ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to extend my warmest thanks and gratitude to the following people for the help and encouragement which they extended to me while I struggled to complete this study: this thesis has arisen out of my love for the Church of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Saviour, the Anglican Church, and the Diocese of St. Mark the Evangelist in particular.

Professor J.J. (Dons) Kritzinger, who, as my promoter, has been very kind, patient and most generous at all times with his expert guidance and suggestions. He removed my frustration when I learned of his retirement to the Free State, and promised to continue guiding me. If it had not been for his help, guidance and encouragement, this work would not have seen the light of day in its present form. I wish to thank him most heartily for his untiring sensitivity to Missiological knowledge and – above all – for his patience, tolerance and empathy.

Apart from the above, I wish to express my deepest thanks to the following people for their share in helping me to complete this study:

1. My wife, Mokgaetji Mabel (Maghuba) for her patience and encouragement, and for cheerfully enduring the presence of her love to me. Also my daughter, Dr. Margaret Julia Phanyagana Ledwaba and my grand children Kabelo, Dudusile and Musa, who always encouraged me. My daughter would even go out of her way, and give me financial support when I most needed it. I would certainly not have completed this work without their support and prayers.
2. The congregation of my chaplery, St. Andrew Anglican Church, Mashashane. They are really wonderful people to work with, they make my ministry very interesting and encouraging. I wish them God's blessings.
3. Mr. and Mrs. Carol Moshoeu, who offered their help to my family and to my business during my absence from home, they are a fine and kind family; my appreciation.

4. Mrs. Magda Smith, who neatly typed this work, she is a real star, God be praised.
5. Mr. P. Pienaar, Managing Director of Norbake and the management staff, who most kindly offered financial assistance for the typing of this work, God be praised.
6. The Library staff of the University of Pretoria, Ms Thea Heckroodt in particular, for their unfailing help with the inter-library loan services; my deepest appreciation.
7. My only brother Michael and my two sisters Plantina Magongoa and Mrs. Jane Malebati, who always comforted me after the death of my parents.
8. The two lay-ministers Mr. Michael Mokgaetjie Madubanya and Mrs. Semakaleng Lilly Ledwaba, who are co-ministers at St. Andrew Anglican Chapelry, my appreciation for their unfailing presence at church services and worship.
9. The late Venerable Revd. John Maluleka, who passed-away when I was in the midst of this study, he was a good man, who loved God. He was my role model with his spiritual gifts, and also prepared David Manamela and myself for ordination on 14 June 2003, the day he could not be present as he was laid to rest on the 7 June 2003 at Nylstroom. May his soul rest in peace.
10. The Lord God Almighty, my deepest gratitude for carrying me and supporting me throughout this work. I have therefore decided to open myself to the life-giving influence of the Holy Spirit. I wish to invite Him to take control of my life and direct my thoughts, words and deeds. To Him be honour, glory and praise. My prayer is that He may use this study to further the extension of His Kingdom on earth.
