How The French Won The "Gibraltar" Of The Mountains.

In the trenches which they won from the enemy after deadly hand-to-hand fighting.

This Frenchman, first to reach the summit, led his men through a hail of bullets.

The French won the "Gibraltar" of the Vosges and inflicted terrible losses on the Germans. The ground was strewn with dead. Single-handed, he killed twelve Germans.

The recapture of Hartmannswillerkopf, a commanding peak in the Vosges Mountains, opens the way for a French advance into the plain of Alsace. It was worth the four days' heavy fighting involved. The Germans had transformed the hill into a fortress bristling with mortars and machine-guns, hoisted to the summit by iron cables. The French with pick and shovel worked their way up a sheer perpendicular slope foot by foot. Then they rushed the summit and took hundreds of prisoners.

French Officer Shot His Wife, Who Refused To Leave Him.

ROMANCE OF THE WAR.
Conflict Between Military Duties and Home Life.

After a series of these exciting and moving scenes with the Paris Law Courts are so familiar, the court-martial appointed to try Captain Herral, of the Curassiers, on a charge of wilful murder, was at this point that the captain was unable to pursue his military duties at Compiégne. All fashionable Paris flocked to the Court to listen to the progress of the case. Secretly divorced women were in the majority, and when the captain was acquitted their feelings found vent in rounds of loud applause.

Captain Herral is a man of stoutish build, with iron-grey hair, and is about 40 years old. When he appeared at the court-room, he was seen to have the uniform of a crepe band on his arm.

CAPTAIN'S OWN STORY.
The story is that Captain Herral was, who, when asked by Colonel Jaunquin, the presiding judge, "what had he to say in justification, at first, remained silent. But when he was asked to complete the story, he recounted the history of his matrimonial life.

The Court pursued his recital, but for the most part could catch little more than the Captain Herral's account of what had occurred. He constantly returning words, "My poor wife, my poor wife!"

He described how mortals, persecutions for affection, and how he had been a stumbling-block to his military career. He had over the course of time become more important to his service. He had confided him to recognize his decision being shown in the manner in which she was acquiesced.

FORMED HER REVOLVER.
Herral then related the circumstances of the last meeting with his wife in conversation with Monsieur Bouchet, and the latter, at the captain's request, two minutes to make up to his mind.

A rational sense passed between them, and Herral, as he looked at his beaten opponent, rushed from the room, where he saw his wife, and shot his wife.

It was later found that the captain was unable to continue owing to emotion. He was followed by witnesses who confirmed his statement. Major Bouchet described how he rushed into the room, when he saw his wife, and was accustomed. By way of relief, she left while the captain was taken to the station, where she seemed quite distinct, as in a trance.

THE PASTOR'S WIFE.
When the Captain Herral was made by Captain Bouchet, the pastor's wife, who was an intimate friend of the family, who has scarcely recovered from the shock. She said they were a perfect couple, but madness had made her like to be as a daughter to the lodging in the captain's house, and she could not understand how the man who had been her husband could be suffering with the like of this. She had been torn in pieces.

The Bishop regards the visit as the most remarkable experiences in his life. Nothing could be calculated with how fast he had listened to his addresses, and how he had joined in the responses to the prayers. These were particularly engrossed by the way in which the manner sang the great hymns, never to be repeated.

The Bishop adds his gratitude to the visit of the Captain Herral, who was then led into the room, where the Bishop had said, 'Set me free for the goods of the church.'

The message invited the Pastor to attend the meeting of the county, which was known as the Pioneer Life in Belgrade, and was invited by J. W. president, and D. Hebron, secretary.

SCANDALS OF GERMAN LIFE IN BELGIAN CAPITAL.

Hotel As Casino: General Rossel After Night Of Amusement.

The Figaro states that the Grand Hotel, Brussels, has been turned into a casino, has been closed owing to a series of scandals of which it is accused.

It appears that the scandal is not, after a night of amusement, than found that he had been robbery of a number of confidential documents.

Several officers committed suicide in consequence.

On another occasion, in the course of a drunken orgy, a fight occurred between Hamburgher, Russian, and B Provence officers.

Swords and revolvers were used, and five men were killed.

The Exchanges Telegraph Company correspondent adds that the cause of the quarrel was that some Scottish officers had been gambling in a way which was not to the taste of the French, and there was an interchange of abuse between the British and the French, and the five casualties were three of officers.

NEW GERMAN ATTACK ON CENTRE OF WESTERN FRONT.

German official sources admit that the fighting between the Meuse and Meuse, near the front of Germany, was establishing in intensity towards evening.

The Germans claim various successes in this front region, indicating the occupation of all the positions on the heights.

The French newspaper, however, shows that they have notch added in possession of Vosges, the dominating position on the hills, called the heights of the Meuse.

Official news describes this as "a veritable storm," which the German general said he would sacrifice 100,000 men to hold, if necessary.

In fact 20,000 German losses have resulted from the attempt to hold the spur.

At the Douai the French succeeded during the night in breaking through the German positions on the front of the Douai.

These attacks were repulsed with enormous losses on both sides.

RELIEF SHIP TORPEDOED.

Submarine's Attack On Vessel With Papers To Protect Her.

Many of the crew drowned.

The latest report of the submarine's attack on the German relief ship, which was protected by the French authorities, has been received today.

Of the vessel Harpale, chartered by the Belgian Relief Committee, the neutral American organisation which has provided all the means of livelihood to millions of Belgians.

Of the passengers (neutral messages state) there have been rescued 22 of the crew of 22.

The vessel had been making a big effort to deliver the passengers to the United States.

The Dutch steamer Elisabeth, which was the first on the scene, was followed by the British ships, and the first engineer were probably drowned.

Over 600 tons of war material and 2000 prisoners were on board.

The report is confirmed by the captain of the Relief ship, which was named after a Belgian steamer.

In addition to those already rescued, some of the passengers were badly injured.

Two more individuals were rescued by the American steamer Steely, but at least 10 passengers were drowned.

The report is confirmed by the captain of the Relief ship, which was named after a Belgian steamer.

The Harpale, a British steamer, was chartered by the Belgian Relief Committee, and the American Committee for the Relief of the Belgian people, and it was reported that papers were inclosed to protect her against all attacks.

Another Victim of Pirates.

A Plymouth telegram says the vessel was attacked by a German submarine, and that it was on board a destroyer proceeding to Plymouth, and that the last night without the vessel had been sunk.

USE THESE FOR YOUR HAIR

Icilma Shampoo Sachets possess distinct advantages. While ordinary wet shampoos wash out the natural oils from the scalp (and so make the hair harsh and brittle), Ilcima Shampoo Sachets regulate the flow of these oils and stimulate the hair to rich glossy beauty.

Again, the hair dries in a wonderfully short time and can be "done up" almost immediately. Washing the hair with these shampoos, therefore, takes less time than usual.

Still more—they prevent the formation of dandruff and are the only wet shampoos that help the hair to grow.

DAILY SKETCH PENNY BOOK OF WAR MAPS

NOW ON SALE.

A MARVELLOUS PENNYWORTH

It is often very difficult to follow the War News unless one can examine the different places on a map. Ordinary maps and books are either too voluminous or difficult to understand. The Daily Sketch Penny Book of War Maps consists of 50 pages of maps of only those places where the fighting is taking place, and has a clear and distinct plan of the country. The maps are printed in black ink on white paper and are very clear and distinct. The maps are of great value to anyone who wants to keep track of the progress of the war.

Without Rest or Pain!

A treatment which permanently cures bad legs without rest, when doctors and specialists have given the patient up as incurable, even with the aid of rest, is something of a novelty even in these days of medical marvels.

We make no apology for drawing the attention of readers of the Daily Sketch to the work of the National Infirmary for Bad Legs, Great Clowes Street, Broughton, Manchester, in view of the alarming cases in the number of cases of this very painful malady, which until now has been thought incurable. Ordinary practitioners as a body say it is impossible to get this disease, and unable to do any more than tend and relieve symptoms, and by means of absolute Rest to patch up a case for a while until movement breaks down what has already been done, and the unfortunate sufferer has to go through it all again.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

The National Infirmary for Bad Legs has for some years past directed the full of its staff to the perfection of a treatment in their possession which effects a perfect and lasting cure of this most distressing malady. Began of its character has, we understand, won their hearts, and today thousands of patients who have been cured by this Treatment testify to the benefits they have received.

WHAT THIS NEW TREATMENT IS.

This new method of curing bad legs is known as the Tremol Treatment, and by the courtesy of the Secretary, a newspaper representative was recently enabled to inquire into the methods of application of this new Treatment. He was informed that hundreds of cases are being treated at the present time by this Institution, and that 99 per cent, of those who undergo this Treatment are cured. Even the worst cases of bad legs of twenty to fifty years standing are cured by the Tremol Treatment without a particle of pain, without a moment's rest, without neglect of work, and without the possibility of failure. It is emphatically stated that this Treatment cures to stay cured for all time.

This is the cure means it appears to fore-shadow nothing short of a revolution in the medical treatment of all forms of bad legs. The writer was assured that there will be no more uncertain cases, for Tremol Treatment cures with absolute certainty, and that there will be no more rest cures, which never last, for Tremol Treatment cures a bad leg whilst the patient is going about his daily work. It is, in fact, claimed for this new Treatment that it will cure every kind of bad leg. By its use various ulcers melt away, and when combined with Venous colitis, diarrhoea, excess of phlegm, swelling and painful legs, become painless, and the numerous other complications of this painful disease are said to be ameliorated.

A GREAT ADVANTAGE.

The Tremol Treatment has no great advantage over other treatment for bad legs. It can be applied in the sufferer's own home. By its use the ordinary of curing a case is reduced.

There are very many different classes of Tremol Treatments and after the history of each new case has been studied necessary modified. No order how far distant patients may be from the Infirmary, how remote the village they live in, that case is under the medical attention and direct supervision of the National Infirmary for Bad Legs. This alone places the Tremol Treatment within the reach of all patients no matter what their Bankruptcy position may be or where they live. It is also interesting to know that this treatment only takes about ten minutes every other day, or five minutes daily, to apply.

THOSE WHO LIVE AT A DISTANCE.

Those whose distances from calling should fill up the attached coupon and address it to the Secretary of the National Infirmary for Bad Legs (Ward G.S.). Great Clowes Street, Broughton, Manchester, when a copy of an Illustrated Book, "Cures by the Cured," which has been specially prepared at great expense, in order to spread a knowledge of how to cure this disease, will be sent free of charge. It is full of sound advice and provides a speedy and permanent recovery, whenever other doctors, hospitals, and specialists have failed to help them. Following these accepted plans of the National Infirmary will make a free gift of a copy to every sufferer, whether residing in the United Kingdom or abroad, who signs and forwards the attached coupon. We would advise every one of our readers who suffer from, or know someone suffering from, a bad leg, to write for a copy of this valuable book before the supply is exhausted.

BIG BIDDING EXPECTED.

War Funds Should Benefit By Record Sale.

The big sale of the records of the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John will be held in South Kensington, London, James's, to-day.

The auction will again be opened on Saturday, which was the fourth and final day of the exhibition. The sale of the records was very great.

Aiming to make the exhibition well over 3,000 people have visited the saleroom, and judging by them, and by the long line of credit cards at the counter, a further large number are still interested in the continuing market of catalogues, there should be little difficulty in disposing of the goods at hand.

The 1,000 lots will be sold by a list of millionaires with the valuable English and Continental porcelain and pottery, objects of art, and financial records.

There should be keen competition for the student's good, and every catalogue should be sold by the King's own Secretary of the Exhibition. The closing date for the sale of the 4,000 lots is fixed at the end of the month, and the sale of the records of the exhibition will be held on the last day.

In connection with the sale a private view was held on Saturday by Mr. John Honey, who has been engaged by the Queen, Alexander, the Princess Royal, Princess Victoria, Princess Alice, Princess Mary, Duchess of York, and Marjorie, Marchioness of Harewood.

The exhibition has already been viewed by Queen Mary.

A SUNDAY AT HOME AND ITS LESSON.

Family Quarrel Averted By Father's Brain-Wave.

DOES THIS APPLY TO YOU?

There was trouble in the household. It disturbed the Sabbath calm. The baby, spring-like weather could supply no healing balm.

A spread overlooks the features of the father, old and grey. The mother buried the bawled and begged beginning to the day. The oldest son was angry. The daughter wore a frown. There was no crosser household in all the busy town.

The little ones were so wrong. The father who had come to say the week-end was more "touchy" than she'd been for many a day. The neighbors wondered grimly what the mother was about.

"The man must have gone back," they said, "without a doubt."

Two such a simple trouble, and yet of a common sense might have squared it in a minute if they hadn't been so dense.

They had just into Sunday Herald, the paper, full of life, and everyone wanted it, and discussion all the strait. There was father standing in the room, the son was active and the daughter for the fashionable finds sought. The children wanted pictures. They distracted that the best were in the Sunday Herald, and he, the velveteen guest, had come as a serial story, and was dying to proceed with the fortunes of the hero and the heroine's next. They had glimpsed the famous pictures straight from the battlefield, and they were dying not to see them, and no one would yield. They knew that lively reading on the topic of Sunday was in that Sunday Herald, and each stood out at bay.

Then father had a brain-wave, and he said six words out more. "Send out for five more copies." And the trouble it was over.

MAGGIE NALLY'S LAST MEAL.

Detectives Take Samples Of Brawn From A Shop Off Edgware Road.

Detectives in search of a clue to the murder of little Maggie Nally visited a small shop in Bunrtech-street, near Edgware Road. HOME RAILWAY YIELDS.

The future is a railway bonds, claims the Illustrated London Herald. Probably the reason they are neglected is that the railways are full of uncertainty, but that an investor in those bonds is always paid, and that there is a separate dividend paid for each period of ten years. Below we give the average dividend paid on half a dozen stocks during the last ten years, and the estimated yield on present prices over the next ten years assuming the round is repeated — which is an unreasonable expectation.

WOMAN WINS $100 FOR A PICTURE.

A Chance For Everyone Who Gets Photographs From The Front.

Now that the winter has been left behind, think of your eastern and remember that the Daily Sketch is offering valuable money prizes for your photographs. In the course of a ramble or a sea voyage you may snap an incident which may win our weekly prize.

There is no competition between amateurs and professional photographers. If you won, however, and there is a separate $25 for each weekly. If you succeed in winning the $25 prize there is only a chance to win a further prize of $200 at the end of the first two weeks of the scheme, for the sum of $2,000 is to be distributed in that time—ten weekly prizes of $200 each and $1,000 divided as follows—$300, $250, $250, $250, $250, $250, $250, $250, $250, $250.

There is a separate $200 for amateurs and professionals.

If you do not succeed in winning one of the big prizes, your picture may be accepted, in which case you will receive the usual rate paid for photographs.

THE CONDITIONS.

Send prints, films or plates properly described and safely packed. Name and address must be enclosed, with stamped and addressed wrapper for return of copyright if necessary.

The word "Amateur" or "Professional" must be written on envelope for classification.

The Editor's decision is final, and he will not be responsible for loss, breakage, or misplacement. Pictures or pictures must be sent exclusively to the Daily Sketch, and the winning picture is our copyright. Duplicate or similar pictures from the same plate will not be considered in any other publication and will be destroyed.

All photographs in the Daily Sketch from whatever source—amateur, professional or picture agencies—will be considered. No copyrights on the pictures will not be published without the sanction and authority of the Press Council.

The winners of the $250 prizes last week were Misses Mervin, Miss Campion, Miss Finlay, and Miss Dyer. The winners of the to prizes last week were Mr. Mervin, Miss Campion, Miss Finlay, and Miss Dyer. Mr. Merwin and Miss Campion, Miss Finlay, and Miss Dyer. OFFICER SAVES BATTLESHIP.

He Feared Censure, But Came In For Congratulation.

Paris, Sunday.

In the course of the fighting in the Dardanelles, on March 18 the French Grandeur, the Suffren, was made a special target for the Turkish fire, 30 ships in the battle line were destroyed, and two of the six vessels set fire to nine ammunition.

The Suffren received a blow from a pilot who was in the magazine and killed the officers of the case, and killed the water, and flooded the magazine.

The Suffren, having been warned to the report of the Emperor of Austria, was ordered without orders. He was warmly congratulated and mentioned in despatches for his action. — Reuter.

THERE IS NO ADVANCE IN PRICE.
Important Alterations In The £1,000 Needlework Competition.

In response to appeals from hundreds of interested readers, some of whom could not complete their work in time, while others felt themselves unable to offer for sale articles which were of great intrinsic or sentimental value, the conditions of the Daily Sketch £1,000 Needlework Competition have been altered.

£1,000 is still offered in prizes for the best pieces of needlework, but the competition, instead of closing at the end of May, will remain open until towards the end of November next.

Competitors’ Work May Be Returned.

After the judging (which is to be done by recognised experts) the work will be exhibited in a suitable hall in London, but will not be sold unless at the owner’s request. Proceeds of the exhibition and of the sale of such work as the owners wish to put to patriotic purpose will be handed to the British Red Cross Society and the St. John Ambulance Association, those who are unable to give their work may have it returned to them at the close of the exhibition.

There is no entrance fee in connection with this competition, but all entries must be accompanied by 24 coupons cut from the Daily Sketch. These coupons will appear in each issue from April 12th to November 6th inclusive. More than one entry may be sent by any competitor, provided that each entry is accompanied by the correct number of coupons.

In order that this big scheme should appeal to every needlewoman, as many classes as possible have been arranged. Each competitor may therefore send the type of work in which she is most proficient.

Holiday Work New Eligible.

While hundreds of readers were delighted to find a way in which they could put their art to patriotic purpose, it has been realised that very many ladies who were keenly interested in the competition and eager to help the work among our wounded were still out in a position to render valuable pieces of needlework and were greatly disappointed at being unable to compete. The competition is now open to every needlewoman, whether she is able to present her work for sale or not.

It is, of course, hoped that all who can do so will still send in their entries, as it is hoped to raise a substantial sum by the exhibition and sale at the beginning of December next.

The extension of the time-limit will also open the competition to a wider class. Business girls and housewives have in many cases complained that they would not be able to finish their entries by the end of next month owing to their want of leisure. The piece of “holiday-work” which so many women like to start in summer will now be eligible for competition, and the long days in the country and by the seaside put to very pleasant and practical purpose.

Those who had work planned in time for the original date will now be able to send other entries and try their skill in various classes.

In order to compete in this big competition competitors must send a stamped addressed envelope to Mrs. Goss, Needlework Competition, Daily Sketch, London, E.C. The envelope will be returned containing an entrance form, with full particulars and rules.

More than fifteen hundred prizes are to be won in this comprehensive scheme, and there is chance to attract every needlewoman.

How The £1,000 Prize-money Will Be Divided.

£100 has been allotted to the first three classes, and will be divided into the following prizes for each class in the order in which they are specified.

First Prize of £10.

Second Prize of £5.

Third Prize of £3.

Five Prizes of £1 each.

The classes are—

(1) Embroidery on cotton, silk or worsted. (2) Embroidered handkerchief. (3) Chair seat cover in part-point or gros point. (4) Knit or crochet border for tea-cloth, a yard square.

(12) Shawl made of buttons.

(13) Linen blouse (see note to be used). (14) Shawl made lace collar.

In each of these classes there will be—

First Prize of £5.

Second Prize of £2.

Third Prize of £1, and

Eight Prizes of 6d. each.

The classes are—

(1) Linen blouse (see note to be used). (2) Shawl made of buttons. (3) Set of six artificers' thread bobbin cases. (4) Work basket in base work. (5) Set of buttons.

Patriotic Needlewomen should use BRITISH-MADE threads for the £1,000 Competition.

The manufacturers of ARDERN'S Crochet Cotton and ARDERN'S "Star Sylko" will send British Made Threads to all针workers who have made entries.

ARDERN'S "Groove Lustre" BAGLEY & WRIGHTS "Brighteye" For Embroidery.

BAGLEY & WRIGHTS "Brighteye" for embroidery will pay each winner in classes 1, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 15, 16, and 18, a further sum equal to 50% of the prize money awarded by the "Daily Sketch" provided that the winning articles are worked with any of these ALL BRITISH threads. Tickets being in limited supply must be fastened to competing articles.

Suitable passages in Crochet and Embroidery are published in "Penny Needlework," "Illustrated," "Penny Embroidery," "Daily Sketch" and "Herald."

These are, undoubtedly, days of exceptional nervous strain for one and all. Anxiety, with its beauty-destroying influence, is casting its shadow over the lives of many an otherwise healthy young woman,—perhaps, a little worry here, a little weariness over past and prospective events, we may all, with a little care and forethought, succeed in preventing the results of worry from being noticeable in our appearance. To these fortunate few, this little chat will, however, be an interesting and useful addition to their already real need of help in keeping fit,—for the means of bringing to their notice some hitherto unknown method of retaining, or regaining, that beauty of face and figure which is the birthright of every woman. Some of the ingredients mentioned below are, at present, not generally known to the public.

Some hints about the Hair. An Excellent Shampoo.

"Few women realise how important a really good shampoo is. I have a pungent smell that appeals to the senses. To shampoo the hair properly, it must be done at least twice a week, and then, a little pure olive oil or almond oil, and thoroughly massage the scalp. Then, mix a tablespoonful of starch and a tablespoonful of cold water, apply to the head, and rinse out. After washing, dry with a towel, and comb through the hairs. This is a simple procedure, but it will enable you to have the most beautiful hair of which your own beauty is capable."

A Dry Skin and Blackheads.— A dry skin with blackheads is often found in people who are suffering from acne. To remove these, follow the directions given below:

1. Soothe the skin with a soothing lotion, followed by a cold water rinse.
2. Remove the impurities with a mild cleanser.
3. Apply a toner to balance the skin's pH.
4. Moisturise with a non-comedogenic moisturiser.
5. Protect the skin with sunscreen before going outside.

AS A MUSICAL ITEM IT WAS NOT GOOD, BUT EVERYONE ENJOYED THE RACE.

There were plenty of discords in the race for handmen at the sports of the 2nd Battalion of the 9th Middlesex Regiment at Staines on Saturday. The competitors had to play their instruments as they ran. The big drummer had the sympathy of the crowd, but the men with wind instruments thought he had an advantage.
