"I SEE SOME 'SLACKERS' HERE."—The Young V.C.'s Call To The Men Of London.

Corporal Holmes had none of the Park orator's artifices, but his simple words attracted an enormous crowd.

Leaving his home for Hyde Park. He only came out of hospital on Thursday.

Corporal Holmes, Bermondsey's V.C. hero, gave yesterday, in Hyde Park, the message to the young men of London. He came out of hospital on Thursday. A chance meeting with his elder brother—a recruit from Canada.

"I see some 'slackers' here," he said. "I see in front of me young men who are eligible and fit. Why don't you join?" It was the appeal of the lad who had done his share and was willing to do it again. No orator could have delivered a more direct and telling message.—(Daily Sketch Photographs.)

RECOMMENDS IT TO MOTHERS.
Ella is in Yorkshire, and Ella then returned to the Liberal member of Parliament, Mr. C. P. Trelvery. With a man of Mr. Trelvery’s ilk, nothing could be done. He had been in Prussia. Mr. Trelvery would then have found a very congenial atmosphere in the English House of Commons.

When war was declared Mr. Trelvery resigned his position of Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Education, owing to the fact that his wife was a member of the Liberal Party. His later explanations were that the Liberal Council of the Elland Division have now unanimously decided not to adopt Mr. Trelvery as a Parliamentary candidate for Elland. This is a plain hint that he has lost the confidence of his supporters, and that his policy has been unsound.

We need not read very deeply into Mr. Trelvery’s speeches to see how thoroughly his constituents are in disagreement with him. His present campaign in the Elland district is a remarkable tale of how Russia was to be made to kill you. The “poor old man of the same line of political life who could not put a man in a place where he was weak last ad a research into his career shows that he was an obstinate fellow who attempted to fight, but who refused to put in three appearances at the General Election, and was defeated every time. He was a great supporter of the Balfour-Hamilton government, and his speeches were always good.”

“A Fair Mascot.”

The “Bantams” in the Liverpool district, I am told, are more than ready for the approaching challenge. They have as their “mascot” one of the most charming and one of the youngest of our Royal Yacht Club, Gervais. She is a brave little girl, and her attitude is one of the most extraordinary statements. She has a most extraordinary statement been for Russia we have found a great number of our young men of the Trevelyan stamp.

There are several “Loner” Officers, who have been adver- tised in the Press, and you can see a bundle of such letters, containing the names and addresses. All sorts of young things had rallied to the call of the country, and were welcomed by me, our Soldiers, in a way that was really quite good.

The war has been an experience of grief and danger, but with the assurance of victory, we have not had to worry much about our Foreign Office. It was for Russia we had to worry about.

Miss Ravenscroft has been an easy victory in the “Joker” contest, which appeared at the New Theatre on Saturday night, and for which the prize was a bundle of look-alikes. If it hadn’t been for a thoroughly bad set and some mistakes in the play, I might have gone home as an undoubted winner. There still are holes.

The Man Who Does Not Want To See Germany Crushed.

What is Mr. Charles Philip Trevelyan, M.P. for Elland, and head of the "Be Kind to Germany movement" going to do?

This gentleman, as those who hold, according to "Who's Who," is interested in Germany, for war games, was Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Education when the war broke out, but resigned from the Ministry because, as he explained in a letter to his constituents, in the interest of civilization he did not want to see Germany crushed.

WHAT HE HAS SAID.

When war came, Mr. Trevelyan explained his resignation in a letter to his constituents, passages from which are reproduced here:

"We are going to broke into the interests of civilization."

"Yet who can say that, between France and Germany, civilization may not go down in ruins?

"Are we going to decide how many tanks are needed to defeat the Infidels, with its savage reparations forces of mounted men and straights, and millions of rifles, including interested people. One of the issues we have been considering, I believe, is whether the war is a war of civilization or of 'Who's Who.'"

"There are tons of young men in front of me."

"There are tens of thousands of young men in front of me."

"And what are we doing?"

"We are doing nothing."

"We are doing nothing."

"We have to let their girls wander about the streets till late at night, and then they were surprised at the consequences.

REV. F. B. MEYER'S BROADEMBINED VIEW.

Need For Prompt Action To Be Taken By Authorities.

What should be the attitude of the Church?

Rev. F. B. Meyer, secretary of the Free Church Mission, has just returned from the Front, where he has been collecting information for his "Daily Sketch," which will be published on Monday. He was present at a meeting of our committee, and I may tell you the Archbishop of York, Dr. Glendinning, and the Bishop of Manchester, Dr. Wigram, have both given the impression that the war is a war of civilization.

"I have been interested in the suggestion put forward in the Daily Sketch, that the whole question of the war is to be decided by the outcome of the period action being taken by the Churches."

"This is a war of civilization, and the Churches must be interested in the outcome of it."

"If the Churches do not take an active part in the war, they will be guilty of disloyalty."

FRED MADISON WOULD ELIST.

Mr. Fred Madison, a former member of Parliament and the secretary of the World Ariditation Association, has just returned from the Front, where he has got himself into trouble with his friends back home. He has written a letter to the Daily Sketch, in which he says:

"I have been interested in the suggestion put forward in the Daily Sketch, that the whole question of the war is to be decided by the outcome of the period action being taken by the Churches."

"This is a war of civilization, and the Churches must be interested in the outcome of it."

FATHER'S LIFE FOR HIS SON.

Man And Boy Drowned In The Thames For The sake Of A Piece Of Firewood.

When Katharine F. Smith, of Vinnicombe-road, Southend, ship's cook, and her two children, Whitfield, was unhooing coal at Southwick Bridge, his son, Nathonial, 6, proclaimed, "Mummy, let's get a piece of firewood and fall into the water." The father, who had been drinking heavily, went over the edge and was drowned. His body was recovered later that night.

BISHOP BLAMES PARENTS.

Appalled By Number Of War Babies About To Be Born.

The Bishop of Carlisle, preaching at Carlisle yesterday, said he had received an appalling account of the number of illegitimate births likely to take place in this country in the course of the next three months.

It appeared that a considerable proportion of these unhappy women who went to bear mothers would be girls under sixteen years old.

What was at the root of all this? There were two contradictory causes, but the main cause of all this wickedness, sorrow, and shame was to be found in the lack of discipline, in the carelessness of mothers and fathers to look after the children.

The bishop's words were not to be taken lightly, and it was to be hoped that some action would be taken on the matter.

RUSH FOR ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY HERALD.

World-Wide Interest In Hall Caine's Letter To The Pope.

Mr. Hall Caine has written a letter to the Pope, which has appeared in the Illustrated Sunday Herald.

The letter, written from the Front, has been published simultaneously in several of the neutral countries, and in Great Britain it appeared exclusively in the Illustrated Sunday Herald.

"I am not going to make a speech, but I can tell you this. The Germans have got a little more than they bargained for. But the soldiers and sailors of the Allies all expect us to do more than that. Let them have what they want."

"There is what we want, but why doesn't somebody else go out and come back and be resigned, and not one in a hundred, but one in every hundred?"

"I cannot say much more, except that I am, and have no time.

LADY'S ADJURATION.

A lady in the crowd, who has just come in, has said she would like to see the Front, and was asked to be allowed to go to the Front. Mr. Corporal Holmes, in reply, said he would see to it that she was taken there.

PLOW OF PATRIOTIC OATH.

During the present week Britain is being swept by a great wave of patriotic feeling, which has never been known in history. London alone has witnessed hundreds of thousands of men who have been led to take the oath.

The idea is to stimulate recruiting, to appeal to the patriotic instinct. A large number of men have already taken the oath, have written their names on the register, and have been assured that they will receive the benefit of the oath.

That is what is going to be done."

A WORD TO SLACKERS.

Men From The Ranks Can Do More Than M.P.s And Bands.

Corporal Holmes, Bromley's V.C., gave a lecture to the men of the 12th Battalion, during a tour of duty in Hyde Park yesterday.

He was warmly cheered in the streets, and in the park where he was wearing his Victoria Cross and his Military Medal. His speech was short and to the point:

"I am not going to make a speech, but I can tell you this. The Germans have got a little more than they bargained for. But the soldiers and sailors of the Allies all expect us to do more than that. Let them have what they want."

"There is what we want, but why doesn't somebody else go out and come back and be resigned, and not one in a hundred, but one in every hundred?"

An official document from Petrograd.

On the whole Carpathians front, between March 19 and April 1, the enemy having suffered considerable losses among officers and men, prisoners only at least 70,000 men, including about 900 officers, were made.

Further we captured more than 30 guns and 200 machine-guns.

We had always pleased against the idea that it was possible to wage a war in the east and save the State concerned benefit of all their actions.

We were told that the State was a higher thing than that of the individuals who comprised it. That idea was not by Eastern person, it was not a real idea.

It was a Continental growth, fostered by a small group of people who have been the first of the stripped people they ruled fall down and we have been pleased.

The report reads —

South-east of Ypres, the British last (Saturday) night, was making up our position north of the canal, entered it, but were immediately repelled in a counter-attack.

The battle continues around the three villages occupied yesterday.

In Champagne the French blew up a trench near the position conquered by us on Friday, but without obtaining any advantage.

Between the Menes and the Mortain only artillery was reported.

In the Togges we captured an advanced French position south-west of Stassain-ur-erard.

South-west of Metzal we withdrew our advanced posts before the superior forces of the enemy.

GERMAN ATTACKS REPULSED IN THE VALLEY OF THE ASINE.

French Troops Make Further Progress In Alacie.

French Official News.

Parls, April 16.-The day has been continued fairly quiet. It was especially marked by artillery duels and some advances on both sides.

In the valley of the Asine, at the Bois de St. Marc, the enemy attacked our trenches on the left of the position, but was promptly stopped by our artillery. A bayonet charge inflicted losses on him.

In Champagne, to the north of Perthes, the enemy was again concentrated to evacuate the cavalry they were still occupying close to our lines. The attack was followed by an attack, we captured 40 yards of enemy trenches.

In the centre they have made a squadron.

The enemy on Lorraine delivered in the extreme north a well-organized attack with weak effect, particularly in Bar, Moscouen, Semenon, le Trun and Tarbes. All were easily repulsed.

In the Gresse the French thrice attacked without any success on our trenches on the little Reichegger. We made fresh gains in the region of Remerclois.

One of our aeroplanes, after a brilliant pursuit, brought down a German aeroplane, which fell in the vicinity of Laxanges between Lampernay and Ponsacqneu-

Severe Fighting Still In Progress For Occupied Ground.

British troops are sharply engaged with the Germans south-east of Ypres.

We have been informed by an engagement in which, apparently, our troops, have met with some success.

The enemy claims to have repulsed a British attack, it is evident that ground has been won from which they appear to be striving to regain.

In the same dispatch, sent from Amsterdam by Reuter, the Germans acknowledge that in Alsace their "advanced posts" were re-aided before the "superior forces of the enemy."

CHEERFULNESS

This is not the time to despond. A cheery word, a smiling face will keep dull care away—will help you through this trying time as nothing else can do. Keep cheerful yourself and wherever you go you will take cheerfulness to others.

To be cheerful one must be healthful, and health largely depends upon the blood. If you let your blood become weak and impoverished you will feel depressed, dull, and exhausted. Therefore keep your blood rich, and whenever you feel run-down, out-of-sorts, "seedy", or debilitated start taking IRON JELLOIDS at once. IRON JELLOIDS make the blood rich and vigorous so that the whole body benefits, vitality and energy are restored, good spirits are regained—you feel cheerful and bright again.

Take IRON JELLOIDS to-day. A Fortnight's treatment costs only 1/-.

Iron Jelloids

Enrich the blood—renew vitality.

Miss Muriel Viscountess Helmden writes:—

"I have much pleasure in stating that your IRON JELLOIDS have been most beneficial to me during these anxious months. I have given them to several of our staff nurses and probationers, and to the Children in the National Society of Day Nurseries, and have found them "a perfectly excellent tonic."

Babie Pedgen.

Wooping-Coough, Measles, Bronchitis, Influenza.

Now that these illnesses are so prevalent, mothers are naturally advised to build up their children with Virod, which has been proved to be useful in promoting such remarkable powers of resisting wasted vitality.

Miss Pedgen, 29, Knowle Road, Bexton, says:—"My boy at the age of nine months had a very serious illness (pneumonia and inflammation of the bowels). He was too ill to take milk, and being advised to try Virod we were immediately astonished at the improvement shown. You will see by his photo what a bonny little chap he is now (3 years old), and whenever he is run-down we immediately fly to Virod. It has, I consider, saved many a doctor's bill."

DO YOU WANT ANOTHER £1 A WEEK?

Industrious people can earn £1 weekly by selling Virod at 10 for 1s. 3d. or more on Auto-Knitters who are busy with war work. Before any necessary, dismantle and enclose with this illustrated prospectus containing full particulars, and address your letter to Miss Winifred Grace Hartland (Imp.'89), Diamond House, Hatton Garden, London, E.C.

CHURCHILL TAKES A LOOK AT OUR AIR-CRAFT.

These people who criticised Mr. Churchill when, as First Lord of the Admiralty, he gained a practical knowledge of aviation by taking trips in seaplanes, must now realise that the man who had the Navy ready had a serious purpose in mind when he braved the dangers of the air. On Saturday he inspected a number of aeroplanes at Hendon, and he is seen with Flight-Commanders Graham White and Sitwell.

"Billy," the bulldog, is the pet of the "D" Company of the 7th Djevepa, now in Cornwall.

"Daisy" is the mascot of the despatch-riders of the R.E. Scottish Signal Section. It was presented to them by Lady Newark.

This wee pig, "Billy," has been adopted by the "A" Company of the 12th R.R.R. Corps.

The Woman's Part

"Man works from rise to set of sun, But woman's work is never done."

Women unselfishly helped comfort, and have now set out to do the work of absent men. They will succeed, too, for women never give up.

In every field for human good they think, and plan, and act in a thousand helpful ways.

Cases have been published in England for many years of womanly solicitude for sufferers from:

Backache, Lumbago, Stone, Gravel, Sciatica, Bladder Troubles, Rheumatism, Dropsy and other signs of Kidney Complaint.

Cheering Words to WOMEN.

"Kept Well 11 Years."

"January 13th, 1904.

.. Mrs. Stephen Ody has much pleasure in stating that Doan's Backache Kidney Pills have brought wonderful relief from rheumatism and kidney complaint of five years standing.

Backache, pain and stiffness in the limbs, joints and muscles were early kidney symptoms that preceded chronic rheumatism and painful swellings in the knees and ankles, which prevented sleep and made movement unbearable.

"Mrs. Ody congratulates the makers of Doan's Pills upon their splendid kidney medicine, and hopes this note will be helpful to others. She is using her third box, but is confident of a complete cure for already the pains and stiffness are gone, and she can sleep and get about in comfort, even to walking up and down stairs."

Mrs. Ody's latest statement, dated March 21st, 1915.

Eleven Whole Years have Passed

since Doan's Pills rid me of rheumatism, backache and kidney complaint, and thanks to the thoroughness of their effect and the helpful hints on living which the makers freely give, I keep remarkably well. I feel younger than when I first used Doan's Backache Kidney Pills.—(Signed) Susannah Ody.

ABOUT YOUR DAUGHTER.

No longer a child.

Perhaps you have already noticed that your daughter in her "teens," has developed a fitful temper, is restless and excitable, and often in need of gentle reproof.

In that case, remember that the march of years is leading her on to womanhood and at this time a great responsibility rests upon you as parents.

If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness and depression, feels tired after a little exertion; if she has feverish or palpitation, in pain in the side, do not disregard these warnings.

Your daughter needs help, for she is most probably anemic—that is, bloodless.

SHOULD you notice any of these disturbing signs, lose no time but procure for her a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for they are the impoverished blood of girls and women, and by taking them they reap great benefit.

They give to sickly drooping girls health, bright eyes, and sparkling, a light step and high spirits.

LET your daughter begin them as soon as possible! These pills will; but never accept common pink pills for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are different.

FREE—Of interest to all girls and women is the little book, "Plain Talks to Women," offered free to all readers who send a postcard to theHints Dept., 4 Holborn Viaduct, London—Advt.

A Seeker After Pleasure

By OLIVE WADSWELL

"The Flame," Reality, &c.

AAS A SEEKER AFTER PLEASURE.

After 20 Years.

Pole was over and the players were calling for "jugs!" in the dressing room, was telling the story of the last goal in a very careful manner, and it was, absolutely topnotch.

"A ball," called Clarence, a scarce man, but an awfully decent sort. No end of money and all the invitations to the biggest parties in Cairo. Queen began in one way, Has begun in another, and was still doing the same without being noticed.

"Sort of corn," Beaverwreck suggested.

"Oh, I dunno," said Clarence. "I dunno too much about it. Of course, I know a thing or two about that."

"One ball," said Beaverwreck. "One ball, and the ball is away before my time."

Clarence's been out here since the days of the World Cup, and as far as he was concerned, that fitful south was probably as well as he had done. He would certainly make a great leader in England, he said, and rise as a man in the political field. "Lo," said Beaverwreck.

"I dunno," said Clarence. "I dunno enough about it to know whether it's going to be or not."

Davies introduced Beaverwreck. Beaverwreck nodded and took his seat. Beaverwreck's voice was hoarse, but none the worse for that.

"Hiyo!" Richard said carelessly. "Got a drink for me, Joe?"

Richard turned himself around, and shouted for his boy, a Cartesan, who appeared in a moment. The Cartesan was a great favourite with everyone, for his talk was not only very good, but his talk was very good. As he pulled the lever on the telegraph, his name was written in large letters on the wall, and freshened the minds of those who had seen him do it. WHEN is a red-gown not a red-gown?

There are a few matters. One is, "When is it so hard to fasten that no tired woman would try to do it with assistance?" Another is, "When it's so uncom- mon and ugly that it is seldom if ever, if ever, if it's being worn, even by her mother-in-law, make up a pair of pretty." But the best answer of all is "What is the woman's sympathetic colour?"

Sympathetic Shades.

"Every woman," says a Mayor in a recent address, "has her sympathetic colour. There are women, for instance, who want to scream when they find themselves in red, while there are others whom we review and inspire.

In northern countries strong bright colours are adopted in dress as a response to natural conditions. The dominant scenes are in harmony with the surroundings by the northern character. Then the women in matters of fact London, acquires a flaming and volatile temper, and wonders what is the matter with her. But her own is a content among her prim conventions.

A Nervous Colour.

"For nervous women I never prescribe red, or any other red, or any red. It's a prominent design. For the unhappy I do not advise any red shades. Some years ago, when I saw, as though you have only to put a miserably worn, and a yellow-tinged gown to make her happy and brilliant at once, and doubt if she would, and should be irritable by such a treatment. Personally, I think there is no red that suits you, that is not a tissue of wearing weak during the morning, as the woman in the north. They may require all the strength.

A Nervous Woman."

If a woman can control her red gowns, especially for those of my subjects, who can afford handsome real life, I recommend the use of false-silk, as it honestly should be washed, successful and gainful. The woman who has her youth should wear it as much as possible.

"All the colours this spring are what one would call "all-silk": No amount of national suffering could entirely suppress the desire for colour in spring, but this year we wear our colours with a difference. The simple, the browns and greens, are soft and on the whole sympathetic.

A CRIPPLE lay three ladies over seventy, a colour-surgeon, and a car, who-nurse among the applicants for entrance forms for the neoclassical "New Life Pavilion. patients" for which it is hoped to raise a good sum for the relief of our wounded.

WHAT THE KAISER FORGOT.

GOTT STRAFE ENGLAND!

The German press states that too much attention is now paid to denouncing England, and that more attention should be paid to Russia, which constitutes the present peril.

BEFORE THE MIRROR.

By JEANETTE.

"Infantine," the well-known art director for "The Book of Beauty," will be pleased to help and advise any reader on matters of the person. She is engaged and directed by "Fashion," care of "before the Mirror," 2 Gray's Inn Road, London, W.C.

These are, undeniably, days of exceptional nervous strain for one and all of us. Anxiety, with its body-destroying effect, is casting its shadow over the lives of many of us, and while, perhaps, a few—the most stoical amongst us—can avoid worrying over past and prospective events, we all, with a little care and forethought, succeed in preserving the results of worry from being noticeable in our appearance.

To those fortunate few this little chat will, however, be interesting and instructive as to those who stand in real need of help in mental matters, and may be of the means of bringing to their notice some hitherto unknown method of retaining or regaining that beauty that was of the breathtaking women.

Some of the ingredients mentioned below are, at present, not generally known to the public, but any good chemist will usually be able to find a small quantity in stock.

Waxen, and how to Remus Thorne.—Waxen, body polish, or the ointment of old Father Time may cause home beauty, but from which it is impossible to remove a charm of a woman's face; but the care is always the same. First the cream must be applied to the face, after which while not removing the faulty tissues, will not correct the blemishes. To the latter end—(a) clove setting cream, (b) paraffin cream, (c) chocolate cream, (d) rose cream, and (e) orange cream.

"WILFUL MURDER" AGAINST BARMID.

Alice Wheatley To Be Tried For Officer's Wife's Death.

Alice Mary Wheatley, the twenty-two-year-old barmaid, who was also known as Mary Lanter, was found guilty by the jury last Monday of the wilful murder of James Josephine Wootton (35), wife of a Lieutenant in the Bedfordshire Volunteers, and was sentenced to take her trial on that charge at the Old Bailey.

She was present in court in charge of a washerwoman and washer, and frequently during the hearing asked bitterly, especially when her future gave evidence in reference to an old revolver which had been in the house for years past.

During the hearing the woman, Wootton, entered the court, dressed in the uniform of his regiment and was given a seat on the same form as the accused woman.

The father, Harry Wheatley, was the chief witness. He is a sober person of Horrified, fountain, and said his daughter had been married and all her life, and would do all hard work. She was frequently in house. She left home on March 28 by saying she was going to London to see Lieut. Wootton.

"The woman you ever had any forgiven—had an old rusty revolver in my possession for thirty years. I never used it and had carriages. As far as I can remember, the handle was a wooden one, with a piece of metal at the top.

"Revolver was a toy.

"WITNESS added that he had not seen the weapon for eighteen months. It used to be with the child's toys in their toy box, because it was "not much used." He last saw it in a clothes box of one of the bedrooms, and he had no idea where it was now.

"He identified a letter as being in his daughter's handwriting. He was as follows:"

My Dear Mother,—You will be surprised to receive my letter this morning. Well, mum, something has occurred, and I will not go back to Bert again. I have a job at —, so will send some money as soon as I get it. He has gone to the Flying Corps, and you can tell anyone he has gone to the Front, which he will do in three weeks' time. There is no need to worry about me. I am quite all right. Love to all. I will send some money. Don't answer any questions he may write and ask you.

"Witness added that he had been married, and was given as follows:"

"She now has to be tried before the magistrate.

"WOES OF THE WAR BRIDE."

No Plumbers Or Painters To Do Spring Repairs.

Discontent has swept with the spring into the households of the war brides.

The builders are to blame. "We cannot get the labour," said one of them to the Daily Sketch.

"It is not our fault. Painters and decorators are scarce, and growing scarcer every day. Those that are available are snapped up at once for big jobs, and there are none left in big, small, and middle sizes in the little villas of suburbia.

"The only solution I see is that the master of the house will have to do his repairs and paint himself.

"But the master of the house is in with his regiment," said a woman whose argument was not to her. "Is it fair to insist on him to some home on leave to an unskilled and underpaid housewife, and start work on it with a pint of white wash?"

French girls help a British soldier to mend his khaki coat.

A pretty Parisian newspaper vendor.

An earnest speaker against the alien peril. Mrs. Wyld signing on a recruit at Chester. She holds a Government appointment. A lady butcher at Wood Green, London.

This war has settled the woman's question. There is no longer any need to argue: "What is woman's real place?" The mothers, wives, and sweethearts of the soldiers in Great Britain, France, Russia and Belgium have upset all the speculations of the theorists by doing things. By deeds they have proved they hold their place behind the men.
