory still remained under the jurisdiction of the Court by which such judgment or sentence was pronounced.

But no case shall be dismissed for or on account of the omission to deliver the copy of any such document, account, or bill as aforesaid, in case it shall appear to the Court that such omission has not, in fact and in truth, prejudiced the defendant in respect of his defence.

11. If two or more persons, jointly sued, are partners in trade, the like service upon either of them shall be sufficient.

12. The messenger of the said Court shall endorse or annex to the summons the manner of his executing the same, and shall return the said summons to the clerk of the said Court.

13. It shall be permitted to any plaintiff or defendant in the said Court to appear and conduct his case by means of any person authorized by writing under his hand, to be filed with the clerk of the said Court; and when it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of such Court that, by reason of the absence from home of any defendant, such written authority could not be obtained, then it shall be permitted to any one of his family, or any one having a general authority to manage his affairs in his absence, and willing to conduct the said case to appear for the defendant and conduct the same. But nothing shall, in the taxation of costs against either party, be allowed for the attendance or services of any person, not being enrolled in such Court to practise as an agent therein, nor an Attorney of the Supreme or Circuit Court, and not being an advocate of the Supreme Court of the Colony, instructed by such agent or attorney. And every such Court of Resident Magistrate, upon being satisfied that any person who appears to have a right of action is, from poverty, unable to sue out the process of such Court, may order all such process to issue without fee or charge. Provided, always, that such person, should he recover and receive sufficient from the other party, shall be liable to pay and make good all fees and charges so remitted.

14. On the Court day appointed for appearance of the parties, unless the said summons shall have been withdrawn, the clerk of the said Court shall cause the said parties, plaintiff and defendant, to be called; and if they, or any one duly authorized on their behalf, appear, he shall record the same, and the Court shall proceed to inquire of and determine the said complaint or demand; and the said clerk shall read over the plaint, and ask the defendant, or his agent, whether he will confess or deny the same; or where the complaint of the plaintiff is in respect of any sum of money alleged to be due to him, if he will make any like counter claim against the plaintiff; and the said clerk shall record his answer in the proper column of the record book.

15. If the defendant deny the said complaint or demand, or make claim of any sum of money as due to him by the said plaintiff, the said plaintiff, or some one on his part, shall forthwith produce and exhibit to the Court any writings or documents whereon his complaint or demand may be founded, and shall also produce any witnesses he may require to have examined in support of the same.

16. The process of the said Court, for compelling the attendance of any person to give evidence therein, shall be by summons issued by the clerk of the said Court, and directed to the messenger thereof; and shall be served and returned by him, in the same manner as any other summons of the said Court; and the said summons may be sued out by either party requiring the attendance of any witness, and shall be, as near as is material, in the form following: that is to say,—

Court of Resident Magistrate of the District of Albany.

K., plaintiff, and N. O., defendant; and that they, or either of them, by no means omit so to do at their peril. Serve on each of them, the said A. B., &c., a copy of this summons, and pay to the said A. B. the sum of , to the said C. D. the sum of , and to the said E. F. the sum of , for their travelling expenses, respectively,—and return to the said Court what you have done thereupon.

J. M., Clerk of the said Court.

Graham's Town, 1st May, 185 .

17. If any witness have in his possession or control any deed, instrument, or writing which the party requiring his attendance is desirous to show in evidence, then the said summons shall be in the form following, namely—(as in the former case, to the day of hearing, and then proceed as follows),—“And also that they bring with them, and produce at the time and place aforesaid, a certain deed or instrument in writing, bearing date, &c., (describing very accurately the thing to be produced), and then and there to testify and declare, &c.” (as before).

18. There shall be delivered to the said messenger, together with the said summons, so many copies thereof as there are witnesses to be summoned, and also such sum or sums of money, as the party for whom they are to be summoned intends that the said messenger shall pay or offer to the said witnesses respectively for their travelling expenses; and if any person, being duly summoned to give evidence, and his reasonable expenses being paid or offered to be paid to him, and having no sufficient excuse, shall neglect or refuse to attend or give evidence according to said summons, then the said Court shall impose upon the said person a fine for his default, not exceeding five pounds sterling; and for non-payment shall commit such person to the gaol of the said district for any time not exceeding fourteen days. Provided that as often as any person duly summoned shall fail to appear, it shall be lawful for the Resident Magistrate, in case no lawful cause for such non-appearance shall seem to him to exist, to issue his warrant for the apprehension of the party making default, in order that he may be brought up to give his evidence, and to be otherwise dealt with according to law.

19. If it shall appear to the said Court, upon oath, that any person, who is a material witness for either party to any cause, having been duly summoned, doth not attend at the hearing thereof, then the Resident Magistrate shall, at his discretion, either postpone the hearing of the said case to another day, then to be appointed by him, or else shall take the examination of such witnesses as appear, and suspend the further hearing of the said case to another day; which postponement or suspension, and the cause thereof, and the day appointed for the further hearing, the said clerk shall note in the column of the said record book entitled "day of hearing the case."

20. All persons examined or giving evidence in the said Court shall be examined orally and apart, and in open Court; and shall be sworn by the Resident Magistrate, according to the form of the religion they respectively profess, "to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth;" but all persons entitled by law to affirm, instead of taking an oath, may so affirm. Nothing herein contained shall extend to or affect the provisions of the sixth section of Ordinance No. 14, 1846. <sup>(1)</sup>

21. Whenever it shall appear necessary to the Resident Magistrate, before administering an oath, to examine the person touching his knowledge of the obligation thereof, he shall not merely ask such person generally, whether he understands the nature of the oath, but shall, after explaining to the said person that he is about to administer to him such oath, and the terms thereof,—further ask him:

1st. Whether he believes it to be wicked not to speak the truth?

2ndly. Whether he understands that the taking of such oath is calling upon God to witness that he does speak the truth.

3rdly. Whether he believes that God will hereafter punish any one who, upon oath, does not speak the truth?

4thly. Whether he considers the oath about to be administered to him binding upon him to speak the truth, and the whole truth?

22. The said Court may, at its discretion, and for the information of the said Court, examine the parties upon oath, or either or any of them. <sup>(2)</sup>

23. Where in the course of any case, it may be necessary for either party to produce and show to the Court any record, entry, or document of the said Court, it shall not be required of the said party to produce any office copy of such record, entry, or document; but the clerk of the said Court shall, at his request, produce and show, or refer to, the original.

24. In every civil case, the clerk of the Court shall take down the evidence and proceedings in writing, and shall also note any objections made by either party to any evidence received or to any evidence or any document tendered by either party to the Court.

25. The case on the part of the plaintiff having been heard, the defendant, or some one on his part, shall in like manner produce any writing or documents he may desire to have read to the Court, and any witness to be examined in support of his answer or denial: and the plaintiff shall be heard in reply thereto.

26. All judgments and sentences of the said Court shall be given in open Court, and shall be recorded by the clerk in the proper column of the said book.

27. Where any judgment shall be upon any debt, payable with interest thereon, the said interest shall be given up to the day of suing out the process of the Court for the execution thereof.

28. If neither the defendant, nor any one admitted for him, appear on the Court day appointed for that purpose, then the said Court, upon the request of the said plaintiff, and being satisfied by the return of the messenger of the said Court, endorsed upon the said summons, that the same hath been duly served, shall proceed to hear the said plaintiff and his witnesses, and cause the evidence to be taken down in writing, and shall give judgment thereon against the said defendant, in the full sum due by him or awarded against him by the Court; but the said judgment shall be only provisional in its nature, and no execution shall issue upon it until the plaintiff, together with some one as his surety, to be approved of by the said Court, shall give security for full restitution of the amount to be levied and raised under such judgment, should the same be reversed; and the form of such security shall be the same as that set forth in the thirty-fourth of these rules and regulations, save and except that the words "notwithstanding the said C. D. has noted an appeal against the same," shall be omitted in the body of the said form, and the word "cause" shall be substituted for the word "appeal" in the end thereof.

29. The defendant may, at any time within one month<sup>(1)</sup> after the levy made under any writ of execution issued by virtue of any such provisional judgment, take out a summons of the said Court, calling upon the plaintiff in the original action to show cause why the judgment obtained by him should not be reversed. And if it shall be made to appear to the said Court, by oath, that the defendant was absent from his home at the time when the summons of the said Court was served, and that he did not receive the same a sufficient time before the day of the return thereof to be able to obey the same, and that he did not absent himself from home for the purpose of avoiding the service of the said summons, or that, having been duly summoned, he was by just and reasonable cause prevented from attending the Court in pursuance of the said summons,—then the said Court shall order the said judgment to be opened, and shall permit the defendant to answer the said complaint or demand,—upon the terms, nevertheless, of payment of the costs incurred by his default, and that the evidence before given by the said plaintiff shall, on the re-hearing of the case, be read from the evidence and proceedings taken down by the clerk of the said Court, the said plaintiff being at liberty to bring further evidence, if he think fit; and upon the said re-hearing, the case, except as aforesaid, shall proceed as if the defendant had appeared on the original summons.

No. 20—1856.

30. If the defendant, or some one duly authorized on his behalf, do not, within one month (<sup>1</sup>) next after such levy, as aforesaid, take out such a summons as aforesaid, the provisional judgment shall become final,—and the security aforesaid shall become, ipso facto, null and void. But if, upon the hearing of any such summons, the judgment therein mentioned shall be reversed or set aside, then the defendant shall be entitled, without any cession, to sue upon the said security, for the recovery of the sums therein mentioned, less the costs incurred by his default.

31. If any person summoned to appear on any day to answer any complaint or demand, shall appear according to the said summons, and the party complaining shall make default, the Court shall adjudge the said plaint to be dismissed; or if he appear, and the judgment of the Court be for the defendant, the said Court shall adjudge to the said defendant his costs, to be taxed by the clerk of the said Court, in like manner as for the party complaining; and the said defendant shall be entitled to the like process of execution for the same.

32. After judgment of the Court against the party complaining, for default of appearance, the same may, upon payment of costs, be admitted to commence a new action for the same cause, and the Court may, in any case, when it shall see fit, absolve the defendant from that instance, instead of giving judgment in his favour, in which case the plaintiff, upon the payment of the costs awarded against him, may commence a new action for the same cause. But the judgment of the said Court, given in favour of the defendant, when pronounced after the hearing of the cause, is a perpetual bar to any other suit or action for the same cause.

33. Any party against whom any final judgment or sentence of the said Court has been given in any civil case (and an absolution from the instance shall be deemed to be such a final judgment or sentence), if he intend to appeal therefrom to any superior Court, shall, on the next Court day, make known his intention to the clerk of the said Court, who shall note his appeal, with the date thereof, in the proper column of the record book,—and the party appealing shall then deposit and lodge with the clerk of the said Court the sum of one pound seventeen shillings and sixpence, as security for the costs of conducting the said appeal, and the said clerk shall make a note of the said deposit, in the last column of the record book, immediately after the note of the said appeal; and thereupon the said appeal shall be allowed, but not otherwise. And any person abandoning his appeal within fourteen days next after he shall have noted the same, shall be entitled to receive back the said sum of one pound seventeen shillings and sixpence provided he have taken no proceedings in the appeal, save the noting thereof.

34. In any case where an appeal may have been duly noted, and the proper security for costs given, the said Court may direct that the judgment or sentence appealed from shall be carried into execution,—or that the execution thereof shall be suspended, pending the said appeal, as to the said Court may appear most consistent with justice:—and in every case where the said Court shall direct such judgment or sentence to be carried into execution, the party in whose favour the same shall have been given shall, before the execution thereof, enter into security, together with some one as his surety, to be approved of by the said Court, for full restitution of the amount to be levied and raised under such judgment, should the same be reversed, as also for the due execution of any such further judgment, order, or decree as shall be afterwards pronounced upon or in respect of the said appeal. And the said security shall be, as near as may be, in the form following :

Where the party, who may have deposited with the clerk of the said Court the sum required as security for the costs of conducting the said appeal, shall not afterwards duly proceed thereon to judgment, the sum so deposited, in case the same shall not have been returned as in the thirty-third rule provided, shall be applied to the payment of the costs incurred by the opposite party; and if there be any surplus, the same shall be forfeited and disposed of in the same manner as fines otherwise imposed by the said Court.

36. At the time when judgment or sentence of the Court is given in any case, the clerk of the Court shall, at the request of the party in whose favour the same is given, ascertain and allow the necessary costs and expenses of the said suit against the party to be charged therewith; and in the said taxation he shall charge and allow all such necessary payments and disbursements made in the said case as are provided to be paid by the tariff of charges in the schedule hereunto annexed, marked D, and all such other reasonable sums of money as the party, in whose favour the said judgment or sentence is given, has paid in bringing before the Court any necessary witnesses or

37. Whenever the Court shall make an order for the payment of any debt or damages by instalments, such order shall be recorded by the clerk of the Court in the last column of the civil record book, in manner and form as shown by schedule E, hereinafter contained.

38. The party in whose favour any judgment or sentence of the said Court shall be given, in any civil case, in regard to which an appeal shall not have been noted, or, having been noted, shall have been withdrawn, may sue out of the office of the clerk of the said Court the process of the said Court for the execution thereof.

39. In all cases of appeal the said Court shall conform to and execute such judgments, orders, and decrees as shall be afterwards made and pronounced thereon, in like manner as any original judgment, sentence, or decree by the said Court could or might have been executed.

40. (1) The process for execution of any sentence or judgment of the said Court shall be by warrant under the hand of the Resident Magistrate, directed to the messenger of the said Court, as near as may be in the form following, that is to say,—

Court of the Resident Magistrate,

E. F., Messenger of the Court.

Whereas, in a certain case in this Court, before me, wherein A. B., of &c., was the plaintiff, and C. D., of &c., was the defendant (describing the parties as in the plaint), the said A. And if such person as aforesaid, claiming such recompense or compensation, should neglect or refuse to name some person to be such arbitrator as aforesaid, or to sign the said deed of submission, then the said commissioner may lodge in some joint-stock bank in the Colony the sum of money offered by him as aforesaid in his first notice in this section mentioned, for or on account, and at the risk, of such person as aforesaid, who shall at all times be entitled to draw the same out of the said bank as his absolute property; and the said commissioner, upon so lodging the said sum, shall be authorized and entitled to take and use the land or materials in question, as freely as if the said sum had been agreed upon between the parties as the sum to be paid, or had been awarded by arbitrators or an umpire, under the provisions of this section, and as if all acts by law required for vesting in the said commissioner a sufficient title to the use of, or property in, the land or materials aforesaid had been duly done and performed.

But all moneys which shall, either by agreement or by arbitration, be payable by the said commissioner, for or on account of any land or materials in this section mentioned, shall be paid by the said commissioner to the Master of the Supreme Court, administering the Guardian's Fund, who is hereby authorized to receive the same, and to place the same to the credit of the minor or other person entitled to such moneys. And if, in any case, any person of full age shall, by way of fidei-commissary limitation, or any limitation of a like nature, be entitled to a life or other limited interest in any such land as aforesaid, in which a minor, or other such person as aforesaid, under guardianship or curatorship, shall be also interested in remainder or expectancy, then the whole value of the land or materials, as fixed by contract or by appraisement, Tolls and toll-bars established.

14. (1) All toll-bars established on any main road by authority of any Act of the Legislature of the Colony, shall be maintained, and such persons as shall be authorized by the Governor so to do, shall be entitled to demand and receive thereat the several tolls authorized in such Act, until the said toll-bars or tolls, or any of them, be abolished, removed, or changed, with the consent of Parliament; and no new toll-bar may be established, or any new toll demanded upon any main road, except with the consent of Parliament.

Toll-keeper may prevent passage until rate is paid.

15. The person entitled to demand and receive the toll payable at any toll-bar or toll-gate may prevent the passing through such toll-bar or toll-gate, of any vehicle or animal on which any toll shall be payable, until such toll be paid: and if any person liable to any toll from whom it has been duly demanded, or who, by any act of his own, intended to prevent a due demand from being made, may have succeeded in preventing such due demand from being made, and who, without paying the said toll, and without the consent of the person entitled to demand the same, or without some other lawful authority, may have proceeded through or beyond the place where the same is of right demandable, shall incur a fine of not less than twenty shillings, and not more than ten pounds, to be recovered by suit or action in any competent Court; and in default of payment thereof, shall be liable to be imprisoned and kept at hard labour for any period not exceeding one month.

(1) The chief commissioner aforesaid, acting under the authority of the Governor, may from time to time, if he shall deem fit, let or farm the tolls to be payable at any toll-bar on any main road, by tender or by public auction, to the highest and best bidder, for any term not exceeding one year in any case: Provided, always, that previously to every letting of such tolls, the said commissioner shall give, in some convenient manner, a public notice of the time and place at which tenders will be received, or any such auction as aforesaid will take place; and that the person who, at any such auction, is declared to be the highest bidder, or whose tender is accepted, shall be required to produce two sufficient sureties for the payment of the stipulated hire; and provided, also, that in every letting of such tolls, whether by tender or by auction, the said commissioner shall require the farmer or renter thereof to enter into a bond, with not less than two responsible sureties, each binding himself as principal debtor for the payment of the whole rent or hire of the said tolls, at the time and in the manner in that behalf to be in the said bond specified; and if any instalment or payment of such rent or hire shall be in arrear and unpaid for the space of three days after the same may have become due, then the said commissioner, acting under the authority aforesaid, may enter upon and take possession of the said tolls, and of all toll-houses or other buildings of which the renter or farmer in default would otherwise be entitled to the use, and to re-let the said tolls, or otherwise to place a collector or collectors in receipt thereof, and in possession of the said houses and buildings, as to him may seem fit; and the sum for which the said renter or farmer may have been in default, together with all further instalments or payments stipulated to be made by the said farmer or renter, shall be due and demandable from him, in like manner and form as if he still remained in receipt of the said tolls, credit being given to him for whatever sums may be received on account of the said tolls, less the expense of collecting, in respect of the term for which the said tolls were let to the renter or farmer making default.

What roads to be divisional roads.

21. (2) All roads which have at any time been proclaimed as branch roads shall be deemed and taken to be divisional roads; and the Governor may, from time to time, at the request of any Divisional Council, and by a proclamation to be by him issued in that behalf, declare any road in the division wherein such council is constituted, not being a main road, to be a divisional road, or any divisional road or branch road, proclaimed before the passing of this Act, to cease to be a divisional road.

Divisional council may, with sanction of Governor, establish tolls on divisional roads.

22. Every Divisional Council may, after having given six weeks' previous notice in the Government Gazette of their intention to establish a new toll, erect and establish, at such places as it may deem fit, upon any divisional road (3) under its charge, as many toll-bars as it may deem requisite, and may demand and receive

23. All toll-bars established on any other than a main <sup>(1)</sup> road at the time of the passing of this Act, shall continue to be legally established; and all tolls leviable thereat shall continue to be leviable and receivable by the Divisional Council of the division, as if the same had been established under this Act; and every Divisional Council may, from time to time, with the sanction of the Governor, published in a proclamation to be by him issued in that behalf, abolish or remove any such toll-bar, or abolish or alter any of the rates of toll now or hereafter existing within its division.

Tolls on divisional roads to be under control of divisional councils.

24. <sup>(2)</sup> The several Divisional Councils shall respectively possess and enjoy, in regard to divisional roads within their division, all and singular the various rights, powers, and authorities in regard to the appointment and removal of all necessary officers, the taking possession of lands and materials, whether of Her Majesty the Queen or of private persons, the erection of toll-houses or toll-bars, the taking of tolls, the renting or farming of tolls, and the protection of the tolls by penalties, and shall be bound to the performance of every duty and condition which have been hereinbefore severally conferred and imposed upon the Governor or the chief commissioner of roads aforesaid, in regard to main roads, in the same manner as if such rights, powers, authorities, duties, and conditions, conferred or imposed under the provisions of the ninth, tenth, eleventh, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, and seventeenth sections of this Act, had been herein set forth at length, and conferred or imposed, totidem verbis, on the several Divisional Councils.

38. As soon as the valuation of the whole of the immovable property in any division shall have been completed <sup>(1)</sup> the Divisional Council may proceed to assess and impose, upon all persons liable thereto, such a rate as it may deem necessary and expedient for the purposes of this Act: Provided that no such rate shall be assessed until after the expiration of thirty days from the issue of a notice to the several members of the Divisional Council, which shall express the intention to propose such assessment, and after the publication of such notice for a similar period in the Government Gazette, and in at least one of any newspapers that may be published in the division; and provided, also, that no such rate shall exceed one <sup>(2)</sup> penny in the pound upon the value of the property liable to be rated; and that no general rate shall be imposed in the same division more frequently than once in twelve months.

After valuation, divisional council may assess a rate on the immovable property in the division.

39. Every rate so assessed as aforesaid shall become due and payable upon a certain day, to be fixed by the Divisional Council; of which day and of the amount of which rate the said council shall give at least thirty-one days' previous notice in the Government Gazette: Provided that the same or a similar notice shall also be published and posted, in like manner as is hereinbefore directed in the thirty-fourth <sup>(3)</sup> section, in regard to the certain notice therein mentioned: Provided, further, that it shall not be necessary, in any suit or proceeding for the recovery of any such rate, to prove anything further as to due notice thereof having been given than the publication of the announcement thereof in the Government Gazette.

In suing for recovery of rates.

Owner or occupier may be proceeded against.

41. <sup>(1)</sup> The several Divisional Councils may, in suing for the recovery of rates, proceed against the owner or occupier, either separately or both of them in one and the same action, each for the whole rate, in any competent Court, and recover the same by the judgment and process of such Court: Provided that any occupier of property on which a rate has been assessed, who is not the owner thereof, and who has not entered into such occupation, in pursuance of any agreement for becoming the owner thereof, shall, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, be enabled to retain or recover from such owner the amount of any rate which he may have so paid, but not any costs or expenses which he may have incurred, or been condemned to pay in the course of any suit or action brought against him by the Divisional Council for non-payment of any such rate: Provided, also, that no occupier of any immovable property shall be liable for any rate which had become due and payable thereon at any time before he entered upon the occupation thereof: And provided, further, that any person who, as occupier, may have become liable for any rate as aforesaid, shall continue to be liable for such rate, although he may have ceased to occupy the property in respect of which the rate had been imposed.

Valuation every five years.

42. The first valuation to be made, as aforesaid, in each division, for the purposes of this Act, shall subsist and be in force for five years from the date of the first assessment under this Act; at the expiration of which term, and of each successive term of five years, a fresh valuation shall be made, in the same manner as is hereinbefore directed with regard to the first valuation.

Application of Funds.

How funds of divisional council to be applied.

43. All moneys raised or received by any Divisional Council, from any source whatever, for the purposes of this Act, shall be appropriated, firstly, to defraying the expenses of valuation and assessment of property within its division, and the collection of rates under the foregoing provisions of this Act; secondly, to the making, improving, and maintaining the several divisional roads within its division, and the public dams upon such roads; and may also be appropriated, thirdly, to contributing towards the making or improving of any main road which the Divisional Council may desire to have opened or improved in such division, and which work the Colonial Government may have agreed to undertake; fourthly, to the making or improving of any public road within the division, not being a main or divisional road; fifthly, to contributing towards the making or improving of any road or bridge, proposed to be made or improved in any adjoining division, which would be of so much benefit to the inhabitants of the division to which such Divisional Council belongs, as to make it desirable that it should contribute to such work; and sixthly, in asserting, by legal process, the right of the public to any public road within the division, not being a main road, which the Divisional Council shall ascertain to exist, and shall find to have been stopped up or otherwise obstructed by any person or persons whomsoever: (1) Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to require any Divisional Council to resort to legal process for the purpose aforesaid, in any case in which they shall deem it expedient not to do so, nor to prevent any of Her Majesty's subjects from resorting to legal process in any such case as he may be advised or think fit.

44. Whereas, under Ordinances No. 8, of 1843, and No. 7, of 1848, one or more rates, not exceeding five in any case, have been assessed and levied in several divisions of the Colony, and have been expended by the late central board of commissioners of public roads in the construction, or improvement, or maintenance of main roads in those or other divisions; and whereas it is just that those divisions in which no rates, or a smaller number of rates than five, have been levied, should contribute, in the same proportion as other divisions, to the construction, improvement, and maintenance of main roads, but that at the same time the roads to which such rates are to be appropriated should be within the division in which the rates are levied, according to the intention of the aforesaid Ordinances; it is hereby enacted that every division in which a less number of rates than five has been assessed and levied, shall be required to contribute towards the construction, improvement, or maintenance of the main roads opened, or to be opened, within such division, a sum equal to that which it would have been required to contribute for such purpose if five rates had been levied in it, after deducting therefrom the amount of road rates actually paid in such division and received by the central board of commissioners of public roads, under the aforesaid Ordinances: Provided, always, that no such division shall be required to contribute more than one-half of the expense to be incurred by the Colonial Government, on any main road within such division; and every such contribution, to the extent of the amount of one year's rate, shall be payable in advance, as soon as any such road is declared a main road, and shall be paid by the Divisional Council of the division, out of road rates leviable therein, to the Colonial Government, which, if more than three months elapse after the receipt of such money before the commencement of the work for which it was contributed, shall pay interest to the Divisional Council by whom it was contributed, at the rate of six per cent. per annum, during such further time as may elapse before the commencement of the work, or during which the Colonial Government, after having commenced, may stop or delay the further prosecution of the work: Provided, also, that if, in any division, any rates have been assessed and levied, but not expended therein, the amount so levied and not expended shall together with an addition of six per cent. interest per annum upon such amount, calculated from the expiration of six months from the date of the assessment of each such rate, be accounted as levied under this Act, and shall entitle such division to receive an equal amount from the public revenue, to be expended upon the main roads of such division, before any further rate be levied therein.

Before contributing to other roads, &c., divisional council to call meeting of landed proprietors.

45. Before any Divisional Council may contribute to the opening of any new line of main road within the division to which it belongs, or to the making or improving of any road or bridge in any other division, otherwise than according to the provisions of the forty-third section, it shall, by a notice to be published in the Government Gazette, and in every newspaper published in the division, call a meeting of the owners of immovable property liable to be assessed under this Act, to be held at some convenient place and time, to be named in such notice, such time to be at least thirty-one days after the issue of such notice, for the purpose of deciding whether any, and if so, what sum shall be contributed by such Divisional Council to such road or bridge, and upon what terms and conditions; and if, at such meeting, the majority in value of rateable property resolve that the Divisional Council be authorized to contribute a certain sum, then such Divisional Council may pay over to the Colonial Government, or the Divisional Council of the division in which such road or bridge may be, any sum not exceeding the sum named in such resolution, upon the terms and conditions approved at such meeting: Provided, however, that any Divisional Council may call such meetings as aforesaid, from time to time, for the purpose of increasing the amount of the contribution to any such road or bridge, or of varying the terms or conditions of such contribution; and that, if any such meeting as aforesaid should reject the proposal to contribute or to add to any previous contribution, no similar meeting shall be again called to consider the same proposal, until the expiration of six calendar months from the day on which such previous meeting was held.

When line of road passes through more than one division, respective councils to agree as to its construction, maintenance, &c.

46. Whenever any Divisional Council may decide upon making or improving, in its division, any line of road which leads to or through any other division, the said council shall communicate to the Divisional Council of the other division the course of the proposed line, and the public purposes which the proposed work is meant to serve, and shall desire the concurrence of the last mentioned Divisional Council in the making or improving of such road; and any two or more Divisional Councils agreeing upon the making or improvement of a road which passes through any part of their several divisions, may arrange together as to the execution of the work on such road, and as to the contribution from one to the other of funds in aid of the execution of such work; and if any such Divisional Councils cannot agree as to the making, or improvement, or maintenance of a road in which they are jointly interested, or in which one of the divisions is interested, and the other divisions do not consider themselves to be interested, and if they are willing to submit to the arbitration of the chief (1) commissioner aforesaid, the said commissioner shall consider and arbitrate in such matter, and his arbitration, confirmed by the Governor, shall be binding upon the parties, and final.

Arbitration.

47. Whenever any Divisional Council should refuse or neglect to maintain in proper repair any divisional road within the division, any number of persons liable to be assessed to road rates in any field-cornetcy, or in any two or more field-cornetcies, through which such divisional road may pass, being not less than three-fourths in value of the persons so liable within the said field-cornetcy or field-cornetcies, may apply in writing to the said Divisional Council, and demand that such divisional road may be put in proper repair: upon the receipt of which demand the said Divisional Council shall be bound, within a reasonable time, to put such road into proper repair; and no fresh road rates levied after the receipt of such demand within such field-cornetcy or field-cornetcies shall be appropriated to any other purpose than the repair of such road, until the repair thereof be completed: Provided, always, that the foregoing provision shall not apply in any case in which any Divisional Council may prove that it has expended in the repair of other roads in the said field-cornetcy or field-cornetcies, within the preceding three years, the sums which it has received as road rates leviable therein during that period.

How, if divisional council neglect roads.

48. Whenever the majority of any persons liable to be assessed to road rates in any field-cornetcy, or in any two or more field-cornetcies, in a division, being not less than three-fourths in value of persons so liable within such field-cornetcy or field-cornetcies, should desire to have a road situate therein, which is not a main or divisional road, made, improved, or repaired, they may apply to the Divisional Council in writing, setting forth their wishes, and request that a special additional rate, not exceeding in any one year the amount of one penny in the pound upon the value of the immovable property within such field-cornetcy or field-cornetcies liable to be rated, may be levied upon such property, for the purpose of being appropriated by the Divisional Council, or by a Preamble.

ACT

To Amend the Act No. 9, 1858, entitled “An Act to Provide for the Management of the Public Roads of this Colony.”

Preamble.

WHEREAS, by the twenty-seventh section of the Act No. 9, 1858, entitled “An Act to Provide for the Management of the Public Roads of this Colony,” it is provided that each Divisional Council shall appoint one or more competent valutors for the purpose of valuing the immovable property situate in such division: And whereas it has been found in some divisions of this Colony that the expense of employing such valutors would, when compared with the amount of such road rates as it would in those divisions be reasonable to impose, be so disproportionate, that in such divisions it was found necessary to have the valuations made by the Divisional Councils themselves instead of by paid valutors, which valuations have given very general contentment: And whereas it is expedient that such by-gone valuations should be established: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

Repugnant portions of Act 9, 1858, repealed.

1. So much of the Act aforesaid, No. 9, 1858, as is repugnant to or inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Act shall be, and the same is hereby, repealed.

Certain valuations conducted by divisional councils confirmed.

2. Every valuation for the purposes of the Act No. 9, 1858, already made, or yet to be completed, for the purpose of the first valuation under the said Act by any Divisional Council without the employment or intervention of any valuator or valutors, paid or unpaid, shall be deemed to have been of the same force and effect in all respects as if it had been made by such a valuator or such valutors as in the twenty-seventh section of the said Act mentioned: Provided that the provisions of the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth sections of the said Act shall apply to all valutors for the purposes of the said Act, whether made by the Divisional Council, without special valuers, or by valuers appointed by such councils: And provided that no valuation for the purpose of the Act aforesaid shall hereafter be made except by valuers who shall not be members of the Divisional Council.

No. 5—1860.

3. It shall not be lawful for any member of any Divisional Council to receive, or retain if already received, either by way of allowance for horse-hire or otherwise, any sort of payment, remuneration, or reward for or in respect of any valuation made by him as a valuer employed by the council to which he belongs, or any valuation made by such council collectively and without the employment of any special valuer.

No member of divisional council to receive fee or reward for any valuation made under preceding section.

And whereas, whilst, by the thirty-fifth section of the Act aforesaid, No. 9, 1858, provision is made for reducing, at the instance of the owner of any immovable property too highly valued, the value put upon such property, no provision is made for increasing the valuation of any such property which may happen to have been undervalued: Be it enacted as follows:

Provision for increasing valuations of properties undervalued.

4. It shall be competent for the Court in the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth sections of the said Act mentioned, acting in manner and in form as by this Act directed, to increase the value put, in and by any valuation which shall be under the review of such Court upon any farm or other immovable property.

When properties have been undervalued, valuations may be increased.

5. Any person, being the owner of any farm or other immovable property included in any valuation, who shall consider that any other farm or immovable property included in such valuation is valued lower than it ought to be, may send in to the secretary of the Divisional Council an objection in writing, signed by such owner, setting forth the farm or other property alleged to have been valued lower than it ought to have been, and the value which the person objecting considers true and just: Provided, that such objection shall be sent so as to be received by the said secretary not later than fourteen days before the day appointed for the holding of the Court in the thirty-fourth and thirty-fifth sections of the Act aforesaid mentioned.

Objection to valuation to be lodged with secretary of divisional council.

6. The secretary of any Divisional Council receiving such objection, shall cause the owner or occupier of the farm or other immovable property of which the value is objected to, to be informed that such an objection has been lodged, and that it will come on for consideration at the Court aforesaid.

Duty of secretary receiving objection.

7. Should the person receiving such notice as aforesaid, that an objection has been lodged, by the person named in such notice, against the value put upon the property owned or occupied by him, consent that the valuation upon such property may be increased to the amount claimed in and by the objection, such person may, in writing, inform the secretary aforesaid that he consents to such increase, and such secretary shall report such consent to the Court aforesaid at its sitting, and thereupon the value of such property shall be increased accordingly.

If proprietor consents to increase of valuation.

No. 5—1860.

Duty of secretary when receiving consent.

8. The secretary receiving any such consent as aforesaid shall, in case there shall be time so to do, inform the person who lodged the objection that such objection has been admitted, and that it will not be necessary for him to attend the Court aforesaid to support his objection.

If proprietor does not consent.

9. In case no such consent as aforesaid shall be given as aforesaid, then the person objecting and the person resisting the objection may, in person or by any agents appointed in writing, appear before the Court aforesaid upon the day appointed for the sitting thereof, and such Court shall, in deciding upon such objection, proceed in manner and form as in the thirty-fifth section of the Act aforesaid provided, in regard to objections founded upon an alleged overvaluation; and the decision of such Court upon such objection shall be final and conclusive.

Costs.

10. If at the sitting of the Court aforesaid the person who lodged the objection shall fail to appear to support his objection, or, appearing, shall fail to show sufficient cause for increasing to any extent the valuation to which he objected, such objection shall be dismissed, and should the Court think fit, dismissed with costs: Provided that no costs shall be given against an objecting party unless the opposite party shall have appeared in person or by agent.

If proprietor fail to appear, &c., valuation may be increased.

11. If the person entitled as aforesaid to receive, and who shall have received, notice of an objection lodged to any valuation shall fail to appear at the sitting of the Court, or, appearing, shall fail to rebut the proof made that the valuation objected to was too low, so that the valuation objected to shall be increased, then the Court may, should it think fit, give costs to the objecting party: Provided that no costs shall be given against any person who shall have received notice of objection, and who shall appear at the sitting of the Court, and then and there declare his consent that the valuation objected to shall be increased to some amount less than the amount claimed in and by such objection, which shall be admitted by the objecting party or found by the Court to be the true and just value. And provided that even where such person appears to consent that the value objected to shall be increased to the full amount claimed in and by the objection, no costs shall be given against him in case he shall prove to the satisfaction of the Court that he received notice of such objection so short a time before the sitting of the Court that he could not send in as aforesaid to the secretary before the sitting of the Court, his consent to such increase in the valuation.

Costs to be the same as in civil cases in magistrate's court

12. As often as the Court aforesaid shall see reason to give costs to any person against any other person, such costs shall be the same as would be payable by a suitor condemned in costs in a civil case in the Court of the Resident Magistrate of the district; and such costs shall be recoverable by action in the Court of such Resident Magistrate: Provided that upon proof made of the order of the Court aforesaid giving costs, the liability for such costs shall not be brought into question in the Court of the Resident Magistrate, but only the amount thereof.

No. 1—1863.

13. As soon as any valuation for the purposes of the Act, aforesaid, No. 9, 1858, shall be completed, it shall lie in the office of the Civil Commissioner of the division, for the inspection of every owner or occupier of any property included therein, who may, upon all lawful days and at all reasonable hours, inspect the same and take extracts therefrom.

Valuation Roll to lie open for inspection.

14. Although no objection shall have been lodged in manner and form and within the time in the fifth section of this Act mentioned, it shall be lawful for the Court aforesaid at the sitting thereof, should it so think fit, to allow any such person as might under the said fifth section have lodged an objection to make, in writing, such an objection as is in the said section mentioned, and thereupon should the person entitled by the sixth section to receive notice of such objection be present, and consenting, may proceed summarily and at once to inquire into and decide upon such objection: Provided that if such last mentioned person be not present, or, being present, shall demand time to answer the objection, then the Court shall adjourn till some future day to be then and there appointed for deciding upon such objection, at which day, or upon some other day to be fixed by a further adjournment the said Court shall decide finally upon such objection, and make such order as to costs as shall to justice appertain.

Objection summarily made may be inquired into without previous notice.

ACT

To Amend the Laws relating to the Construction and Maintenance of the Main Roads of the Colony.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient that the Act No. 10 of 1864, intituled "An Act for the Construction and Maintenance of the Public Roads of the Colony," shall, in some respects, be amended, and, as so amended, shall be made perpetual: And whereas it is expedient that the Governor in Council should in certain cases be authorized to supplement the funds of Divisional Councils available for main road purposes by a grant in aid not exceeding in any case the amount which such councils, respectively, shall have assessed, and shall be prepared to expend for such purposes as aforesaid: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

13th, 14th, 40th, and 43rd sections of
Act No. 10 of 1864
repealed.

Governor may direct periodical inspection.

May order council to place road or bridge in repair, and

1. The thirteenth, fourteenth, fortieth, and forty-third sections of the said Act No. 10 of 1864 are hereby repealed, except as to any proceedings which may have been taken thereunder, which shall remain and continue as if such sections were still in force.

2. It shall be lawful for the Governor to direct periodical inspections and reports to be made of the condition and requirements of all main roads and bridges, and should the report of the inspecting officer be of such a nature as to show that any section of main road or any bridge is not properly maintained, it shall be lawful for the Governor to direct that a full report of the nature of the repairs required be sent to the secretary of the Divisional Council of the division in which the road or bridge is situated, and to direct that such road or bridge shall be placed in proper repair, and should the council, so addressed through their secretary, fail to place such road or bridge in proper repair, to the satisfaction of such inspecting officer as the Governor may appoint, within such reasonable time as the inspecting officer may report to be necessary for that purpose, being not less than three months, it shall be lawful for the Governor to direct that such road or bridge shall temporarily be removed from the charge of the division in which either may be situate, and the Governor may cause such road or bridge to be put into proper repair, and the sums expended in placing the road or bridge in proper repair, together with all reasonable expenses of the person or persons employed in the inspection aforesaid, shall be a debt due by the said council to the Treasurer-General of this Colony: Provided, also, that a certificate from the Chief Inspector of Public Works, and countersigned by the Auditor of the Colony, shall be transmitted to the secretary of the council, setting forth the particulars of such debt, which shall in all Courts and places be conclusive evidence of the amount thereof.

3. If on the report of such inspecting officer as aforesaid it shall appear that any main road or bridge situate in any division is not in a proper state of repair, and that such main road or bridge cannot be placed in a proper state of repair without such an expenditure as would necessitate a rate exceeding one penny in the pound for main road purposes in such division, then in case the Divisional Council of such division shall impose a rate of not less than one penny in the pound for main road purposes, and shall prove to the satisfaction of the Governor that such rate has been duly assessed, and that an amount equal to the total amount of such rate will be applied to the repair of the main roads and bridges within such division, it shall be lawful for the Governor to supplement the funds of such council available for main road purposes by a grant in aid out of the public revenue, not exceeding in any case the amount to be realized by such rate as aforesaid, and to be expended upon the main roads and bridges aforesaid, in case such grant shall be required for putting, or towards putting, the said main roads and bridges in a proper state of repair: Provided that no second or further grant in aid shall be made within twelve months next after the making of the first or any succeeding grant: Provided, also, that unless an amount equal to the amount contributed from the public revenue in any year shall be expended by the Divisional Council upon the main roads and bridges of its division within twelve months next after the making of such contribution, then the deficiency shall be recoverable from such council under the Public Bodies Debts Act, 1867.

4. The schedule A annexed to the Act No. 23 of 1858, intituled "An Act for declaring Main Roads and regulating Tolls," is hereby repealed, and the schedule hereto annexed shall be deemed and taken in the room and stead thereof, and the said Act and all on failure so to do, may temporarily remove charge of such road or bridge from the division, and repair it at the expense of the council.

If rate of one penny in the pound is reported insufficient for proper repair of main roads or bridges in any division, Governor may supplement funds of council available for main road purposes.

Schedule A to Act No. 23 of 1858 repealed, and schedule to this Act substituted.

No. 22--1873.

other Acts relating to roads shall be construed with reference to the schedule to this Act as if it were the schedule to the said Act No. 23 of 1858.

Interpretation of terms in this Act and Act No. 10 of 1864.

5. In the interpretation of the Act No. 10 of 1864, and of this Act, the term "construction" shall mean the first making of a main road over ground where there was no main road before, and shall include all work necessary to be done for completing such road down to the opening thereof for traffic; and the terms "maintenance" and "keeping in repair" shall both signify the same thing, and shall include all work necessary to be done to any main road already opened for traffic, in order to put, keep, and have it in good and substantial repair and in condition fit for use and traffic; and the term "bridge" shall extend to and embrace any "pontoon" placed upon any river lying in the course of any main road: Provided, however, that if by reason of floods or other casualty, any bridge shall be carried away or shall sustain damage entailing an extraordinary expenditure for repairs of more than one hundred pounds sterling, or if from natural decay any bridge shall require to be reconstructed or to be repaired at an expenditure exceeding two hundred and fifty pounds sterling, and if in either case it shall have been proved to the satisfaction of the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, that notwithstanding the due exercise of reasonable foresight on the part of the Divisional Council to which the maintenance of such bridge belongs, such casualty by floods or otherwise could not have been prevented, and further that such Divisional Council has in all respects satisfactorily performed its duties of "maintenance" and "keeping in repair" in respect of such bridge, then the reconstruction or such extraordinary repairs of such bridge, as the case may be, shall be regarded as coming under the head of "construction:" Provided, further, that if at any time any doubt or question should arise whether any particular work necessary to be done on or about any main road should be regarded as coming under the head of "construction" or the head of "maintenance," such doubt or question shall be decided by the Governor, with the advice of the Executive Council, which decision shall be final, unless Parliament shall otherwise decide.

Main roads not to be handed over to divisional council until construction completed.

6. No main road or any portion of a main road now in course of construction, or that may hereafter be constructed, shall be placed in the hands of any Divisional Council for maintenance before such construction shall have been completed, and as often as any Divisional Council shall be required to take over any main road as having been constructed, it shall be lawful for such council, in case it shall not consider that such road is yet constructed, according to the true intent and meaning of this Act, to require that the question in dispute shall be referred to two arbitrators, one to be appointed by the Governor, and the other by the Divisional

Council, and in case of difference of opinion between such arbitrators, then the question in dispute shall be referred to an umpire, to be appointed by such arbitrators before proceeding to inspect the said road: Provided that nothing in this section contained shall extend to any main road which shall at the time of the taking effect of this Act be already in the charge of any Divisional Council.

No. 22—1873.

This section not to extend to main roads already handed over to divisional council.

7. The said Act No. 10 of 1864, as amended by this Act, is hereby made perpetual.

Act No. 10 of 1864 as now amended made perpetual.

8. Nothing in this Act contained shall be taken to repeal any of the provisions of Act No. 32 of 1868, intituled "Act to provide for the Maintenance of the Main Northern Road."

This Act not to affect Main Northern Road Act of 1868.

9. This Act may be cited for all purposes as "The Road Act, 1873."

11°. That no deviation of the route of any of the lines mutually agreed upon between the council and the company shall vitiate this agreement or any portion of it.

12°. Further, with regard to the said line of tramway from the bottom of Bree-street to Three Anchor Bay, the said Tramway Company shall at its own cost and expense form a roadway twenty feet wide on the land side of the tramway from Alfred-street to where it reaches the Beach Road.

13. That if at any time it shall be found that the said tramways or any portion thereof interfere with and prejudice the rights and safety of the public, the Town Council may give notice to the Tramway Company to take up the line or a portion thereof so objected to, and on the expiry of twelve months after such notice shall have been given, the Tramway Company shall take up the line or portion of line in question, or in case the company shall not do so, the Town Council shall be entitled to perform the work and charge the expense thereof to the company.

Valuation in case
in which purchase price appears to be less than true value.

14. When in any case of sale and purchase of such property as aforesaid (not being a sale or purchase by public auction made bonâ fide and without collusion), it shall appear to the Civil Commissioner who is to receive the duty that the price or purchase money of the same is considerably less than its just and fair value, and in case the said Civil Commissioner and the purchaser shall not agree to accept the Divisional Council valuation of such property as representing the fair value thereof, it shall be competent for the said Civil Commissioner to cause a valuation of the said property to be made in manner and form as in the last preceding section mentioned: and in case the value, ascertained as aforesaid, shall exceed the amount of the said price or purchase money by one-third of the amount of such price or purchase money, then the amount of such valuation shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed and taken to be the price or purchase money of such property; and duty thereupon, together with the reasonable expenses of such valuation, shall be paid by the purchaser, but in case such value shall not exceed the said price or purchase money to the extent of one-third thereof, then duty shall be received upon such price or purchase money, and the expense of the valuation shall be borne by Government: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be held or taken to prevent any purchaser who shall conceive himself aggrieved from bringing such valuation in review before any Court having jurisdiction.

15. If, in any case, some additional valuable consideration, other than money, shall be given or promised, or agreed to be given by the purchaser to the seller or to any other person, for or in respect of or in connection with the alienation of any immovable property, then the seller and the purchaser shall be respectively at liberty to put, by way of solemn declaration, a value in money upon such additional consideration, and such value shall be added to the sum of money paid, or to be paid, and transfer duty shall be paid upon the conjoint amount; and in case the said seller and purchaser shall not put the same value upon such additional consideration, then duty shall be paid upon the higher of the two values so put: Provided that the provisions of the two last preceding sections respectively of this Act shall apply to the value or values so put, in case it or they shall appear to the Civil Commissioner who is to receive the transfer duty to be considerably less than the just and fair value of such additional consideration, or in case the said seller and purchaser shall not, each of them, put a value thereupon.

Valuation of consideration other than money.

16. No valuation of any property, for the purpose of the payment of transfer duty, shall be capable of being made at any time after any sum of money shall have been received, except money received by way of deposit for securing the payment of any amount of transfer duty to be afterwards fixed and ascertained, as being the transfer duty payable upon such property, and after a final receipt shall have been granted for such duty.

Valuation not competent after duty paid.

EXEMPTIONS FROM TRANSFER DUTY.

17. No transfer duty shall be remitted upon any sales whatever, except as specially in this Act provided, and except upon sales in regard to which the transfer duty, if paid, would be paid directly from and out of the colonial revenue.

Remission of duty forbidden.

No. 5—1884.

18. As often as any contract of sale, upon which transfer duty shall be payable, shall be set aside, or cancelled, or declared or made void by the judgment of any competent Court, the transfer duty upon such sale, if unpaid, shall not be payable: and if paid, shall be returned.

Exemptions from obligation to pay duty.

19. Exemptions from the obligation to pay transfer duty under the provisions of this Act shall be allowed in the cases and to the extent hereinafter set forth, that is to say:

1. When any person appearing upon the records of the Deeds Registry to be a joint owner of any property shall purchase that property, he shall not be charged with duty upon that proportion of the purchase money which represents his individual share or interest.
2. Any person being a descendant of any deceased person, and who would be the heir, or one of the heirs, ab intestato, of such deceased person, who shall, being entitled as an heir or legatee in the estate, purchase or take over the immovable property in the estate, or any part thereof, shall not be chargeable with duty upon so much of the purchase money or value of such property as represents his share in the property so purchased or taken over, considered as, or as if, an heir ab intestato; and the husband of any such heir or legatee, or the tutor, curator, or trustee of any such heir or legatee, purchasing for and in the name of such heir or legatee, shall be deemed and taken to be such heir for the purpose of this exemption.
3. Any heir or legatee of any deceased person, being such a person as has been above described under No. 2, who shall require to have any of the immovable property inherited by him from the deceased, or by the deceased legated or pre-legated to him, removed from the name of the deceased into his own name, shall not be chargeable with duty upon the amount of his share in the property so to be transferred, in case or supposing that the deceased died intestate.
4. No surviving spouse who had been married to his or her deceased spouse in community of property, shall be chargeable with any transfer duty upon any purchase, or other mode of taking over, from and out of the joint estate of the deceased and such surviving spouse, of the immovable property of the said estate, or of any part of such immovable property, or upon any immovable property or share in such property inherited by such surviving spouse from his or her deceased spouse as the heir or one of the heirs of such spouse—or upon any immovable property legated or pre-legated by the deceased spouse to such surviving spouse; nor shall any such duty become payable upon any property inherited from, or legated

- or pre-legated by such deceased spouse, by reason that the survivor has been charged by the will or other testamentary disposition of such deceased spouse with the payment of portions to children, or others, or with the payment of some amount of money into the joint estate.
5. Every purchase or other contract concluded by any surviving spouse with any heir or legatee of the deceased spouse, whereby such surviving spouse shall acquire from such heir or legatee his or her share or portion of any of the immovable property of, or which had been of, the joint estate, shall be exempt from duty, in like manner as if such purchase or contract had been concluded by such surviving spouse with the administrators of the joint estate, so long as such heir or legatee shall not have received transfer from or out of the joint estate of the property so sold, or otherwise disposed of, to such surviving spouse, but no longer.
  6. When any surviving spouse shall have been instituted as sole and universal heir of the first dying spouse subject to the obligation of making provision at some future time for the children of the marriage out of the estate of such first dying spouse, such children shall respectively be entitled, should occasion arise, to claim the exemptions provided in sub-sections No. 2 and No. 3 of this section, precisely as if they had been, jointly with the surviving spouse, instituted heirs of the first dying spouse.
  7. The husband of any woman to whom he shall be married in community of property may have any property standing in the Deeds Registry Office in her name removed into his own name without the payment of transfer duty.
  8. As often as the owner of any immovable property, being a husband or intended husband, or being a wife or an intended wife, or being the parent of a husband or wife, or of an intended husband or wife, shall agree or determine to vest such property in trustees, for the purpose of thereby making a provision for the support of the marriage, or for the wife or intended wife, or for the children of the marriage, transfer of such property may be made to such trustees without the payment of transfer duty: Provided that this exemption shall only extend to cases in which no consideration in money or property shall be given or promised to the owner of the property proposed to be vested in trustees, upon the trusts aforesaid, or upon trusts of the like nature.

No. 5—1884.

9. In every case in which any one person shall, by the records in the Deeds Registry Office, appear to be merely a trustee for any other person, whether the latter shall be a minor or a major, or under coverture or not, the property so held in trust may be removed from the name of the trustee to that of such other person being entitled to have it so removed, without the payment of transfer duty.
10. In every case of voluntary or compulsory partition between joint owners of immovable property, all changes in the records of the Deeds Registry required for the due registration of the separate shares, to be held by each in severalty, shall be made without payment of transfer duty in case the person claiming exemption from such payment shall make and deposit with the officer authorized to receive transfer duty, or with the Registrar of Deeds, a solemn declaration as nearly as is material in the form D in the second schedule, that he has not given, nor is to give, any money or other valuable consideration to his late co-proprietors, or any of them, for or in regard to the share assigned to him, and which he desires to have registered in his name: Provided that if for the equalising of partition, or for any other reason, such person shall have given or agreed to give to his late co-proprietors, or any of them, any money or other valuable consideration for the said share so assigned to him, he shall, by solemn declaration as aforesaid, state the amount or value given or to be given by him, and transfer duty shall be payable upon such value or amount: Provided that the provisions of the fourteenth section of this Act shall apply to the value of any consideration other than money given, or to be given, in case it shall appear to the Civil Commissioner who is to receive the transfer duty that such value is considerably less than the just and fair value of such consideration.
11. Any person, being a descendant or a surviving spouse of any person who shall, by will or otherwise, have burthened any immovable property with the entail of fidei-commissum or other similar restriction, in regard to such descendant or surviving spouse, so that the latter shall be entitled only to a life or other limited interest in such property, may have his title to such limited interest recorded in the Deeds Registry Office, without the payment of transfer duty.
12. Any person claiming free property in remainder after the expiration or extinction of any previous fidei-commissum, or other similar limited interest, burthening such property, may, in case such person be a descendant within the fourth degree of the person imposing such fidei-

- commissum* or other similar burthen, have the said property registered as his own in the Deeds Registry Office without the payment of transfer duty.
13. As often as any immovable property shall by the will of a deceased spouse be so limited and settled that it is, upon the death of the surviving spouse who is by such will entitled to a life interest therein, to go and belong to some child or other descendant of the deceased spouse, who would under or according to No. 3, of these subsections, or by any other law be entitled, in case such surviving spouse were dead, to obtain transfer of such property free of duty, then, in case such survivor shall during life see fit to waive and give up his or her life interest, in favour of the child or other descendant in remainder, such child or other descendant shall be entitled to take during the life of such survivor transfer of such property free of transfer duty.
  14. As often as the trustee of any insolvent estate, in the exercise of the powers by law possessed by him as such trustee, shall refuse to fulfil any contract for the sale of fixed property made by the insolvent before sequestration, no transfer duty upon such sale shall be payable by the purchaser from such insolvent, and such duty if paid before the sequestration shall be returned; and in case of the subsequent sale of such property out of the insolvent estate the declaration of the seller may be altered so as to set forth the fact of such previous sale and of such cancellation thereof.
  15. As often as the trustee of any insolvent estate shall elect to abandon any agreement which shall have been entered into by the insolvent for the purchase or exchange of any immovable property, no transfer duty shall be payable upon such sale: Provided that such duty, if it has been paid by the insolvent, shall not be returned; and provided that the solemn declaration to be made by the vendor, in case he shall make any second or subsequent sale, shall be as nearly as is material in the form marked E in the second schedule.
  16. As often as any insolvent shall, by agreement with his creditors, be permitted to retain or take over any of the immovable property which belonged to such insolvent at the date of the order of sequestration and still remaining unregistered in the name of such insolvent, no transfer duty shall be payable upon such transaction.

PROCLAMATION.

By His Excellency General the Right Hon. Lord Charles Henry Somerset, &c. &c.

WHEREAS it has appeared to His Majesty's Government that the laws in force in this Colony relating to testamentary dispositions of property may, in their operation, defeat the expectations of those individuals who have emigrated and become settlers within the jurisdiction of this Government; and I have in consequence thereof received His Majesty's most gracious commands to make provision in the premises according to circumstances: I do therefore, in pursuance thereof, and by virtue of the authority in me vested, hereby make known, declare, and order that it shall be hereafter considered lawful, regular, and of full force, for all residents and settlers in this Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, being natural-born subjects of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, to enjoy the same rights of devising their property, both real and personal, as they would be entitled to exercise under the laws and customs of England; provided, however, that in case any such natural-born subject of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland shall enter into the marriage state within this settlement, without making a previous marriage settlement (called, in the colonial law term, antenuptial contract), his property, in such case, both real and personal, shall be administered and divided according to Colonial law, notwithstanding any subsequent testamentary devise, unless such subsequent testamentary devise be made in conjunction with the wife of the party, according to the Colonial law on this head.

Preamble.

All natural-born subjects of the United Kingdom entitled to devise their property as in England.

In case of marriage in this colony without previous marriage settlement, property to be administered according to colonial law, unless a testamentary devise be made by the testator in conjunction with his wife.

And it is hereby further made known and ordered that the original will or testament of any person dying in this Colony shall be deposited, as usual, in the Orphan Chamber, at Cape Town, in order to legalize the administration of the estate by the executor or administrator thereof.

Wills to be deposited in the Orphan Chamber.

Ord. 15—1845.

The tenor of this proclamation to be explained by matrimonial courts.

And I do hereby further order and direct the president, or acting president, of any of the Matrimonial Courts of this Government, to explain clearly, to every natural-born subject of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland who shall be about to enter into matrimonial engagements, and appear for that purpose before such Court, the tenor of this my proclamation,—noting on their record their having so done, that no man may justly plead ignorance of this provision.

And in order still further to obviate the plea of not knowing the law on this head, I have caused this proclamation to be published and affixed as usual, and to appear in three successive Gazettes.
