6. References

No. 202, 84-89.

CÁRCOBA, R., DELGADO, T. & RODRÍGUEZ, A., 2000. Comparative performance of a mixed strain starter in cows’ milk, ewes’ milk and mixtures of these milks. European Food Research and Technology 211, 141-146.

CLAESSON, O., 1992. Collection and small-scale processing of milk in warm developing countries. IRD Currents 2, 8-10.

DEVENDRA, C., 1980. Milk production in goats compared to buffalo and cattle in

DUTTA, S. M., KUILA, R. K., RANGANATHAN, B. & LAXMINARAYANA, H.,

GARCÍA-GRAELLS, C., VAN OPSTAL, I., VANMUYSEN, S. C. M. & MICHELS, C. W., 2002. The lactoperoxidase system increases efficacy of high-pressure inactivation of foodborne bacteria. International Journal of Food Microbiology 81, 211-221.

IDF, 1991b. Significance of the indigenous antimicrobial agents of milk to the dairy

KUNTZ, T B. & KUNTZ, S. T., 1999. Enterohemorrhagic Escherichia coli infection. Primary Care Update for OB/GYNs 6, 192-196.

SHIN, K., HAYASAWA, H. & LÖNNERDAL, B., 2001. Inhibition of Escherichia coli respiratory enzymes by the lactoperoxidase-hydrogen peroxide-thiocyanate antimicrobial system. Journal of Applied Microbiology 90, 489-493.

7. Publications

Presentations

