The world is constantly changing, presenting us with ever more complex challenges that need to be addressed. Going forward simply thinking sustainably is not good enough anymore. We have to start acting sustainably in order to preserve this treasure that is the Earth. Man and nature have always engaged in a complex relationship, and somehow this relationship has been undermined and forgotten.

We have to re-engage with nature, since we are a vital and integral part of it.

"Each one of us is committed to supervising and guarding the proper arrangement of the earthly landscape, each with his own spirit and hands, in the portion for which he is responsible, so as to avoid passing down to our children a lesser treasure than that left to us by our fathers." William Morris, 1881 [Portogeshi, 1999:15]
My sincere thanks to all who inspired, guided, motivated, scolded, assisted and prayed throughout the year.
My sincere thanks to all who inspired, guided, motivated, scolded, assisted and prayed throughout the year
[Books]

[Periodicals]

Porthogeshi, P. Learning from nature, Domus, September 1999, vol. 99, issue 818, pp 2-16

[Websites]

en.wikiquote.org/wiki/ Francis_Bacon accessed 29 March 2009

en.wikiquote.org/wiki/ JFK accessed 29 March 2009

www.africancarbontrust.org accessed on 25 March 2009

www.csir.co.za accessed on 25 March 2009

www.designindaba.com accessed on 25 March 2009

www.flickr.com accessed on 27 July 2009

www.innocentive.com accessed on 9 March 2009

www.sabs.co.za accessed on 25 March 2009
[Reports]

Tshwane Inner City Development and Regeneration Strategy, 2005. Gapp Architects and Urban Designers

Tshwane Inner City Development and Regeneration Strategy (abridged version), 2006. Gapp Architects and Urban Designers

Tshwane Town-Planning Scheme, 2008. Municipality of Tshwane, Gauteng, South Africa

[Interviews]

Blanc, P. interview available at www.youtube.com/watch?v=63D2UkkTtBQ accessed on 28 September 2009

Louw, D. interview with author on 28 July 2009

Robbertze, T. interview with author on 27 September 2009

von Geyso, C. interview with author on 15 September 2009