APPENDIX 2

Letter of intent

1 March 2002

Dear

Greetings from your brother in Christ, Hyunchul Henry Oh. As you know, I am writing my PhD thesis in practical theology at the University of Pretoria. The topic of my research is on preaching in the interaction between church and culture, with specific reference to the Korean church. As part of my research, I attempt a critical description of the interaction between the church and culture in Korea and of preaching with regard to this interaction (Chapter 2). To give relevance to this work, I seek to obtain empirical interpretations based on qualitative interviews with you and other conversational partners.

The information provided through the interviewing sessions will be presented in my thesis. It will be used to give relevance and valuable insight to my research. Your response is thus very crucial to this study. I encourage you to provide deep, detailed, vivid, and nuanced answers to the given theme and questions. The interviews will consist of group and individual sessions. The group interview will be led by themes and questions. The individual interview aims to clarify and develop what you and other conversational partners say during group sessions. Probes and follow-up questions will be used.

Thank you for your participating in this special way in my research. I look forward to seeing you at the first group session on 12 March.

Giving thanks in Christ,

Hyunchul Henry Oh
