

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This study would not have been possible without the support of the following persons and Institutions:

Thank you to my supervisors, Dr Johan Thom and Prof Lize Kriel, for their support and guidance.

I would also like to thank and acknowledge the University of Namibia and the National Arts Council of Namibia for sponsoring my studies.

A big thank you and acknowledgement is due to the National Institute for the Humanities and the Social Sciences for their sponsorship towards finalising my studies, as well as funding my participation in Project No CRP20-1032 (African Au-o-ral art and image-text objects: Cultural translation of precolonial memories and remains).

Most importantly, I would like to thank my daughter, Vera Roder, for her support, encouragement and faith on my PhD journey. In addition, I acknowledge and thank my mother Rosemary Arderne Russel-Jones (deceased) for encouraging us as women, to liberate ourselves through education. She also taught us to believe in our dreams. I thank and acknowledge her too for believing in and supporting my art journey.

I would also like to thank both my grandmother, Marie Arderne Russel-Jones, and my aunt Vera Arderne Russel-Jones, (both deceased) for being shining examples of independent career women, during their time. They have served as my inspiration.

In addition, a big thank you to the staff at NWR for sharing their stories and sayings of sand: Gelasuis Kaneyumara, Ignatius Heita, Joyce Muzite, Willem Tjingeo, and Maxwell Mbaha. Acknowledgements and accolades are also due to the Ehi Installation team for their wonderful and supportive collaboration: Frieda Luhl (Project Room), Betty Tuauoovisiua Katuuu (collaborating artist), Elise Huyssteen (Curator), Dewayne Goagoseb (Videographer) and Actofel Ilova (Cataloguer).

Many thanks to my friends and colleagues for their patience, support and encouragement on this long journey.
