

TRANSFORMATION OR TRAVESTY?

A study of the micropolitics of educational change in the case of the incorporation of a college of education into a university.

by

Venitha Soobrayan

A thesis submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of

PhD

University of Pretoria

2003

Approved by Professor Jonathan D Jansen

Chairperson of Supervisory Committee

Program Authorized to Offer Degree _____

Date _____

For Kiara and Tahlia

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Chapter One.....	1
A bird's eye view
Chapter Two.....	3
Micropolitical chatter and finding a nest
Chapter Three.....	18
The flight path: trails and turbulence
Chapter Four.....	48
Let's migrate to Pretoria
Chapter Five.....	63
Beating our wings but with no rhyme or reason
Chapter Six.....	90
From wings to tails/tales
Chapter Seven.....	154
Finding the trees in the woods
Appendix A.....	175
Sacte staff respondents
Appendix B.....	179
Unisa staff respondents
Appendix C.....	182
Government officials and other stakeholder respondents
Appendix D.....	183
Service staff questionnaire and analysis
Appendix E.....	187
Students questionnaire and analysis
Appendix F.....	191
Sacte/Unisa academic and administrative staff questionnaire and analysis
Appendix G.....	199
Genealogy of Sacte
Bibliography.....	200

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Writing this thesis has been an exhilarating and exhausting project for me. My friends and family too are tired. I want to thank all who were a source of comfort and help.

- Kiara and Tahlia for their patience.
- Madhika for being a mother when I could not be.
- Dhaya for coming to the rescue without question and for her faith in me.
- Chaya, Hersheela and Anusha for providing intellectual and moral support.
- Vani and Sue who helped transport my girls when I could not.
- Sonja, Ancois, Jaco, Liz, Shanti, Louisa, Jennifer and Raachie who came to my rescue.
- Alexa on whose editing talents I depended.
- Danie who patiently answered my many questions.
- Johannes who tolerated the interruptions.
- Yvonne and Marieta who have always been helpful.
- Yunus for his legal insight.
- Trevor for being a brilliant critical reader.
- Jonathan whose critical and intellectual advice has been invaluable.
- The many courageous people who agreed to be interviewed.