

Burgers Park wins plaque

Burgers Park has won a bronze plaque in a competition run by the Urban Green File magazine and Enviro Elements/Townscape.

The Pretoria City Council was invited to participate in a Public Spaces competition and its culture and recreation division collected all the necessary information and photographs and compiled a report which was delivered together with the entry forms for the submission in four possible categories.

Parks and nature areas which were entered for the competition include Venning, Magnolia Dell, Rietondale, Zita, Faerie Glen Nature Reserve, Austin Roberts Birds Sanctuary, Wonderboom Nature Reserve and Rietvlei Nature Reserve.

A spokesman for the council said the plaque would be displayed in the park at a prominent position.

"This will enable visitors to appreciate the significance of the park." -
