3. Such stock shall be transferable by transfer in the books of the said Treasurer, and every person to whom any such credit as aforesaid shall have been given in the said books in the first instance, or to whom any such transfer shall thereafter have been made in the said books, shall be entitled to require and demand of the said Treasurer a receipt or certificate stating the amount of such stock standing to his credit in such books.

To Repeal the “Sinking Fund Act, 1864,” and the 2nd Section of the Act No. 5 of 1870.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, under and by virtue of the Sinking Fund Act, 1864, and of the second section of the Act No. 5 of 1870, intituled “An Act to amend in certain respects the Act No. 19 of 1864,” intituled “An Act to provide for the Leasing of Crown Lands, and other purposes,” large sums of money have been paid to the “Commissioners for administering the Sinking Fund of the Cape of Good Hope,” a great portion of which they are unable to invest as by law contemplated, and the same remain idle and uninvested in their hands; and whereas “The Public Debt Consolidation Act, 1870,” provides for a Sinking Fund for, and the extinction of, all the Public Debts of this Colony up to the time of the passing of the said Act, and all Acts passed since that time, authorizing the borrowing of money, have in like manner provided for the extinction of such debts, and it has therefore become unnecessary that the provisions of the said first mentioned Acts should continue, and it is advisable that the uninvested moneys and assets of the said commissioners, and the moneys which would otherwise be payable to them, under and by virtue of the said second section of the said Act No. 5 of 1870, should be paid to the Treasurer-General, to be available for the purpose of carrying on such public works as are already or may be authorized to be carried on, and that the moneys to arise from existing investments made by the said commissioners should be dealt with in like manner: Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

No. 8—1874.

1. The said “Sinking Fund Act, 1864,” the second section of the said Act No. 5 of 1870, and so much of any other Act as is repugnant to or inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, are hereby repealed: Provided that such repeal shall not affect any act already done by the said commissioners, or any bonds or securities taken by them, or debentures purchased by them, or any cessions of any such bonds or securities made by them.

Repugnant Acts repealed.

2. All bonds and securities taken by the said commissioners and in their hands, or in the hands of any person or persons on their behalf, at the time of the taking effect of this Act, shall by them be forthwith ceded and handed over to the Treasurer-General of this Colony, who shall stand in the same position with respect to such bonds and securities as the said commissioners did at the time of such cession, and the said Treasurer-General for the time being shall sue for, recover, and receive the moneys due and to become due upon and in respect of such bonds and securities, and shall take all other steps which may be necessary, in and about the same, and all moneys to be received by the said Treasurer-General under or by virtue of any such bonds or securities shall form part of the general revenue of the Colony.

Commissioners of Sinking Fund to hand over all bonds and securities to the Treasurer-General.

3. All moneys and other assets in the hands of the said commissioners, or of any person or persons on their behalf, at the time of the taking effect of this Act, shall be forthwith paid over by them to the Treasurer-General as part of the general revenue of this Colony.

ACT

To Provide for the Safe Custody of Persons Dangerously Insane, and for the Care and Custody of Persons of Unsound Mind.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the safe custody of, and the prevention of crimes being committed by persons dangerously insane, and also for the care and custody of persons who are insane but not dangerously so: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, by and with the advice of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

How magistrates to deal with persons of unsound mind.

1. Whenever any person shall be discovered and apprehended under circumstances indicating derangement of mind, and a purpose of committing suicide, or manifesting an intention to commit any crime or offence for which, if committed for trial, such person would be liable to be indicted, it shall be lawful for any Resident Magistrate before whom such person may be brought, to call to his assistance any two duly qualified medical practitioners (one of whom shall, if practicable, be the district surgeon); and if upon view and examination of the person so apprehended, and upon proof upon oath by such two medical practitioners to the effect that in their opinion the said person is a dangerous lunatic or dangerous idiot, the said Magistrate shall be satisfied that such person is a dangerous lunatic or dangerous idiot, then it shall be lawful for such Magistrate, by warrant under his hand, to commit such person to some hospital or other place of safe confinement within this Colony, there to be kept in strict custody until such person shall be discharged by order of the Supreme Court or Eastern Districts Court, or any Circuit Court, or shall be removed to some lunatic asylum by order of the Governor, as hereinafter provided: Provided always, that every such person so detained in such hospital or other place of confinement as aforesaid, shall be allowed the privilege of being visited by his friends and legal advisers at such reasonable and convenient times as may be appointed for that purpose by the Magistrate or the superintendent of such hospital or other place of confinement.

Lunatics under commitment may be visited by their friends.

Governor may by warrant remove criminals of unsound mind to lunatic asylum.

2. The Governor may direct, by warrant under the hand of the Colonial Secretary or the Under Colonial Secretary, that any person who may be detained in any hospital or other place of confinement, by virtue of any warrant as aforesaid, or any person who may be in any prison or place of confinement under any sentence of death or imprisonment, or under any warrant of default of surety to keep the peace, or to answer any criminal charge, or in consequence of any order of any Resident Magistrate or Justice of the Peace, or under any other than civil process.

and in respect of whom it shall be certified by two duly qualified medical practitioners that such person is insane, shall be removed to such lunatic asylum or hospital as the Governor shall appoint: And every person so removed shall remain under confinement in such asylum or hospital until it shall be certified to the Governor, upon oath or solemn declaration by two medical practitioners, that such person has become of sound mind: Whereupon the Governor shall, if such person shall remain subject to be continued in custody, issue his warrant under the hand of the Colonial or Under Colonial Secretary to the superintendent or other person having charge of any such asylum or hospital, directing that such person shall be remitted to the prison or other place of confinement from which he shall have been taken; or if the period of imprisonment or custody of such person shall have expired, or if such person shall not be under any sentence of imprisonment, or otherwise liable to be detained in custody, that such person shall be discharged.

No. 20—1879.

Such persons may be released if they become of sound mind.

3. Whenever it shall be certified to the Governor, by two duly qualified medical practitioners, that any person committed for trial, for any crime or offence, is insane or an idiot, the Governor may, by warrant under the hand of the Colonial Secretary or Under Colonial Secretary, order that such person shall be removed to such lunatic asylum or hospital as he shall appoint, there to be detained, unless in the meantime admitted to bail by some legal authority until the criminal sessions of the Supreme or Eastern Districts Court, or any Circuit Court, at which such person shall be brought to trial, or indicted according to the due course of the law, and such person shall then be remitted to the custody of the keeper of the gaol, or other person in whose custody such person may have been under the terms of the original committal, in order to his being tried for such crime or offence, or otherwise disposed of according to law: Provided always, that every such person, while so detained in such lunatic asylum or hospital, shall have the same liberty and privilege of seeing his friends and legal advisers at all reasonable times as he would have had in the gaol or other prison from which he may have been removed.

How persons of unsound mind, under committal for trial, are to be dealt with.

4. In all cases in which it shall be given in evidence, upon the trial of any person charged with any crime or offence, that such person was insane at the time of the commission of such crime and offence, and such person shall be acquitted, the jury shall be required to find, specially, whether such person was insane at the time of committing such crime or offence, and to declare whether such person was acquitted by them on account of such insanity, and in case they shall find that such person was insane at the time of committing such offence, and shall declare that he was acquitted on that ground, the Court before which such trial shall be had shall order such person to be kept in strict custody in such gaol, lunatic

Persons ceasing to be dangerous lunatics.

5. If at any time after the issue of any warrant for the detention of a person as a dangerous lunatic or a dangerous idiot, under the provisions of the first section of this Act, it shall be certified to the Governor by two qualified medical practitioners that the person for whose detention such warrant was issued as aforesaid, has ceased to be or is not a dangerous lunatic or dangerous idiot, and that such person may be suffered to go at large with safety, it shall and may be lawful for the Governor by warrant under the hand of the Colonial or Under Colonial Secretary to order the liberation of such person from custody, unless he shall be detained therein for some other cause by due process of law.

Provisions for maintenance of people of unsound mind.

6. When any insane or idiotic person shall be committed to any gaol, hospital, or other place of confinement as aforesaid, for the purpose of being received into such hospital or lunatic asylum as the Governor may appoint, the removal to and from, and the maintenance in such last mentioned hospital or asylum, of such insane person shall, until further provision be made therefor, be defrayed out of the colonial revenues: Provided always, that all sums so paid may be recovered from the estate, if any, of such insane person or from any person or persons liable by law to pay for or contribute towards the maintenance of such insane person by the Civil Commissioner of the district in which such estate is situate or in which such last named persons shall reside.

Agreement may be made with curator of lunatic for his maintenance.

7. Notwithstanding the provisions of the preceding section, it shall be lawful for the keeper of any such hospital or asylum, in all cases where any lunatic or idiot confined under the provisions of this Act shall be possessed of sufficient means to defray the expense of his maintenance in any such hospital or asylum, to agree with the curator of the property of such lunatic or idiot for his maintenance whilst detained therein, and such curator shall be, and is hereby, empowered to reimburse himself all necessary sums expended in such maintenance out of any funds or property belonging to such lunatic or idiot, which funds or property are hereby made chargeable therewith.

Visitors to be appointed to lunatic asylums.

8. The Governor may appoint one or more fit and proper person or persons to be the visitor or visitors of each lunatic asylum within the Colony, and may remove any such visitor or visitors, and appoint another, or others, in his or their stead; and some one of such visitors shall be required to visit each such lunatic asylum at such times as the Governor shall direct, unless prevented by illness or other sufficient cause, and shall, from time to time, make such reports to the Colonial Secretary as may be required by the order of the Governor.

9. If the Supreme or Eastern Districts Court, or any Judge thereof, presiding at any Circuit Court, shall receive information, upon oath, or otherwise shall have any reason or cause to suspect that any person of sound mind is confined as a lunatic or idiot within any gaol, hospital, lunatic asylum, or other place of confinement under this Act, such Court or Judge shall have full power and authority to cause the keeper or superintendent of such gaol, hospital, asylum, or other place of confinement, by any warrant or order, directed to such keeper or superintendent, to bring such confined person before such Court or Judge for examination, at a time to be specified in such warrant or order; and if, upon the examination of such confined person, or of any medical or other witness who may be called to testify as to the supposed sanity or insanity of such confined person, it shall appear to the satisfaction of such Court or Judge that such confined person is of sound mind, it shall be thereupon lawful for such Court or Judge, upon the oath, or affirmation of such witness, and such Court or Judge is hereby required to direct such confined person to be immediately discharged from custody, unless he shall be liable to be detained in custody for some other cause by due process of law.

No. 20—1879.

Judges of supreme, eastern districts, and circuit courts may enquire into cases of alleged sanity of persons confined in lunatic asylum.

Orders to be made after enquiry.

10. If any application shall be made to the Governor by any relative or friend of any person labouring under insanity or idiotcy and in confinement by virtue of this Act, and such relative or friend shall be willing to undertake the charge of and to support such insane or idiotic person, the Governor may, if he shall think fit, and if such insane or idiotic person shall not be liable to be detained in custody for any other cause by due process of law, by warrant under the hand of the Colonial or Under Colonial Secretary, order the discharge of such insane person from the gaol, hospital, lunatic asylum, or other place wherein he shall be confined: Provided that no person who shall have been committed to such gaol, hospital, or asylum as a dangerous lunatic or dangerous idiot, shall be so discharged, unless his friend or relative shall enter into sufficient recognizance for the peaceable behaviour, safe custody, and proper treatment of such dangerous lunatic or idiot before a Resident Magistrate or one of the Judges of the Supreme Court: Provided further, if it shall at any time be shown to the satisfaction of the Governor that any of the conditions of such recognizance shall have been broken, the Governor may issue a warrant under the hand of the Colonial or Under Colonial Secretary, directing that such dangerous lunatic or idiot shall be again confined in the gaol, hospital, or asylum from which he shall have been so discharged, or such other place as to the Governor may seem fit.

ORDER IN COUNCIL, FEBRUARY 20, 1839.

Fees of clergy

WHEREAS on the 7th day of September, 1838, an order was passed by Her Majesty with the advice of Her Privy Council for giving validity to certain marriages contracted within the Colonies of British Guiana, Trinidad, Saint Lucia, the Cape of Good Hope, and Mauritius, and for regulating the celebration of marriages therein hereafter in certain cases: And whereas doubts have arisen whether according to the right construction of the said order the legal effect thereof is not to take away the right theretofore vested in the clergy or ministers of religion within the said Colonies to the fees heretofore payable to them on the celebration of marriages therein: Now, therefore, for the removal of such doubts it is hereby declared and ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council that nothing in the said recited order contained extends or shall be construed to extend to deprive any clergyman or any minister of religion in any of the said Colonies hereafter celebrating any marriage therein of any fee, perquisite, or emolument on such celebration which would have been legally payable to him thereupon if the said recited order had not been made, or to take away from any such clergyman or minister any right of action or other remedy which could have been had by him for the recovery of any fee, perquisite, or emolument on any marriage hereafter to be celebrated by him if the said recited order had not been made, anything in the said recited order contained to the contrary notwithstanding.

And the Most Noble the Marquess of Normanby, one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

AN ACT

For Better Securing in certain Cases the Inheritances of Minors.

WHEREAS, from ignorance, neglect, and other causes, it not unfrequently happens that the survivor of two spouses, who at the time of the death of the first dying of them, had children of their marriage, under age, not merely fails to settle for, or secure in proper time, and in the usual way, the inheritances accruing to such minor children out of the estate of their deceased parent, but proceeds to marry again, without settling for or securing such inheritances, whereby confusion and litigation are likely to be created, and such minors are exposed to the risk of injury and loss : And whereas, whilst it is the duty of the several Matrimonial Courts of the Colony, before which all persons about to be married by special licence are bound to appear, to ascertain, in the case of widowers and widows, having minor children of a former marriage, that the inheritances which have devolved upon such minors have been settled for or secured, no provision exists of the same nature or with the same object in regard to surviving spouses who are minded to marry not by special licence, but by banns : And whereas, it is expedient to make such provision : Be it enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows :—

A widower or widow shall, prior to re-marriage pay to the Master of the Supreme Court the inheritance due to their minor children, or secure such inheritance by a deed of "kinderbewys."

1. As often as any widower or widow, <sup>(1)</sup> being the parent of any minor child, entitled to claim from such widower or widow any inheritance out of the estate of his or her deceased spouse, shall be minded to contract another marriage, and to that end shall be desirous to have the banns of such intended marriage published by any minister of religion or marriage officer in this Colony, such widower or widow, or his or her agent, shall obtain and deliver to the Resident Magistrate of the district in which such banns are intended to be published, a certificate, signed by the Master of the Supreme Court, certifying that the amount of inheritance due to such minor child as aforesaid, from and out of the estate of his or her deceased parent, has been paid into the Guardian's Fund, or otherwise, a certificate from the Registrar of Deeds, certifying that the customary bond or obligation, commonly called a "kinderbewys," is registered in the debt registry, for securing the amount of such inheritance : Provided that should it be necessary to publish the banns of any such marriage in more districts than one, then one such certificate as aforesaid shall be delivered to the Resident Magistrate of each district ; or otherwise one such certificate shall be delivered to one of the said Magistrates, and a copy thereof, certified by such Magistrate to be correct, shall be delivered to the other Magistrate : And provided, also, that the said Master and the said Registrar shall, upon request, grant such certificates as aforesaid, without fee or charge. <sup>(2)</sup>

Magistrate's certificate.

2. The Resident Magistrate, upon receiving such a certificate or attested copy of certificate as aforesaid, shall deliver to the party delivering the same to him a certificate signed by him, certifying that it has been made to appear to him, that no reason exists, arising out of unsecured inheritances of minor children, why the banns of marriage of the widower or widow who shall be named in such certificate should not be published.

In case of doubt or question as to minor's title to inheritance.

3. In any case in which any widower or widow, having any minor child who is alleged not to be by law entitled to any inheritance from or out of the estate of his or her deceased parent, shall be minded to contract another marriage, such widower or widow shall apply to the Resident Magistrate of the district in which banns are desired or required to be published, for a certificate, of the like tenor as that in the last preceding section mentioned : Provided that in any such case, involving matter of law, which the said Magistrate shall decline to take upon him to determine without legal advice, he shall require the party applying for such certificate to state, under the inspection and subject to the correction of such

4. In any case under this Act in which the Resident Magistrate shall see cause to withhold his certificate aforesaid, it shall be lawful for the person who shall have applied for such certificate to apply to a Judge of the Supreme Court, in Chamber, for an order upon such Magistrate, to grant such certificate, and thereupon it shall be lawful for such Judge, in the most summary and least expensive manner, to inquire into the case, and after inspecting such documents, and calling for such proofs, as to him shall seem needful, to grant or refuse such order, as to him shall seem expedient: Provided that in no case shall the costs of making any such order be awarded against the Magistrate, unless the necessity for such order shall have arisen from his wilful neglect or default.

If magistrate refuse certificate, application to judge in chamber.

No such certificate as aforesaid, whether made upon a Judge's order or not, shall be of any force or effect in law, except simply to authorize the publication of banns of marriage; and all matters and things regarding the rights, inheritances, estates, or interests of minors, and of all others, shall be judged of, after the granting of such certificate, precisely as if the same never had been granted.

Certificate has no legal force except as authorizing publication of banns

6. (1) No minister of religion or marriage officer shall publish the banns of any person whom he shall know to be a widower or widow, having a minor child or children of a former marriage, until there shall be delivered to him such a certificate as aforesaid, signed by the Resident Magistrate of the district in which such banns are desired or required to be published; and if any such minister or marriage officer shall discover, after one or more publications of banns, that either of the parties intending to marry is such a widower or widow as aforesaid, then such minister or marriage officer shall suspend the further publication of such banns

Act 12, 1856, for securing inheritances of minors, to apply to all marriages under this Act.

7. It shall not be lawful for any Resident Magistrate to demand or receive any fee, gratuity, or reward, for or by reason of anything done or to be done by him under or in pursuance of this Act.

18. In case any objection to any marriage shall be lodged as afore-said by any woman to whom the man who is desirous of having such marriage registered or solemnized, had previously and before the taking effect of this Act, been married according to Mohammedan customs and usages, the Resident Magistrate's Court, in considering and deciding upon such objection, shall have regard to the conduct and character of such woman since such Mohammedan marriage took place, and unless such Court shall be of opinion, upon proof made by the man, that the character and conduct of such woman since such marriage have been such that, had such marriage been in law a valid marriage, the man would have been entitled to claim from any competent Court either a dissolution of such marriage or a separation from bed and board, the Resident Magistrate's Court shall allow such objection, and thereupon such marriage shall not take place. And as often as any such lastmentioned objection shall be allowed, no future application by the same man for the registration or solemnization of any marriage (not being his marriage with the objecting party herself) shall, during the life of such objecting party, be capable of being entertained, except upon proof by the man that the objecting party had, since the decision come to upon her said objection, been guilty of what, had they been in law married people, would have been adultery.

19. It shall be competent for the Resident Magistrate's Court to award against such of the parties to any objection as such Court shall deem just and fitting the reasonable costs (if any) of the other parties to such objection, or any of them; and such costs, when certified by the Resident Magistrate's Court to the Court of Resident Magistrate of the same district, shall be recovered by process of such last-mentioned Court, precisely as if such costs had been costs awarded by such lastmentioned Court in a civil case therein pending.

20. Any person feeling himself aggrieved by the decision of any Resident Magistrate's Court upon any such objection may apply by petition to the Supreme Court in Chamber, or to any Judge of such Court or Circuit Court, stating the alleged grievance and praying relief: Provided that notice in writing of the intention to present such petition shall be given to the Resident Magistrate of the district in and for which such Resident Magistrate's Court exercises its functions, not later than seven days next after the day upon which the decision of the Resident Magistrate's Court objected to shall have been given.

21. It shall be lawful for the Court or Judge which shall receive any such petition to cause notice of such petition to be given by the party petitioning to such other persons as such Court or Judge shall think fit, and to inquire into the matter thereof, and to call upon the Resident Magistrate's Court whose decision is objected to for such explanations or information as such Court or Judge shall think necessary; and if need be, such Court or Judge shall take further evidence, and in the most summary, effectual, and inexpensive manner determine the matter in controversy; and may make such order as to the costs of, or consequent upon, such petition, as such Court or Judge shall think fit.

No. 16—1860.

22. The Court or Judge aforesaid may if need be direct the parties concerned in the matter of any such petition to file pleadings, or may direct any question of law arising in any such case to be argued by counsel: Provided that if the parties to any such objection or any of them be in poor and indigent circumstances, the said Court or Judge shall assign them or him an attorney and advocate, who shall act free of charge.

Pleadings may be filed and questions at law argued by counsel.

23. If the said Court or Judge shall disallow any objection which the Resident Magistrate's Court shall have allowed, then the marriage which was objected to shall be proceeded with as if such objection had not been made; and if such Court or Judge shall allow any objection which the Resident Magistrate's Court shall have disallowed, then the registration or solemnization objected to shall not take place.

How, if decision of matrimonial court is set aside.

24. When any Resident Magistrate's Court shall have disallowed any objection to any marriage, such marriage shall not take place before the time at which it might have taken place in case no objection had been lodged, nor then, unless or until seven days shall have elapsed since the day upon which the decision of the Resident Magistrate's Court disallowing the objection was given, in order to afford time for lodging notice of petition: Provided that the lodging of such notice shall be a stay of all proceedings touching such marriage pending the decision upon such petition.

If objection be disallowed by matrimonial court, marriage not to take place within seven days from date of disallowance.

Lodging of notice to stay all proceedings.

25. Any person who shall lodge an objection to any marriage, which objection shall be by the Resident Magistrate's Court declared to be frivolous, shall be liable to an action for damages at the suit of the person whose marriage was objected to: Provided, however, that such person shall not recover any damages unless the Court in which the suit shall have been instituted shall find the objection to have been frivolous.

Persons lodging frivolous objections, liable to action for damages.

26. If any person shall transmit or cause to be transmitted to any Resident Magistrate any writing purporting to be the notice of an intended marriage, or shall lodge or cause to be lodged with any Resident Magistrate an objection to any intended marriage purporting to be lodged by or on behalf of some person objecting to such marriage, such person not having any authority from the person or persons named in such notice or objection to transmit or lodge the same, but wantonly and mischievously intending to subject the persons named in such notice or objection, or some of them, to ridicule or annoyance, shall upon conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds or to imprisonment with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding three months, or to both such fine and such imprisonment.

SCHEDULE.

Proclamation.

WHEREAS I did by a proclamation bearing date the 3rd of February, 1848, issued by me in my capacity as Her Majesty's High Commissioner for settling and adjusting the affairs of certain territories adjacent to the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope proclaim, declare, and make known the sovereignty of Her said Majesty over certain territories north of the Great Orange River in the said proclamation mentioned and described: And whereas at various times during the period for which Her Majesty's emigrant subjects have occupied parts or portions of the said territories many marriages have taken place amongst them which owing to the impossibility of obtaining the presence or aid of any minister of the gospel and of conforming to divers requirements of law have not as it is supposed been solemnized in such a manner as to render the same valid and effectual: And whereas the said marriages were so irregularly contracted by reason solely of the necessity under which the parties lay while deprived alike of religious teachers and of regular and established laws, and arose from no want of due reverence for the holy ordinance in question or for the spiritual sanctions with which amongst Christians it is customarily and fitly solemnized: And whereas taking these things into my consideration and being desirous to confer upon Her Majesty's said subjects the important advantage of having their children's legitimacy established and their said marriages legalized for all purposes of law, I have determined to exercise for that end the powers and authorities in me vested: Now therefore I do, as Her Majesty's High Commissioner as aforesaid, hereby proclaim, declare, and make known the several following provisions and regulations touching and concerning the marriages aforesaid, that is to say:

1st. The British Resident in the territories aforesaid is hereby authorized and required to frame and preserve a general register of all such marriages as shall under any of the provisions hereinafter contained be transmitted or reported to him for registration.

2nd. Such general register shall set forth or show the names and residence of the husband and of the wife, their respective ages and condition in life, the date of the marriage and any other particulars which the said British Resident may be instructed by the High Commissioner to record.

3rd. Every couple (except as hereinafter excepted) united together within the said territories as man and wife in the presence of witnesses by any form of words expressive of their mutual and solemn consent to become and be then and there and from thenceforth married people, married together, may have their said marriage registered. But no marriage or pretended marriage shall be registered in which the parties are connected with each other by consanguinity or affinity in such a degree that the Governor of the Colony of the Cape could not by law have granted to them if resident in the said Colony a valid dispensation or authority to marry, and that no valid marriage could by the laws of the said Colony be therein solemnized between them if domiciled in the said Colony; and if any marriage or pretended marriage hereby declared incapable of registration shall yet be registered such registration shall have or possess no force or effect. But no ground of objection arising from consanguinity or affinity which could in the said Colony have been dispensed with by the authority of the said Governor shall prevent registration or its consequences as hereinafter declared.

4th. Whenever any two spouses married as aforesaid shall together come before the British Resident or any Magistrate resident in the said territories and shall declare the fact of such marriage, the Resident or Magistrate (as the case may be) shall ascertain and record in writing the names of the said spouses, their residence, the date and place of their said marriage, and their respective conditions in life at the time of such marriage, whether they were previously married or not; and such record shall be signed or acknowledged by the said spouses in presence of the Resident or Magistrate. When any doubt shall appear to rest upon the fact or date of the alleged marriage, the Resident or Magistrate may call for the certificate in writing or the solemn declaration before himself of such credible witness or witnesses as were present at or cognizant of the said marriage. But when and as often as any such marriage shall have been contracted before and attested by any person or persons recognized at the time amongst Her Majesty's emigrant subjects as holding a public office or authority entitling him or them to attest marriage, any such attestation or a copy thereof shall upon the identity of the married people being ascertained be conclusive proof of the fact and date of the said marriage.

5th. In case it shall be inconvenient for both spouses to repair to the said Resident or to any Magistrate, the latter may ascertain from the husband alone the circumstances aforesaid, and from them prepare the record. But when the husband shall appear alone he will provide himself with a written certificate or statement signed by the wife, or acknowledged by her in the presence of two neighbours who shall witness the same, in which certificate or statement the wife shall set forth the date of the marriage between herself and her husband. And this certificate or statement shall be preserved together with the record signed by the husband. In case of any doubt as to the fact or date of the marriage, the Resident or Magistrate shall proceed as before in order to remove the same.

6th. Should either of the spouses have departed this life since contracting any such marriage as aforesaid, leaving the other of them still surviving, such survivor may appear before the British Resident or any Magistrate as aforesaid, and thereupon the record shall be prepared as if both spouses were living and present; except that the signature of the survivor alone shall be sufficient and that the record shall set forth the death of the deceased. In every such case, moreover, the Resident or Magistrate shall require clear evidence, whether oral or by certificate or affidavit as he shall judge necessary, of the fact and date of the marriage, and shall when it is practicable ascertain that the relatives or friends of the deceased concur in recognizing the said marriage.

7th. Should it happen in any instance in which any such marriage shall have been contracted before and attested by any such persons in office or authority as are hereinbefore referred to that either of the spouses shall refuse to join the other of them in obtaining the registration of the said marriage then the spouse desiring such registration shall be at liberty to appear before the Resident or Magistrate who shall upon proof of such refusal and production of such attestation as aforesaid or an authentic copy thereof, and upon such further inquiry or proof if any as the said Resident or Magistrate shall judge necessary, prepare the necessary record, to which the signature of the spouse applying shall be sufficient, and which shall set forth the refusal of the other spouse.

8th. It shall not be any ground for refusing to prepare a record of or to register any marriage that both or either of the parties to the same at the time of contracting the same were under age.

9th. When and as often as any such Magistrate as aforesaid shall have prepared any such record as aforesaid, he shall with all convenient speed transmit the same with all other writings or papers connected therewith to the British Resident, who shall register every such marriage; and in all cases in which the necessary records shall be prepared by such Resident himself, he shall from or by means of them register the marriage therein mentioned.

10th. Every such marriage as aforesaid when registered by the British Resident shall from and after such registration be a marriage as lawful for all objects and purposes as a lawful marriage within the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, and shall for all purposes and objects of a civil nature be deemed and taken to have been a lawful marriage from and after the date of the contracting of the same; but whether the same shall from the date last mentioned be deemed and taken to have been a lawful marriage for the purpose of a prosecution for bigamy or polygamy, in case either party shall afterwards during the lifetime of the other party have contracted another marriage, shall be judged of and determined by the general principles of law and independently of any of the provisions of this proclamation.

11th. And whereas some ministers of the Dutch Reformed Church of the Cape Colony have heretofore proceeded to the said territories for the purpose of performing therein as generally as circumstances would permit the rites and services of religion: And whereas certain of the emigrant subjects aforesaid have from time to time been married by such ministers, as also by the officiating minister in the Dutch Reformed Church at Pietermaritzburg in the district of Natal: And whereas there is reason to suppose that in all cases in which any such minister as aforesaid shall have solemnized any marriage between parties who had previously lived together as man and wife, by virtue of any such irregular marriage as is hereinbefore mentioned, the said minister has recorded as well the fact and date of such previous marriage as the marriage solemnized by himself: And whereas it is fit that full credit be given to all matters so vouched: It is hereby declared and directed that the British Resident shall receive all original marriage records made by any such minister or authentic copies thereof as evidence of the facts therein contained, and shall from or by means of them register the marriages therein mentioned, without requiring the presence of either spouse or any further proof; and that from and after such registration every such marriage shall be deemed and taken to have been a lawful marriage to all intents and purposes from the date of the solemnization thereof by such minister, and to have been for all purposes of a civil nature a lawful marriage from the date mentioned in the marriage record made by such minister as that on which the first or previous marriage if any was contracted. But if in any case the fact or date of such previous marriage shall not appear in or by such marriage record then the spouses or spouse desiring the registration of such first or previous marriage shall proceed in the same manner as is in that or the like behalf hereinbefore provided; but in every case, the marriage solemnized by such minister shall after the registration thereof be deemed to be a lawful marriage to all intents and purposes from the date of such solemnization.

12th. And whereas it is necessary to make temporary provision for the contracting of marriages within the territory aforesaid pending the opening of churches and the settlement of fixed ministers within the same, it is hereby declared and directed that all persons who shall hereafter be married by any minister belonging to the Dutch Reformed Church of the Cape Colony or person commissioned by the same to solemnize marriages within the said territories shall be deemed and taken to be lawfully married; and such marriage shall be registered by the British Resident aforesaid from or by means of the marriage records of such minister or person and no publication of banns shall be necessary.

13th. If it shall so happen that any persons desirous to marry shall be unable to obtain the services of a minister from whom their marriage might receive the solemn and becoming sanctions of religion such persons may apply to and come before the said British Resident or to the nearest Magistrate, and each of them shall in his presence solemnly declare that they know of no impediment to their marriage and that they desire him to witness that they take each other respectively to be husband and wife; and thereupon a record of the said marriage shall be prepared and the same shall be duly registered; and every such marriage shall be deemed to be as valid and effectual and of the same force and obligation as a lawful marriage solemnized within the Cape Colony.

Ord. 4—1848.

14th. If both or either of the intended spouses be under age the Resident or Magistrate (as the case may be) shall before permitting the marriage (unless in the case of a widow or widower) require proof of the consent of the parents or guardians, unless it shall be made to appear to him that there are none such living, or that they without sufficient reason refuse consent, or that owing to distance or other causes such consent could not possibly or without much inconvenience be obtained. But no marriage once permitted and recorded shall be impeached upon the ground that both or either of the spouses being under age were or was married without consent of parents or guardians.

15th. A certificate signed by the British Resident or officer acting as such stating the registered particulars of any marriage registered by him or in his office in pursuance of this proclamation shall be good evidence of such marriage before all Courts and Magistrates.

And, lastly, I do hereby proclaim, declare, and make known, that while, in my earnest desire to consult as much as in me lies the interests and feelings of all Her Majesty's subjects in the territories aforesaid and those of their wives and children, I have determined to take all measures necessary for establishing their marriages as aforesaid beyond dispute or controversy, nothing in this proclamation contained is to be construed so as to render invalid any marriage contracted in the said territories and not registered under this proclamation which marriage would otherwise by law be regarded as valid; it being my wish and intention not now to decide that any sort or description of marriage is illegal but to furnish an easy and convenient mode by which certain marriages now supposed to be illegal may have their legality placed beyond doubt.

AN ACT

For Removing all Doubts regarding the Validity of the Marriages of certain Military Settlers.

Preamble.

WHEREAS certain of the men belonging to the British-German Legion, and about to emigrate to South Africa as military settlers, were married in England upon the eve of embarkation, whilst certain other members of the same force were married as soon as they had put out to sea: And whereas the said marriages were, all of them, entered into in good faith, and solemnized by chaplains of the said force, or by other ministers of religion; and it is just and expedient, for the sake of the said married people and their issue, to prevent any doubts or questions being raised, at any future time, in regard to the validity of such marriages, grounded upon the want, or supposed want, of certain formalities, with which, by reason of haste and other circumstances, it was impracticable to comply: And whereas it has been found impracticable to obtain, for the purpose of being embodied in this Act, a correct list of the marriages aforesaid: And whereas it is expedient that the Governor of this Colony should be empowered, by any proclamation or proclamations, to be by him published in the Government Gazette, to proclaim the names of the married people whose marriages shall, by this Act, be declared valid: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and the House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

No. 13—1857.

1. It shall be lawful for the Governor aforesaid, as soon as he shall have obtained a correct and authentic list of the marriages described in the preamble of this Act, to publish the same by proclamation or proclamations, in the Government Gazette, and the marriage of each husband and wife, whose names shall be set forth in any such proclamation, or in any schedule to any such proclamation, (1) as married people, married to each other, is hereby declared to have been, and to be, a legal, valid, and effectual marriage, to all intents and purposes, precisely as if such names had been inserted in this Act, and such marriage had been by this Act declared valid: Provided always, that nothing in this Act contained shall be construed so as to render valid any marriage which would, by reason of the consanguinity or affinity of the parties to such marriage, or a former and still subsisting marriage of either of them, be void, ab initio, by the law of England, notwithstanding that such marriage had been solemnized in manner and form, in every respect, as by the law of England prescribed and required.

CHAPTER V.

Of the Jurisdiction of the Resident Magistrates in cases between Masters and Servants and Apprentices.

1. The Resident Magistrates within the Colony have jurisdiction in all cases arising in their respective districts between masters and their servants and apprentices, and with reference to their relative rights and duties, or to any matter or thing, or offence, as to which provision is made by this bill.

Jurisdiction of resident magistrates in cases between masters and their servants and apprentices.

2. Every Resident Magistrate has jurisdiction in any such case as aforesaid, brought before him against any person being at the time within his district, whether the grounds of such case arose within the district or not, or whether the person against whom the case is brought has his usual residence or place of abode in that district or not; but the Magistrate shall, whenever it shall appear to him that any such case can be more conveniently tried or determined by the Resident Magistrate of any other district, dismiss such case, and, in the event of his doing so, when the servant or apprentice is accused of desertion, and when he shall have probable cause shown to him, by oath or affidavit, of any credible person, for believing this to be the fact, such Magistrate may, if he think fit, issue a warrant for the conveyance, under sure custody, of such servant or apprentice to the town or place where the Court of such other Magistrate is held; Provided the master shall undertake to pay the expense of such conveyance, and the Magistrate by whom the cause shall be ultimately tried and decided shall adjudge by which of the parties the said expenses shall be paid.

Resident magistrates have jurisdiction over all persons within their respective districts.

3. [§§ 3-9 repealed by § 21, Act 18 of 1873.]

10. If any servant or apprentice, whose contract of service or apprenticeship still subsists, shall, upon being discharged from prison after undergoing imprisonment under this Act, refuse or neglect, upon his master's request, to resume his service under his contract, he shall be liable to be imprisoned with or without hard labour for any period not exceeding one month, and so on for successive periods, not any of them exceeding one month, until he shall consent to resume, and shall resume, his service under his contract; and every such period of imprisonment, or so much thereof as the convicting Magistrate shall adjudge, may be with solitary confinement with or without spare diet, or with spare diet with or without solitary confinement: Provided, however, that no servant or apprentice shall, under this Act be imprisoned continuously, and without any intermediate resumption of service, under his contract, for longer than six months in all.

Period of imprisonment of servant to be added to the term of service stipulated in the contract.

11. When any period of imprisonment shall be undergone by any servant or apprentice for any offence under this Act, a like period shall be added to the term of service stipulated for in the contract of service or apprenticeship, as it subsisted when such imprisonment was commenced, so that such servant or apprentice shall be obliged to serve a further period equal to the period of his imprisonment, in addition to the term of service originally stipulated.

Period during which any servant shall have absented himself from the service of his master to be added to the term of service originally stipulated.

12. When the offence of which any servant or apprentice shall be convicted under this Act, shall be the offence of absenting himself from, or of departing from, the service of his master, then the period of his absence shall be added to the term of service originally stipulated, in like manner as in the last preceding section directed in regard to the period of imprisonment therein mentioned; and it shall be the duty of the Magistrate convicting such servant or apprentice, to ascertain, at the trial, the period of absence, and to certify the same by some writing under his hand, to be delivered to the master, and the period mentioned in such writing shall, by all Courts and in all places, be deemed to be added to the original term of service.

Compensation by servant for loss of or damage to property of master.

13. As often as any property of the master shall be lost or damaged by means of any act or omission of his servant or apprentice, which act or omission is by this Act declared to be an offence, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate, should he so think fit, and the master shall thereto agree, to ascertain whether such servant or apprentice is able to make compensation for such loss or damage, and if so, to fix the amount of such compensation, and make such order as to the payment thereof, either at once or by instalments out of wages to be yet earned, or otherwise, as shall seem reasonable and just, and in the meantime, and until default made in such payment, or in the payment of such some instalment, to defer passing sentence upon the party offending; but such Magistrate shall preserve on record the evidence in the case, and, upon application of the master, and proof given, upon oath, of some such default as aforesaid, shall issue his warrant for the apprehension of such servant or apprentice, and shall pronounce upon him such sentence as, regard being had to the circumstances of the original offence, and to the degree in which such servant or apprentice has made, or failed to make, the compensation ordered, shall appear equitable and just.

14. As often as the master of any servant or apprentice, who shall be convicted of any offence under this Act, shall desire the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, the Magistrate, should he so think fit, may order the cancellation of the same, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly; Provided that such cancellation shall not prevent the execution of any sentence which the Magistrate may pronounce or may have pronounced upon the offender for his offence.

Cancellation of contract for misconduct of servant.

15. As often as the master shall have caused any servant or apprentice to be brought before the Magistrate to answer any charge preferred against him by such master, and such master shall fail in obtaining the conviction of such servant or apprentice, then the Magistrate, should he so think fit, may, at the desire of such servant or apprentice, order the cancellation of the contract of service or apprenticeship, and the same shall be cancelled accordingly.

Actions by servants to compel delivery of property detained.

22. [§§ 22 and 23 repealed by Act 18 of 1873.]

24. Governor may grant to shipping masters, and other officers, reasonable salaries.

3. It shall be the general business of shipping masters, appointed as aforesaid, to afford facilities for engaging seamen by keeping registries of their names and characters ; to superintend and facilitate their engagement and discharge in manner provided in the aforesaid Act ; to provide means for securing the presence on board, at the proper times, of men who are so engaged ; to facilitate the making of apprenticeships to the sea service ; and to perform such other duties relating to merchant seamen and merchants ships as are now or may hereafter be legally committed to them.

And every such agreement shall be so framed as to admit of stipulations, to be adopted at the will of the master and seaman in each case, as to advance and allotment of wages, and may contain any other stipulations which are not contrary to law: Provided that if the master of any ship belonging to any British possession has an agreement with his crew made in due form according to the law of the possession to which such ship belongs or in which her crew were engaged, and engages single seamen in the United Kingdom, such seamen may sign the agreement so made, and it shall not be necessary for them to sign an agreement in the form sanctioned by the Board of Trade.

- (4.) In the case of substitutes engaged in the place of seamen who have duly signed the agreement, and whose services are lost within twenty-four hours of the ship's putting to sea by death, desertion, or other unforeseen cause, the engagement shall, when practicable, be made before some shipping master duly appointed in the manner hereinbefore specified; and whenever such last-mentioned engagement cannot be so made, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea, if practicable, and if not, as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to the seamen; and the seamen shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest their signatures.

- (2.) If upon any investigation, conducted under the provisions contained in the eighth part of this Act, or upon any investigation made by a Naval Court, constituted as hereinafter mentioned, it is reported, that the loss or abandonment of, or serious damage to, any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default.
- (3.) If he is superseded by the order of any Admiralty Court, or of any Naval Court, constituted as hereinafter mentioned.
- (4.) If he is shown to have been convicted of any offence.
- (5.) If, upon any investigation made by any Court or Tribunal authorized, or hereafter to be authorized, by the Legislative authority in any British possession to make inquiry into charges of incompetency or misconduct on the part of masters and mates of ships, or as to shipwrecks or other casualties affecting ships, a report is made by such Court or Tribunal to the effect that he has been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness, or tyranny, or that the loss or abandonment of, or serious damage to any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default, [and such report is confirmed by the Governor or person administering the Government of such possession]. 247. Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court, on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join, or to proceed to sea in any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, such Court may, if the master or the owner, or his agent, so requires, [instead of committing the offender to prison] <sup>(1)</sup> cause him to be conveyed on board, for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent, to be by them so conveyed, and may, in such case, order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner, by reason of the offence, to be paid by the offender, and, if necessary, to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which, by virtue of his then existing engagement, he may afterwards earn.

Every offence, declared by this Act to be a misdemeanour, shall also be deemed to be an offence hereby made punishable by imprisonment for any period not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour, or by a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds, and may be prosecuted accordingly in a summary manner, instead of being prosecuted as a misdemeanour.

- (5.) All offences under this Act shall, in any British possession be punishable in any Court, or by any Justice of the Peace, or Magistrate, in which or by whom offences of a like character are ordinarily punishable or in such other manner or by such other Courts, Justices, or Magistrates as may, from time to time, be determined by any Act or Ordinance duly made in such possession, in such manner as Acts and Ordinances in such possession are required to be made, in order to have the force of law.

520. 60. In case any mining board shall cease to exist or shall have ceased to exist, or shall be dissolved under the provisions of either of the two last preceding sections and until the election of a fresh mining board, it shall be lawful for any person having any claim against such board to continue any action already instituted or to commence legal proceedings against the members of the outgoing or last subsisting mining board, as representing such board, and to proceed with such proceedings to the final end and determination of the same just as if such mining board had not ceased to exist or been dissolved, and such person shall have the same remedies at law as if such mining board were duly constituted under the provisions of this Act. And in the event of the election of a fresh mining board or the appointment of a board in terms of the fifty-eighth section, such mining board shall stand and be in the same position as regards outstanding liabilities as the outgoing mining board, and all actions previously instituted shall be continued and carried on against such fresh mining board, or board appointed as aforesaid, without interruption of any kind.

Definition of abandoned claims.

65. From and after the promulgation of this Act, a claim in any mine shall be considered as abandoned whenever the same shall have been abandoned in accordance with any rule, regulation, ordinance, or law heretofore in force, or when the registered and rightful owner of the same shall give notice in writing to the inspector, or if held under the provisions of Griqualand West Ordinance No. 6 of 1880, to the Registrar of Deeds, of his intention to abandon the same.

Power of boards, &c., to dispose of claims, or otherwise, for benefit of mine.

66. Any claim legally abandoned or purchased in terms of the sixty-fourth section shall be the property of the mining board, body, or officer for the time being representing the claimholders at the mine where such abandoned claim is situate, and such board, body, or officer shall, saving all lawful demands of any creditor holding a lien against such claim, and subject to the provisions of the last preceding section, be entitled to dispose of, hold, or otherwise deal with the same, as he or they may deem expedient for the benefit of the mine generally, but shall not be liable for any registration fees, taxes or charges in respect of such claim, nor to work down or make safe the same, unless the bye-laws of any mine shall determine otherwise: Provided that any neighbouring claimholder shall be entitled to work down and make safe any claim so purchased or abandoned at his own expense should he desire to do so on being served with a notice by the inspector or other officer appointed in that behalf that such claim is dangerous to life or limb, and shall be entitled to register a lien for the value of the work so done according to the tariff fixed by the mining board as hereinbefore provided against such claim.

 Minerals Mining Act, 1883."

Preamble.

WHEREAS in and by the sixty-first section of the Act No. 19 of 1883, known as "The Precious Stones and Minerals Mining Act, 1883," provision was made to enable mining boards to borrow such moneys as might be required for the purpose of liquidating debts incurred, or for the due and efficient working of the mines under their control in manner in said section set forth: and whereas by the sixty-second section of said Act further provision was made for the event of legal proceedings being taken under the Public Bodies Debts Act of 1867, against any diggers' committee, mining board, or board appointed under the provisions of the said Act 19 of 1883, in respect of any debt or liability contracted for any loan or moneys received after the passing of said Act by such committee or board: And whereas the provision so made in and by the said two sections has been found to be insufficient for the purpose of enabling mining boards to liquidate debts incurred for the due and efficient working of the mines under their control, and it is therefore expedient and necessary to extend the provisions of the said sixty-second section so as to meet cases of loans of money raised for such purpose or other debts lawfully incurred before as well as after the passing of the said Act:

No. 22—1885.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and the House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

No. 19—1863.]

[July 28, 1863.

ACT

For enabling the Commissioners of the Municipality of George Town to procure a better Supply of Water for the Inhabitants of such Municipality.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of the municipality of George Town have for some years past experienced great inconvenience in consequence of a deficient supply of water; and whereas the present supply of water is derived from streams having their rise in a portion of the Outeniqua Mountains, situate within and forming part of the commonage lands of the municipality of George Town, the waters from which streams are collected in a reservoir at the base of the mountain, and thence conducted to and distributed in the town of George by means of open sluits; and whereas the existing reservoir is insufficient for the storage of an adequate supply of water, and the waters conveyed in such sluits are constantly polluted by decayed vegetable and animal matter continuously accumulating therein; and whereas it will be very beneficial to the inhabitants that additional reservoir space should be constructed and provided, and that the water should be conveyed to the town in supply pipes in place of open sluits; and whereas to enable the said commissioners to construct such additional reservoir space and procure and lay such pipes, it is proposed that a special rate should be laid on all immovable property within the municipality of George Town, to be called the water rate; and whereas it is proposed that the said commissioners should be empowered to borrow money on the security of the intended water rate to enable them to construct the intended works, but such objects cannot be obtained without the aid and authority of Parliament: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof:—

And if any person as aforesaid claiming such recompense or compensation for land or materials shall neglect or refuse to name some person to be such arbitrator as aforesaid, or to sign the said deed of submission, then the said council or other person aforesaid may lodge in some joint-stock bank in the Colony the sum of money offered by them as aforesaid in their first notice in this section mentioned, for or on account of and at the risk of such person as aforesaid who shall at all times be entitled to draw the same out of the said bank as his absolute property; and the said council or other person aforesaid, upon so lodging the said sum, shall be authorized and entitled to take and use the land or materials in question as freely as if the said sum had been agreed upon between the parties as the sum to be paid, or had been awarded by the arbitrators under the provisions of this section, and as if all acts by law required for vesting in the said council or other person aforesaid a sufficient title to the use of or property in the land or materials aforesaid had been duly done and performed.

9. In case the said council or other person aforesaid shall require to take or use any water, or land, or to dig out or carry away any materials belonging to any minor or other person under guardianship or curatorship, then the guardian or curator, as the case may be, shall be authorized in his capacity as such guardian or curator to treat and agree with the said council or other person aforesaid for the purchase or hire of the land or materials required, and to execute any contract which may be needful for carrying out any agreement which may be made, and in case of non-agreement to refer the matter in difference to arbitration, as in the last preceding section mentioned. But all moneys which shall either by agreement or by arbitration be payable by the said council or other person aforesaid for or on account of any land or materials in this section mentioned, shall be paid by the said council, or other person aforesaid to the Master of the Supreme Court administering the Guardian's Fund, who is hereby authorized to receive the same, and to place the same to the credit of the minor or other person entitled to such money, and if in any case any person of full age shall by way of fidei-commissary limitation, or any limitation of a like nature, be entitled to a life or other limited interest in any such land aforesaid, in which a minor or other such person aforesaid, under guardianship or curatorship, shall be also interested in remainder or expectancy, then the whole value of the land or materials as fixed by contract or by appraisement shall be paid as aforesaid to the Master of the Supreme Court, and the person who was entitled to the life or other limited interest to draw the interest payable on the sum so paid in: Provided, however, that if any such person shall desire to have his share of such sum apportioned and paid out, it shall be lawful for him to apply by motion to the Supreme Court for an apportionment of such sum, and such Court shall in a summary manner, upon hearing the parties interested, apportion the said sum and order the share of the applicant to be paid out to him, leaving the share of the minor or other person under disability in the hands of the said Master, to be administered in like manner as moneys in the Guardian's Fund, the property of minors or persons under disability, are therein administered: Subject, however, at all times to such orders as the Supreme Court aforesaid may, upon motion of any person having an interest, see fit to make in regard to such money. And in case the owner or owners shall not apply to the said council within the said period, then it shall be lawful for the said council to appoint some competent person to be approved of by the Civil Commissioner of the division to appraise the value of the land or materials, and such person shall make oath before some Justice of the Peace that he hath to the best of his judgment fairly

For more effectually preventing the improper Introduction into this Colony of Children belonging to Native Tribes, resident in Territories beyond the Land Boundaries thereof.

WHEREAS, in some instances, persons visiting the territories lying beyond the land boundaries of this Colony have there procured, and have thence brought into the Colony, to be made servants of, children of tender age, belonging to Native tribes resident in the territories aforesaid: And whereas there is reason to believe that if the practice of procuring such children were suffered to grow up, evil consequences may arise therefrom: And whereas the existing laws of the Colony do not sufficiently provide against the introduction of such children, under such circumstances: Be it therefore enacted by the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly thereof, as follows:—

Preamble.

1. No person, except as hereinafter excepted, shall, without the previous sanction of the Governor of this Colony for the time being, first had and obtained, bring into this Colony, across the land boundary thereof, any child under the age of sixteen years, belonging to any Native tribe or people in Africa, resident beyond the said land boundary. Any person contravening this section of this Act shall, upon conviction, be liable, for and in respect of every child so brought into this Colony, to a fine not exceeding twenty pounds, together with, and in addition to, the sum of one shilling per day for every day during which any such child shall have been harboured or kept by such person within this Colony:

Native children under sixteen years of age not to be brought within the colonial land boundary without previous sanction of the Governor.

No. 22—1837.

Except by the parent of the child; or by persons delivering the same to a resident magistrate within fourteen days

Such child to be under the guardianship of the Governor, and may not be apprenticed to the person by whom it is brought in.

Children may accompany visitors from beyond the land boundary for a temporary purpose, upon a certificate from a competent authority.

Any resident magistrate receiving such certificate, to note the date of its production.

Penalty for keeping or harbouring any child brought into this colony in contravention of the last preceding section.

How to judge of the age of such children.

Provided that nothing in this section contained shall extend to any parent of any such child as aforesaid, lawfully entering this Colony, and bringing such child into the same, nor to any person whomsoever bringing into the Colony any such child as aforesaid, who shall deliver over such child to any Resident Magistrate of the Colony within the space of fourteen days next after the day upon which such child shall have been brought into the Colony: Provided, however, that every such last-mentioned child shall be placed under the guardianship of the Governor of the Colony, for the time being, as in the fifth section of this Act provided, and that no such child shall be apprenticed to or left with the person by whom such child shall have been brought into the Colony, as in the sixth section of this Act provided: Provided, also, that nothing herein contained shall apply to any inhabitant of any territory beyond the land boundaries of this Colony, visiting this Colony for a temporary purpose, and bringing into this Colony any such child or children as aforesaid, in case such inhabitant shall produce and exhibit to some Resident Magistrate of this Colony, within one calendar month next after the date of his arrival in this Colony, a certificate in writing, signed by some Magistrate of the territory in which such inhabitant usually resides, certifying that the child or children brought into the Colony by such person is or are lawfully in the service of such person, and that the services of such child or children are required by such person during or upon his journey: Provided, also, that the Resident Magistrate to whom such certificate shall be produced or exhibited shall endorse thereon the date at which the same was so produced to him.

2. If any child brought by any person into this Colony, in contravention of the last preceding section, shall, without the previous sanction of the Governor of this Colony for the time being, be received, kept, or harboured, whilst under the age of sixteen years, by any other person within this Colony, such last-mentioned person knowing, when so receiving, keeping, or harbouring such child, that such child had been brought into this Colony, without the previous sanction of the said Governor, from beyond the land boundary thereof, then such lastmentioned person shall, upon conviction, be liable to the same penalty as that in the last preceding section mentioned: And any person receiving, keeping, or harbouring, within this Colony, any child brought into this Colony by any such inhabitant of another territory, as in the first section mentioned, shall be liable to the same penalty.

3. In every prosecution for a contravention of any of the sections of this Act, the Court in which such prosecution shall be pending shall judge from the appearance of the child in question in such prosecution, and also, if needful, from the opinions, given under oath, of persons skilled in ascertaining the age of such children, and from any other evidence which may be adduced on the subject, whether the child referred to in such prosecution was, when brought into this Colony, or received, kept, or harboured therein (as the case may be), under the age of sixteen years or not.

No. 26—1857.

4. When by reason of the death of such child, before the hearing of such criminal case as aforesaid, or other cause, the Court in which such case shall be pending shall be unable to inspect the child in question, in such case, then such Court shall judge of the age of such child when it was brought into the Colony, or received, kept, or harboured therein (as the case may be), by the knowledge or opinion of persons acquainted with such child.

How to judge of the age, if child has died.

5. Every child brought into this Colony in contravention of the first section of this Act, whether the person who brought such child into the Colony be convicted or not, and every child brought into this Colony, by any inhabitant of another territory, as in the first section mentioned, which child shall be received, kept, or harboured by any other person within this Colony, is hereby placed under the guardianship of the Governor of the Colony for the time being, and may, by any person acting under the authority of the said Governor, be apprenticed in like manner as is, or shall be, by law provided in regard to destitute children, or the said Governor may, without, or before, apprenticing such child, cause such child to be placed at any industrial school within this Colony, and to be there maintained and instructed so long as may be necessary, or as the said Governor shall think fit: Provided that the guardianship of the Governor aforesaid shall not extend to, nor shall he cause to be apprenticed, or placed at an industrial school as aforesaid, any person who shall be of the age of eighteen years or upwards.

Every child brought into the colony in contravention of the first section, placed under the guardianship of the Governor, and may be apprenticed or placed at an industrial school.

6. No such child as aforesaid shall, in any case, be apprenticed to or left with the person by whom, in contravention of the first section of this Act, such child was brought into this Colony, or any person by whom, in contravention of the second section of this Act, such child was received, kept, or harboured, after being brought into this Colony.

Guardianship not to extend beyond the age of eighteen.

Any person conveying or delivering a message to a Kafir within the colony, tending to entice him beyond the boundary, shall be imprisoned.
