reclaiming lost space

A centre for sports and education development in the Pretoria city centre

Mentor and Study Leader: Gary White
Submitted as part of the requirements for the
MBA (Prof)
Karsten Hansen 07089620
2007
Contents

1 Introduction 1.01

2 Theoretical context 2.01
2.1 Introduction 2.02
2.2 Sport and the community 2.02
2.3 The role of sports administration 2.06
2.4 Architecture of the event 2.06
2.5 The intervention at an urban scale 2.08

3 Brief 3.01
3.1 Problem Statement 3.02
3.2 Sub Problems 3.02
3.3 The intervention 3.03

4 Context Analysis 4.01
4.1 Introduction 4.02
4.2 The development at a macro scale 4.04
4.3 The development at a meso scale 4.05
4.4 Opportunities and threats 4.06
4.5 Users 4.07
4.6 Extending the pedestrian network 4.08
4.7 The development at a micro scale 4.12
4.8 Street conditions 4.13
4.9 Proposed new developments in the class framework 4.14
4.10 Shepard Street 4.15
4.11 Historical Context 4.16
4.12 Current onsite activities 4.18
4.13 Conclusion regarding onsite buildings 4.20

5 Precedent Studies 5.01
5.1 Precedent study 1 5.02
5.2 Precedent study 2 5.04
5.3 Precedent study 3 5.06
5.4 Precedent study 4 5.08
5.5 Precedent study 4 5.10

6 Urban Design Development 6.01
6.1 Introduction 6.02
6.2 Lessons from the Piazza di San Marco 6.04
6.3 Jacobs and Newman 6.06
6.4 Louis and Neogr 6.08

7 Building design development 7.01
7.1 Introduction 7.02
7.2 A sense of community 7.02
7.3 Building edge and entrance 7.03
7.4 The Kunde Hall 7.04
7.5 Architecture of transition 7.05
7.6 The viewing platform 7.08
7.7 A question of identity 7.12
7.8 Pretoria and the Modern 7.12
7.9 Integrating the modern 7.14
7.10 Adding a new layer 7.16
7.11 Symbolism 7.17
7.12 Including the layer in the intervention 7.18
7.13 Programme 7.20

8 Technical Investigation 8.01
8.1 Structure 8.02
8.2 Materials 8.03
8.3 Services 8.04
8.4 Contraction 8.04
8.5 Lighting 8.04
List of figures

Figure 1.1 Streets and sidewalks are dominated by cars [Karsten Hansen] 1.02
Figure 1.2 Streets are appropriated as public space [Karsten Hansen] 1.03
Figure 1.3 Streets are appropriated as public space [Karsten Hansen] 1.03
Figure 1.4 Carwash in the streets [Karsten Hansen] 1.03
Figure 1.5 A vendor selling her wares [Karsten Hansen] 1.03
Figure 1.6 Zanee S. [Baker, K.] 2.03
Figure 1.7 Steve Kammersoo Melone [Baker, K.] 2.03
Figure 1.8 East: D.O. [Baker, K] 2.03
Figure 1.9 Sport as an event [Van Berkel, B. & Bos, p.55] 2.03
Figure 1.10 An urban sports park in Rotterdam [De Vly, C] 2.04
Figure 1.11 Expression on the façade [De Vly, C] 2.04
Figure 1.12 Social interaction | De Vly, C] 2.04
Figure 1.13 Space for the individual | De Vly, C] 2.04
Figure 1.14 Spot as a cultural bridge builder [De Vly, C] 2.05
Figure 1.15 Spot as a cultural bridge builder [De Vly, C] 2.05
Figure 1.16 Spot creates community | Van Berkel, B. & Bos p.56] 2.05
Figure 1.17 Architecture of the Fanfest, Germany 2006 [Baker, K] 2.07
Figure 1.18 A reprogrammable square [Brandon, S. p.77] 2.07
Figure 1.19 Stadium Rotterdam, He and Van Berkel, B. & Bos, p.68] 2.07
Figure 1.20 Diagram depicting the relationship | Van Berkel, B. & Bos p.59, 2.07
Figure 1.21 The geography of Pretoria Jordan [C. p.16] 2.07
Figure 1.22 Highspeed thoroughfare, Struben Street [Karsten Hansen] 2.02
Figure 1.23 Visibility of the streets, a hawker | Karsten Hansen] 2.02
Figure 1.24 Safety as an issue [Karsten Hansen] 2.02
Figure 1.25 Prinsloo Street covered walkways [Karsten Hansen] 2.03
Figure 1.26 Buildings are closed off [Karsten Hansen] 2.03
Figure 1.27 Defined dead spaces are scars [Karsten Hansen] 2.03
Figure 1.28 Struben Street - dirty and wet [Karsten Hansen] 2.03
Figure 1.29 The greater Pretoria context, scale 1:2000 [Karsten Hansen] 2.04
Figure 1.30 The city and vehicles, scale 1:5000 [Karsten Hansen] 2.05
Figure 1.31 The Tshwane inner city | City of Tshwane] 2.06
Figure 1.32 Analysis of pedestrian routes [Karsten Hansen] 2.07
Figure 1.33 A diagram depicting on-street agents [Karsten Hansen] 2.07
Figure 1.34 The city and the pedestrian, scale 1:5000 [Karsten Hansen] 2.09
Figure 1.35 The city block and its immediate context [Karsten Hansen] 4.10
Figure 1.36 Ste and boundary conditions, scale 1:1000 [Karsten Hansen] 4.12
Figure 1.37 Pretoria aerial photo [Afrikaner] 4.17
Figure 1.38 Diagram depicting current density [Karsten Hansen] 4.17
Figure 1.39 Passive surveillance | Sensor, C. p.71] 5.02
Figure 1.40 Optimum use of glass facades | Sensor, C. p.71] 5.02
Figure 1.41 The underground sports hall. | Sensor, C. p.70] 5.03
Figure 1.42 The building provides density | Sensor, C. p.71] 5.03
Figure 1.43 We-defined entrances and boundaries | Decker, T. et. a, p. 26] 6.04
Figure 1.44 The Erins urban context | Decker, T. et. a, p. 26] 6.04
Figure 1.45 The Erins Hall | Decker, T. et. a, p. 26] 6.04
Figure 1.46 Layers of architecture | Decker, T. et. a, p. 27] 6.04
Figure 1.47 Glass facades | Decker, T. et. a, p. 28] 6.04
Figure 1.48 A performance view of buildings |Lev, A, p.8] 6.04
Figure 5.1.1 An orthogonal performance |Lev, A, p.8] 5.04
Figure 5.1.2 The building provides natural lighting |Brandoin, S. p.76] 5.04
Figure 5.1.3 Openings are cut |Brandoin, S. p.76] 5.06
Figure 5.1.4 Trees are used to define walkways |Brandoin, S. p.78] 5.07
Figure 5.1.5 The story behind the building |Brandoin, S. p.76] 5.07
Figure 5.1.6 The reprogrammable public square |Brandoin, S. p.77] 5.07
Figure 5.1.7 A study of the facade |Karsten Hansen] 5.08
Figure 5.1.8 The strong sense of rhythm |Decker, T. et. a, p. 78] 5.08
Figure 5.1.9 Pretoria avant garde |Decker, T. et. a, p. 79] 5.08
Figure 5.1.10 The entrance |Karsten Hansen] 5.08
Figure 5.2.1 The entrance |Karsten Hansen] 5.08
Figure 5.2.2 View from the building |Karsten Hansen] 5.08
Figure 5.2.3 Lounge on the top floor |Decker, T. et. a, p. 79] 5.09
Figure 5.2.4 The building is not spatial environment |Karsten Hansen] 5.09
Figure 5.2.5 The building provides |Karsten Hansen] 5.10
Figure 5.2.6 Using perforated plates to play with light |Karsten Hansen] 5.10
Figure 5.2.7 Strong rhythmic columns and appearance |Decker, T. et. a, p. 34] 5.11
Figure 5.2.8 Maker as and structure are evident |Decker, T. et. a, p. 24] 5.11
Figure 5.2.9 Rugged steel cone treatment |Karsten Hansen] 5.11
Figure 5.3.0 Perforated plate data 's |Karsten Hansen] 5.11
Figure 6.1.1 The city block |Decker, T. et. a, p. 12] 6.03
Figure 6.1.2 Sport combined |Power, F., p. 12] 6.03
Figure 6.1.3 Study of a public precinct |Karsten Hansen] 6.03
Figure 6.1.4 Study of a public precinct |Karsten Hansen] 6.03
Figure 6.1.5 The Piazza di San Marco |Karsten Hansen] 6.04
Figure 6.1.6 Study of the piazza di San Marco |Karsten Hansen] 6.04
Figure 6.1.7 Analysis of ost space in the city block |Karsten Hansen] 6.04
Figure 6.1.8 Open space |Karsten Hansen] 6.04
Figure 6.1.9 Shepherd Street |Karsten Hansen] 6.04
Figure 6.1.10 Exploring spaces |Karsten Hansen] 6.05
Figure 6.1.11 The sixes |Brand, S. p.26] 6.06
Figure 6.1.12 Drawing exploring increased permeability |Karsten Hansen] 6.06
Figure 6.1.13 Versus 1. concept stepan |Karsten Hansen] 6.06
Figure 6.1.14 Versus 1. Exploring permeability |Karsten Hansen] 6.06
Figure 6.1.15 Exploring building and site program |Karsten Hansen] 6.07
Figure 6.1.16 Exploring routes that serve |Karsten Hansen] 6.08
Figure 6.1.17 Concept of a drawing of active urban edge |Karsten Hansen] 6.08
Figure 6.1.18 Usaswazi Secondary School |Karsten Hansen] 6.08
Figure 6.1.19 Usaswazi Secondary School elevation |Karsten Hansen] 6.08
Figure 6.2.10 Analysis of background |Karsten Hansen] 6.09
Figure 6.2.11 Visual connections to surrounding urban elements |Karsten Hansen] 6.09
Figure 6.2.12 The streets off misto vehicres |Karsten Hansen] 6.09
Figure 6.2.13 Perspective of existing |Karsten Hansen] 6.10
Figure 6.2.14 Intervent on 9am, March/September 21st |Karsten Hansen] 6.10
Figure 6.2.15 Intervent on 12am, March/September 21st |Karsten Hansen] 6.10
Figure 6.2.16 Intervent on 3pm, March/September 21st |Karsten Hansen] 6.10
Figure 6.2.17 Perspective after intervention |Karsten Hansen] 6.11
Figure 6.2.18 Before intervention, scale 1:2500 |Karsten Hansen] 6.11