From Eton to the Barrack Room and Officers' Mess

Mr. Gerard Sandeman as a boy and (inset) as he is today. Still another Eton has been added to the chain which binds Eton to the Army. Three brothers (Etonians), whose photographs are given above, are all serving the Empire. They are the sons of Mr. Walter Sandeman, also an Etonian, and the grandsons of Mr. Albert Sandeman, one of the old Volunteers and a director of the Bank of England. Gerard and Christopher joined as privates. The former is now a 2nd lieutenant in the Grenadiers, the latter is a lieutenant in the Intelligence Corps, and has been mentioned in dispatches. Patrick is a subaltern in the R.G.A. (Elliott and Fry, Bellingham, Laff.)

Patrick Sandeman, who was at Eton in August last, is now a subaltern in the R.G.A.

Mr. A. Sandeman, their father.

Mr. W. Sandeman, their grandfather.

Mr. C. Sandeman as a boy and (inset) as he is today.
THREE NEW MINISTERS—NOT IN THE CABINET.

Mr. F. E. Smith, Solicitor-General, Mr. Samuel, Postmaster-General.

UNITED TO WIN THE WAR.

Story Of Formation Of Government Of The Nation.

MR. ASQUITH'S INVITATION.

Unionist Meeting Cheers Patrician Decision Of New Ministers.

Additional Ministers (not in the Cabinet).

Mr. H. H. Asquith, Prime Minister.

Mr. F. E. Smith—Solicitor-General.

Mr. Montagu—Financial Secretary to the Treasury.

Mr. F. E. Smith succeeds Sir Stanley Buckmaster, the new Lord Chancellor. He will be knighted.

Says the King has already been Postmaster-General. In the old cabinet he was President of the Local Government Board, but he was not interested in dealing with/on behalf of the Government with questions relating to Belgian refugees in this country.

Mr. Montagu was Chancellor of the Duchy in the old Cabinet.—Mr. Churchill's new post—and previously held the office to which he now returns.

The King will hold a Privy Council this morning, which is to be formed, as it has been formed previously as a means of getting the various parties into the saddle.

Mr. Kembrew, who technically has not been to the place since his resignation of the leadership of the Unionists, was re-elected to the position of Unionists leader.

The feature of the meeting was the reading of the Prime Minister's letter to Opposition leaders. This was the beginning of the new Government. The acceptance of the invitation by the Unionists leaders was warmly cheered by the meeting.

FIGHTING FOR NATIONAL HONOUR AND LIBERTY.

Lord Lansdowne Tells Why The Unionists Came In.

"We are fighting for everything that is worth fighting for. We are fighting for our national honour, for the sanctity of treaty obligations, for the cause of liberty, and for the cabinet of reason."

With these spirited words Lord Lansdowne, at the Carlton Club meeting, drove home his explanation of the Unionists' reasons for joining the National Cabinet, in spite of their dislike for Conservative Governments.

The country, he said, was making the most strenuous efforts it had ever been called upon to make.

"THE SIEGE OF THE DANTON.

"Gentlemen, the whole essence of peace is the possibility of forming an alternative government, but during the time this Government was possible.

"And it is only the Government itself and not the French which can be held accountable for the situation."

Mr. Gladstone was of the same opinion, but he was not the only one who was so inclined.

In conclusion, he declared that the war was not the war of the Government, but the war of all mankind. The whole world had to put its neck into the new enterprise with the spirit of the little brothers of Hove. May no man be polluted, but may France be free."

POLITICAL MALCONTENT.

Cabinet Critics In Parliament May Form New Parties.

"Cave" in the political parties favours our interest, but we have to decide if the interests of our country are not being sacrificed in the interests of the Government in any case.

On the Labour side there is a small nucleus of men who can take up the battle to challenge the Cabinet in any case.

Major Richard Gabbett, B.S.O., Royal Welsh Fusiliers, killed in France last week. Major Gabbett was the son of the House, and everyone expects a grand appreciation to "Government by Cabinet."

A FAMILY OF FIGHTERS.

Three Eton Brothers Who Joined The Army And Took The Ranks.

When the war came the boys of Eton were the first to be enlisted, and the war causes to be written in the name of Eton. What the boys of Eton have done, be it good or bad, has been done by them, and all their efforts, and there may be a great deal more of them.

"SOMETHING AMISS."

"We are all of us," he went on, "with the war causes and the war causes to be written in the name of Eton. What the boys of Eton have done, be it good or bad, has been done by them, and there may be a great deal more of them.

"There is no, we are not good enough, or that we are getting through, of that we are getting through, and that there is no way through, that there is no way through."

"FIGHTING FOR NATIONAL HONOUR AND LIBERTY.

Lord Lansdowne Tells Why The Unionists Came In.

"We are fighting for everything that is worth fighting for. We are fighting for our national honour, for the sanctity of treaty obligations, for the cause of liberty, and for the cabinet of reason."

With these spirited words Lord Lansdowne, at the Carlton Club meeting, drove home his explanation of the Unionists' reasons for joining the National Cabinet, in spite of their dislike for Conservative Governments.

The country, he said, was making the most strenuous efforts it had ever been called upon to make.

"THE SIEGE OF THE DANTON.

"Gentlemen, the whole essence of peace is the possibility of forming an alternative government, but during the time this Government was possible.

"And it is only the Government itself and not the French which can be held accountable for the situation."

Mr. Gladstone was of the same opinion, but he was not the only one who was so inclined.

In conclusion, he declared that the war was not the war of the Government, but the war of all mankind. The whole world had to put its neck into the new enterprise with the spirit of the little brothers of Hove. May no man be polluted, but may France be free."

POLITICAL MALCONTENT.

Cabinet Critics In Parliament May Form New Parties.

"Cave" in the political parties favours our interest, but we have to decide if the interests of our country are not being sacrificed in the interests of the Government in any case.

On the Labour side there is a small nucleus of men who can take up the battle to challenge the Cabinet in any case.

Major Richard Gabbett, B.S.O., Royal Welsh Fusiliers, killed in France last week. Major Gabbett was the son of the House, and everyone expects a grand appreciation to "Government by Cabinet."

A FAMILY OF FIGHTERS.

Three Eton Brothers Who Joined The Army And Took The Ranks.

When the war came the boys of Eton were the first to be enlisted, and the war causes to be written in the name of Eton. What the boys of Eton have done, be it good or bad, has been done by them, and there may be a great deal more of them.

"SOMETHING AMISS."

"We are all of us," he went on, "with the war causes and the war causes to be written in the name of Eton. What the boys of Eton have done, be it good or bad, has been done by them, and there may be a great deal more of them.

"There is no, we are not good enough, or that we are getting through, of that we are getting through, and that there is no way through, that there is no way through."
THE BATTLESHIP TRIUMPH TORPEDOED BY THE TURKS.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE BRITISH FRONT.

Territorial Storm And Capture German Trenches.

FIRST ARMY'S SUCCESSES.

Enemy's Line Pierced And Two Miles Of Front Occupied.

From Sir John French.

Wednesday evening.

(i) The First Army continues to make progress east of Festubert.

(ii) Two containing last night a group of German trenches, capturing 35 prisoners; and this morning it captured one officer, 21 men, and a machine-gun.

(iii) The First Army has pierced the enemy's line on a total front of over three miles. Of this the entire hostile front system of trenches has been captured on a front of over three miles and the remaining portion of the first and second line of trenches are in our occupation.

The total number of prisoners taken is eight officers and 777 other ranks. Ten machine-guns in all have fallen into our possession, as well as a considerable quantity of material and equipment, particulars of which are not yet available.

GERMAN'S FURIOUS EFFORTS TO REGAIN LOST GROUND.

Brilliant French Successes At Several Points.

Latest French Official News.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8th.

The British troops have made a fresh advance in the direction of Lorette, capturing over 200 prisoners, including several officers, and captured several guns.

To the north of Arras the Germans continued their desperate efforts to recapture a portion of the trench system lost yesterday. The fighting was of extreme violence all day.

On the Somme, the British captured a portion of the German line, southeast of the village of Le Camp, and took a portion of the southern sector.

The Germans and French between the two sections of the Ax-Nollet-et-Bouches road our attacks made progress and pushed on as far as the right hand of the enemy, who did not succeed in recapturing the point of the trench system gained yesterday.

At the northern edge of the Ax-Nollet-et-Bouches road a strong fight occurred in the woods. The respective positions were not modified.

\[\text{ADVENT ADVANCE MURDERED FIRE.}\]

Between this road and the Lorette hill, in the village of Bucque, the violent fire of the enemy artillery could not dissuade us from the position occupied yesterday, and we seized a hill, making a strong attack on the north-east of the town of Cappins. We advanced over a very difficult ground, as the ground was nearly impassable.

On the position of Angers Saint-Nazaire we captured a quick-firing gun.

\[\text{RAIDERS TRAPROD AIRFORCE.}\]

A German aeroplane which was flying towards Paris this morning was attacked and forced to land in a group of buildings outside the entrance of the camp, three bombs without any result fell on Villers, near Cambrai.

The air systems of the front, having been warned and detoured, the enemy did not attack the Aviatik, which carried four bombs, that was brought down by our aeroplanes and machine guns near Franke, in the Somme district. Both attacks were unsuccessful.

Our aeroplanes successfully dropped 950,000 shells on the village of La Braye, near Douai. The sheds and the machines on the ground were set fire.

\[\text{BELGIAN OFFICIAL NEWS.}\]

The enemy bombed our advanced trenches north of Flander's yd. twice and at night.

There was absolutely quietness all last night, but this morning the shelling was very heavy.

Our artillery replied vigorously this afternoon.

\[\text{MR. O'REILLY'S GRAVE.}\]

The Simple Story Of An Irish Soldier In Flanders.

The Belgians that I have seen live in the midst of British troops (writes Mr. W. G. Shepherd, a New York journalist who is with the British Army), and their confidence in General French's army is so great that they seem to think the Tommy can even steer the German shells away from their villages.

"I take care of the farm myself," she said. "The children love him, but they are very little, and the old man, and the young man, they like to take care of him. They farm the flowers on it."

But certainly, necessary. Come with me.

\[\text{ITALY WILL MAKE VICTORY MORE SPEEDY.}\]

Mr. Asquith And Signor Salandra Exchange Messages.

MOUNTAIN PASS CAPTURED.

Mr. Asquith, in a telegram to Signor Salandra, the Italian Premier, says:

Now that the will of the Italian people has been fully expressed I know that the valor and the skill of the Italian Army and Navy will make the achievement of this historic victory soon and easy.

We are proud that Italy has joined the Allies, and that the decision has been taken under your Excellency's auspices.

Signor Salandra, the Italian Prime Minister, replied:

We wish above all that a long era of liberty and peace may open for Russia rendered in the basis of respect for the highest principles of nationality.

We hope to contribute to the greater realization of this ideal with all our forces associated in close and lasting solidarity with those of the Allies. In order to achieve this, the operations are bound by long-standing traditions of mutual respect and help by us undisturbed by any diversity of interests.

\[\text{ENEMY RETIRING.}\]

Bayonet Charge Makes Italians Masters Of Important Mountain Pass.

The Italian Army is rapidly advancing into enemy territory, and has captured many important points in the difficult country of the Tyrol and Trentino. One of the most brilliant successes is in the neighbourhood of Mount Lombard, which is 7,000 feet high and stands north of Verona. The Italian troops have taken the Val Inferno Pass, in the Carnian Alps, with the bayonet.

Italian aircraft have bombed the electric works and railway stations at Monfalcone, a fortified town on the coast of the Gulf of Trieste, and the Austrians are retiring everywhere.-Reuter.

\[\text{KING AT THE HEAD OF HIS ARMY.}\]

The King of Italy has assumed the supreme command of the land forces, and left last night for the field.

He has appointed his uncle, the Duke of Genoa, General-in-Chief during his absence from the capital.

A blocked of the Austro-Italian advance has been officially declared.-Exchange Special.

\[\text{CILIANA'S NEEDLE.}\]

Italian residents in London and British sympathizers have formed a committee for the purpose of presenting to the Italian Embassy in London the mark of their sympathy and respect for the Italian people at present addresses to the Italian Embassy.

\[\text{SIR J. FRENCH LAUDS CANADIANS.}\]

OTTAWA, Wednesday.

Sir John French, in a cable to Sir Robert Borden expressing appreciation of the splendid work done by the Canadians in the Gallipoli Peninsula, says:

"We shall always take care of your country."

\[\text{GERMAN OFFICIAL NEWS.}\]

\[\text{BRITISH SUBMARINE'S DASH.}\]

Turkish Transports And Torpedo-boats Sunk In Sea Of Marmora.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8th.

The Athens correspondent of the Italian Agency states that a British submarine entered the bay of Marmora on Monday night, torpedoing transport vessels carrying troops and ammunition, two torpedo-boats, and 1,000 tons of stores.

Only 12 sailors belonging to the torpedo-boats are known to have escaped.

The submarine returned safely to Tenedos.-Exchange.

\[\text{RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP SUNK.}\]

Torpedoed At Bosphorus Entrance By Turkish Submarine.

\[\text{RUSIAN OFFICIAL NEWS.}\]

\[\text{CANADIAN AND INDIAN SHATTER HUN ATTACK.}\]

\[\text{NORTHERN FRANCE, Wednesday.}\]

Last night a German airship, without a determined German attack in the neighbourhood of Rechbourg l'Ardenois, and inflicted heavy losses to the enemy.

The Canadians and Indians left the trenches with magnificent effect, each of the German forces with the latter smashed up to a great extent.

A grim hand-to-hand struggle raged. The Canadians and Indians succeeded in seizing the trenches in the opposition and paralyzed the attack of the enemy, who were put to flight.

Our losses were heavy, but the defeat suffered by the Germans was severe, both morally and materially.

The progress already made by us justifies the belief that Germany hold on the La Bassine region will no longer be become tenacious and accentuate withdrawal.-Central News.

U.S. O.T.T: SUNK BY SUBMARINE.

\[\text{TORPEDOED OFF GALIPOLI WHILE SUPPORTING COLONIALS ON SHORE.}\]

\[\text{MOST OF CREW SAVED.}\]

Destroyers And Patrol Boats Chase The Enemy Craft.

\[\text{BRITISH CRAFT'S SUCCESS IN THE SEA OF MARMORA.}\]

From the Admiralty.

Wednesday Night.

While operating yesterday in support of the Australian and New Zealand forces on shore on the Gallipoli Peninsula H.M.S. Triumph (Captain Maurice Fitzmarmor, R.N.) was torpedoed by a submarine, and sank shortly afterwards.

The majority of officers and men are reported as saved, including the captain and the commander.

The submarine was chased by destroyers and patrolling craft till dark.

"H.M.S. Triumph took part in the operations at Tanga, and here the name of that place on a brass tablet in a prominent position in the ship as her war memorial. With her sister-ship the Swiftsure she was brought from the Chatham Dockyard, and with the others at Scapa Flow, had been built to serve a class by themselves in our list of battleships, being armed with 40-ton and fourteen 7.5-inch guns.

Her officers and crew numbered 700; she was 600 feet long, and had a displacement of nearly 12,000 tons.

\[\text{BRITISH SUBMARINE'S DASH.}\]

Turkish Transports And Torpedo-boats Sunk In Sea Of Marmora.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 8th.

The Athens correspondent of the Italian Agency states that a British submarine entered the bay of Marmora on Monday night, torpedoing transport vessels carrying troops and ammunition, two torpedo-boats, and 1,000 tons of stores.

Only 12 sailors belonging to the torpedo-boats are known to have escaped.

The submarine returned safely to Tenedos.-Exchange.

\[\text{RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP SUNK.}\]

Torpedoed At Bosphorus Entrance By Turkish Submarine.

\[\text{RUSIAN OFFICIAL NEWS.}\]

\[\text{CANADIAN AND INDIAN SHATTER HUN ATTACK.}\]

\[\text{NORTHERN FRANCE, Wednesday.}\]

Last night a German airship, without a determined German attack in the neighbourhood of Rechbourg l'Ardenois, and inflicted heavy losses to the enemy.

The Canadians and Indians left the trenches with magnificent effect, each of the German forces with the latter smashed up to a great extent.

A grim hand-to-hand struggle raged. The Canadians and Indians succeeded in seizing the trenches in the opposition and paralyzed the attack of the enemy, who were put to flight.

Our losses were heavy, but the defeat suffered by the Germans was severe, both morally and materially.

The progress already made by us justifies the belief that Germany hold on the La Bassine region will no longer be become tenacious and accentuate withdrawal.-Central News.
Lady Randolph Churchill is immensely proud of her little granddaughter. This is a new photograph of Lady Randolph and the little girl. (Swaine.)

Captain J. N. Guthrie, Irish Guards, has been killed. He was twice wounded. (Langner, Ltd.)

Elise Craven, the girl actress, unlike Peter Pan, is growing up. This is her latest portrait. She is going with George Edwards' concert party to the training camps. (Sarony.)

Miss M. de L. Champneys. Miss Geason.

Miss Margaret de L. Champneys, the only daughter of Sir Francis Champneys, is marrying the Rev. E. G. Southam, vicar of St. Paul's, Haggerston, on July 3. Miss Geason is the fiancée of 2nd Lieut. Cecil Gamage, R.E. (Sarony and Hoppe.)

GONE TO NURSE OUR WOUNDED.

This group has not been torn asunder in a riot. It was made this way in Paris from taffeta and striped faille. (Munro.)

These members of the 2nd French Unit of the Scottish Women's Hospital have just gone to France. They are Miss Carraway, Miss M. Laird, Miss A. M. Burt, and Mrs. Wilson.
T HE public and the partisan Press are both puzzled as to how the new Cabinet. There is the strong suspicion that it possesses the mixed characteristics of the historic egg supplied to the legendary curate. But the Cabinet is also a Cabinet of which there are the good parts and which are the bad parts of the Cabinet, whereas, with the famous egg opinion was undervalued on that point. The circumstance indicates that a Cabinett is more complicated than an BEARING in mind, however, that the war is the supreme issue before us we must regard this new Cabinet in a special light. Undoubtedly the safest plan is to separate its domestic policy from its foreign policy, for the former policy is of only very minor importance as long as the war goes on, and we may reserve the right to criticise it in oursphere of recreation which will relieve the terrible strain of the war. It may not be exactly comic relief, but it will afford variations of light and shade in the grim theatre before us, and it may help to keep up the broad view which it is essential that we maintain, war or no war.

O n the war policy of the new Cabinet it is our bounden duty now to act loyally and helpfully to understand its shortcomings. We have had our shake-up. Now to work. A great crisis produces a shake up in every country. Germany conceals her assets, but she has many changes, discoveries, scandals and retirements since the searchlight of war was turned on her morose.

In this mass, the politicians and diplomats of Germany have proved to be blockheads. The mere fact of making enemies all round us can hardly measure up to the contrast of the policy of Bismarck that it reveals a complete decadence in German statesmanship. The recent General von Mohlke has been retired and the imperial crown has fallen from his place as a public idol. These are tremendous changes, and the dirty little in congratulation with which they would make a big washing. It is well to bear this in mind, for there are hysterical people in this country who imagine that Cabinet crisis can be measured by contrast with the smooth war administration in other countries.

The matter of criticism of the new Cabinet is legitimate. The curse of England is the committee habit, wherein large bodies of talkative men are appointed to carry out a certain work. The Cabinet is a sort of a parish pump, some solemn committee must discuss the affair in detail. I should like to see a Government that would not have so many members, and taxed. The cabinet habit divides authority and turns work into debating. The weakness of Parliament is mainly due to its being a huge committee of discussion, with the main talk by axe-grinders and incompetent amateurs harrassing progress.

The new Cabinet has the unwieldiness of this committee habit. Each Cabinet will be a little group of war experts who will say little and do much. Discussion cannot go on. The point that leads only to division. One good man who knows his subject is far better than a large committee, even if that body has some splendid experts. But to the experts get on a committee they air rival theories and sink to hair-splitting and exasperating debate.

Each war department should have its head, and from these departments the Cabinet should form a little inner council of men to outline the main plans. We shall not beat the Germans by talking. Hard, united and prompt work is essential. There must be clear and swift decisions made by men who know their work, and these decisions must be quickly given out to and acted upon by the men who are actually conducting the war operations and the war-operations with the local agents.

Traditions of the Town and Around About.

Out Of The Hat.

Mr. Asquith has confounded all the prophets, and it seems to me that he must have put Mr. McKenzie at the Encyclopaedia Brittanica. Wootton in the express purpose of districts the real journalists who have been making forecasts. He has confounded them at these two appointments, also at others—Bushman Basar Law for the Cabinet, Chamberlain for the India Office, and Mr. Beveridge for the Board of Education. But the idea was that it didn’t matter what Wootton did, so long as the old expectant of putting the names in a hat.

Winston’s Sacrifice.

Tun greatest down for the moment is that of Winston Churchill. But surely this brilliant man has never done anything for himself, for the mass, the politicians and diplomatists of the new Cabinet it is service. He sacrifies £5,000 a year in salary. If the National Government as a whole gets to work in that spirit something will have to move before long.

A Big War Rises.

A quite new “fall” stories come from the front, but the following one I believe, because it is supported by the man who told me it is one of the few people who go to the trenches. He arrived at the German trench, most of the occupants of which had been killed. Four Germans had been playing cards when death came to all but one, who in the act of dealing a card, ’I couldn’t resist it—because it was red,” said my friend. ’It was the ace of spades!”

The English Writer.

The growing habit of providing us with English writers is entirely splendid and excellent—it would be even more splendid if we could contrive to write a forth without making a noise in the Fleet St. It is given in English titles and social differences with menus. I was honouring, and chose a glass frambaire. The waiter made me a note, and then was away in a second. I asked the head waiter at the menu as if I had, asked for elephant steaks, or something there like the mutton steaks. And the young fellow who heard it said it was my French account. Of course, the explanations made me so hot that I had to order the most of the menu.

The Curate.

If many ways they are an unpleasant list, for they persecute the Rev. Michael Strongly, the Church of England’s young man. He is a rather mild creature, the most moral being, presumably, above those of the average country villages, for I can believe that he is out with another man.

A Bit o’ Love is full of really mirthy poetry, and there are above the moon.

Galwayther’s New Play.

Miss Winwood played the leading parts in “The Kiss Cure” and “Nobody Loves Me” a week ago, and I am here to point out that the play is a very realistic crowd of mutton, who call at the village inn for their “Zider-er.”

The Corset.

In many ways they are an unpleasant list, for they persecute the Rev. Michael Strongly, the Church of England’s young man. He is a rather mild creature, the most moral being, presumably, above those of the average country villages, for I can believe that he is out with another man.

A Bit o’ Love is full of really mirthy poetry, and there are above the moon.

Galwayther’s New Play.

Miss Winwood played the leading parts in “The Kiss Cure” and “Nobody Loves Me” a week ago, and I am here to point out that the play is a very realistic crowd of mutton, who call at the village inn for their “Zider-er.”

The Corset.

In many ways they are an unpleasant list, for they persecute the Rev. Michael Strongly, the Church of England’s young man. He is a rather mild creature, the most moral being, presumably, above those of the average country villages, for I can believe that he is out with another man.

A Bit o’ Love is full of really mirthy poetry, and there are above the moon.

Galwayther’s New Play.

Miss Winwood played the leading parts in “The Kiss Cure” and “Nobody Loves Me” a week ago, and I am here to point out that the play is a very realistic crowd of mutton, who call at the village inn for their “Zider-er.”

The Corset.

In many ways they are an unpleasant list, for they persecute the Rev. Michael Strongly, the Church of England’s young man. He is a rather mild creature, the most moral being, presumably, above those of the average country villages, for I can believe that he is out with another man.

A Bit o’ Love is full of really mirthy poetry, and there are above the moon.

Galwayther’s New Play.

Miss Winwood played the leading parts in “The Kiss Cure” and “Nobody Loves Me” a week ago, and I am here to point out that the play is a very realistic crowd of mutton, who call at the village inn for their “Zider-er.”

The Corset.

In many ways they are an unpleasant list, for they persecute the Rev. Michael Strongly, the Church of England’s young man. He is a rather mild creature, the most moral being, presumably, above those of the average country villages, for I can believe that he is out with another man.
THE SOLDIERS' LAST CALL TO PRAYER

The Australians before landing in the Dardanelles paraded for Divine service for the last time aboard one of the British warships. It was a singularly impressive scene.

The passengers in the tender have come back from the Dardanelles, where they were wounded. They have benefited by the sea voyage.

GREECE'S POPULAR STATESMAN HAS AN OBJECT LESSON.

M. Venizelos (in the centre), the Greek statesman, stopped at the Pyramids during his recent visit to Egypt. The troops assembled there presented him with a striking lesson as to the unity and might of the British Empire.

AN OXFORD BLUE.

Lieut. G. W. Thiberting, who has been wounded, was in Oxford's crew last year. He is in the Oxford and Bucks L.I.

FREED OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR THE FLEET. W. T. Smart, center in the Roe.

French actors who are now soldiers produced a "revue" in a barn just behind the firing line. The sergeant was quite a captivating Gaby.

JAMES TINSLEY, the signalman, who admitted at the inquiry on the train disaster that he forgot the local train was on the line.

THE MAN WHO FORGOT.

Lieut. Orwin of the Buffs (with his wife), who was yesterday presented with an engraved sword from his old division for...
THE CHANGE.

The Rev. Robert Skene, though married and with four children, has exchanged his Norfolk vicarage for a driver's post in the motor transport service.

FOR EX-CONSTABLE.

Churchill accompanied his wife for a pleasant walk in his favourite hat.

PARSON'S SACRIFICE.

The barrel-organs are housed in silence instead of making music in London streets. The men who turn the handles are now playing another tune in distant Italy.

THE COLOURED BRIGADE.

A coloured man who is going to join the black battalion organised by Edward Wiltshire, a native of Barbados.

ITALY'S FLEET IS READY TO FIGHT.

The Italian sailors revel in the prospect of a fight. Here they are taking supplies to a torpedo destroyer on the Grand Canal at Venice.

CHANGE BRINGS TITLE.

Mr. F. E. Smith, whose husband has been made Solicitor-General. The appointment carries a knighthood.

TOMMY THINKS A LOT OF HIS LADY DOCTOR.

Dr. Mary Ritchings is attached to the Welsh Red Cross Hospital. Her patients have a great admiration for her ability, and she finds them very cheery.
Simple Appliance Replaces Trusts!

SENT ON TRIAL TO PROVE IT.

Brooks' New Scientific Appliance—Adjustable to Any Size Person—Easy, Comfortable, Affording Instant Relief—Made for Men, Women, and Children.

Ruptured People Should Read This Generous Offer.

For something over thirty years we have been treating Rupture. It is a relief to find a great and useful work, and we are proud of our success.

We have found the best way to help you in the way of a Rupture Appliance from anything you have ever had.

It makes no difference what you have used, it is not like this appliance. Please remember that it does away with all those things that you

We make it for you—to your measure—and send it to you to try, and if for any reason it is not satisfactory, you can send it back and your money will be refunded. Do you know of any other firm or person in the United Kingdom making an offer of this kind?

We can offer the appliance to you on this basis, because we know what it can do. There is no uncertainty—no guesswork—about it all.

You have the RIGHT to get rid of your trust.

Because you are ruptured at present are you willing to stay ruptured? Would it not pay you to investigate the statement about our appliance for the cure of rupture?

If you have been wearing common "made-by-the-thousand transves" ever since you were ruptured, if you have been trying to get rid of your rupture by using arse, Nile, or limsins, if you have been discouraged and disillusioned and led to believe that there is no help for you, or, that your cure is impossible, then write to us.

If in London, call at our consulting rooms, Bank Buildings, Kingsway, W.C., corner of Por-

FREE INFORMATION COUPON.
Brooks Appliance Co., Ltd., Bank Buildings, Kingsway, W.C. (Corner of Portugal Street), London, W.C. Please send me your free post, in plain wrapper, the Illustrated Book, and a FREE trial bottle, sent in an envelope, in carbon of every movement of the body. It has cured hundreds of people in all parts of the world.

It is light, yet strong, weighs only a few ounces, but it cannot slip out of position, and it is as easy to wear as a coat.

Theatre:

LADY'S, 28, Marylebone Road. Value 15s. Mason, 2s. 6d. per week. Musical Comedy at Popular Price. Collyer's, 6d. per night. Berkeley, 4d. per night.

AMBASSADORS. Nightly at 9:00 ODDS AND EDENS, 30, St. James's Street. 2s. 6d. per night. MANARA, 2, Marylebone Road. 2s. 6d.

POLLO, TO NIGHT AT 8.30, 22, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

DIAL'S, 52, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

F. C. EDWARDS, New Pimlico. 3s. 3d. per night. Provincial, 2s. 6d. per night.

DURFORD—TODAY AT 3.30 and 8.30. P. E. and J. B. FIELDING, 16, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

GARRICK, TO NIGHT AT 8.30, 56, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

GARE, Shadwell, 13, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

FILM OF MY HEART. Earnings at 8.30. 56, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

HAYMARKETS. 9, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

The New Theatre, 2s. 6d. per night. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

HIS MAJESTY, 58. Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

KING'S, Liverpool, 13, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

KINGDOM, 26, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

LONDON OPERA HOUSE, 13, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

LYRIC, TO NIGHT AT 8.30, 56, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

MATINEES WEDNESDAYS and SATURDAYS at 2.30.

THE SEED OF THE SHADOW. QUEEN'S THEATRE, Shadwell, 2s. 6d. per night.

ROYAL, 26, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

SHERIE. THE MAJESTY, Shard, 2s. 6d. per night.

ST. GEORGE, 4, Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

EVERY PROTESTANT ON THE DRAMA. 60. Marylebone Road. Value 2s. 6d. per night.

THURSDAY, MAY 17, 1917

Send this Coupon for a Free Trial Bottle.

BANG!

Cyclists can't get rid of Zepelin by firing DUNLOPS but they can eliminate another cause of explosions, both of tyres and temper, namely, the cheap and nasty tyre.
Charity Plays At: The Little Theatre—Try My New Cake Motherhood Matinee.

Lady Asheim-Smith is having her croquet. Amateurs prepared for patrol services, and a great many chairs are being purchased for the Red Cross work. Sir Wyndham Murray is now in hospital, and at this time would be getting ready for Cape being equipped for her Red Cross work. Sir Wyndham Murray is now in hospital, and at this time would be getting ready for Cape being equipped for her Red Cross work. Sir Wyndham Murray is now in hospital, and at this time would be getting ready for Cape being equipped for her Red Cross work.

Famous Singer And Beauty.

Mme. Rattimir, who is to appear at the London Opera House during the forthcoming season, is distinguished not only by the beauty of her face and the quality of her voice, but also by account of her love and originality and personal attractions. She is a member of the Academy of Arts, an honor conferred on him by the Three Arts Women’s Employment Fund, but was told to find such a poor audience. There were two little entrance plays and one of the stars was Miss Sissingh, the Miss Stevin Hall. The credit of Miss Siringh’s people is so largely due to her being able to convey a man’s consciousness in breaking and dieting. At these performances Miss Siringh is an accomplished, to “talk” or “sing.” Those who have heard her know that she can “talk” or “sing” on her own account. She is more often about from lectures on the art of song.

Mme. Siringh’s Discovery.

The most interesting feature of this season is the Pianist, Betty Rees. The Dancing Lesson.

A Home-Dressmaker’s Find.

Lady Isabel Margesson and the Countess of Meath met at the Great Western Hotel in London and were seen chatting in the lobby. They were seen chatting in the lobby. They were seen chatting in the lobby. They were seen chatting in the lobby.

Can Heat Men And Horses.

Lady Isabel Margesson and the Countess of Meath met at the Great Western Hotel in London and were seen chatting in the lobby. They were seen chatting in the lobby. They were seen chatting in the lobby. They were seen chatting in the lobby.

LUNTIN MIXTURE

A BLEND OF THE FINEST TOBACCOS

6d. PER OUNCE. 2/- QUARTER FACTORY TINS.

THOMSON & PORTEOUS LTD., MANUFACTURERS OF THE ABOVE AND A 90 ALDERWOOD MIXTURE 5d. TWO HOURS MIXTURES 5d. PARIS DUNES.

WEAK EYES

How To Make Them Strong

WE HAVE YOU SEEN THE “TINS WITH TABS”?

It is a most ingenious invention. You just pull the tab upwards and, lo! there comes the tab. In a few minutes the Tab is replaced. There is no better product for eyes. Try a Tab and see how well it will do. The Tab is especially good for all the better times of the day. The Tab is especially good for all the better times of the day.

CAN YOU DRESS A DOLL?

Accomplishments By Which Women May Help The Wounded.

CAN you knit a gulf coat, or thread a bead, do lace, or dress a doll? All of these accomplishments might bring you a valuable price, besides enabling you to help the wounded, for you are all connected in one way or another in the classes of the Daily Sketch Patriotic Needlework competition.

1,000 is offered in prizes for the best piece of needlework done by Daily Sketch readers.

In order, to take part in the competition, letters must be accompanied by 24 coupons cut from the Daily Sketch. These coupons will appear daily, until November next, when the competition closes.

In the judging, which will be done by experts under the auspices of the Royal School of Art Needlework, all the work will be exhibited, and the best in all London, and the prize where the competitors feel unable to offer their work. This is to be held in the houses of the Cross-Society and the St. John Ambulance Association. The presentation of work is entirely optional.

In order, to take part in the competition, letters must be accompanied by 24 coupons cut from the Daily Sketch. These coupons will appear daily, until November next, when the competition closes.

In the judging, which will be done by experts under the auspices of the Royal School of Art Needlework, all the work will be exhibited, and the best in all London, and the prize where the competitors feel unable to offer their work. This is to be held in the houses of the Cross-Society and the St. John Ambulance Association. The presentation of work is entirely optional.

In order, to take part in the competition, letters must be accompanied by 24 coupons cut from the Daily Sketch. These coupons will appear daily, until November next, when the competition closes.

In the judging, which will be done by experts under the auspices of the Royal School of Art Needlework, all the work will be exhibited, and the best in all London, and the prize where the competitors feel unable to offer their work. This is to be held in the houses of the Cross-Society and the St. John Ambulance Association. The presentation of work is entirely optional.

In order, to take part in the competition, letters must be accompanied by 24 coupons cut from the Daily Sketch. These coupons will appear daily, until November next, when the competition closes.

In the judging, which will be done by experts under the auspices of the Royal School of Art Needlework, all the work will be exhibited, and the best in all London, and the prize where the competitors feel unable to offer their work. This is to be held in the houses of the Cross-Society and the St. John Ambulance Association. The presentation of work is entirely optional.

In order, to take part in the competition, letters must be accompanied by 24 coupons cut from the Daily Sketch. These coupons will appear daily, until November next, when the competition closes.

In the judging, which will be done by experts under the auspices of the Royal School of Art Needlework, all the work will be exhibited, and the best in all London, and the prize where the competitors feel unable to offer their work. This is to be held in the houses of the Cross-Society and the St. John Ambulance Association. The presentation of work is entirely optional.
NATIONAL SERVICE IS THE W.S.P.U.'S DEMAND.

Mrs. Pankhurst Offers Organisers To The Government, MARTIAL LAW NECESSARY.

"We are going to call upon our women to prepare for war service and to place themselves at the disposal of the new Government. Mrs. Pankhurst, the head of the W.S.P.U., made a statement to the Daily Sketch yesterday in the course of an interview.

"I think the time has now come for national service, and when we have had the War Cabinet Meeting on the London Palladium on June 3 I shall speak to that effect and ask upon women to prepare themselves for war service.

"I think the country should be resigned to realise the importance of the situation by declaration of martial law and the mobilisation of the country—men and women alike— for war service.

THE COUNTRY READY.

"I believe that the country is ready for national service, and all the people we are to be told what to do. Now we have a non-party Government which means it is of widely divergent views, I think it will be possible for our movement to do something to help. We are experts in organisation, and if the Government will give us any organisation work to do we will be pleased to undertake it.

"We can also help to create the right sort of feeling among the people. This is not the time for a feeling of criticism but a feeling of readiness to help. When we, who in times gone by have had the keenest criticism of the Government, say this, the hope will the statement have some value.

THE STEFF UPPER UP.

Why Britons Should Face Their Ordeal In The National Spirit.

The British people should be warned about the perils of understaffing. As a nation we are told that we can not afford, to speak the truth, to give up any thing. The war, and that in order to make up to France, the fate of the King is at stake, all phases of entertainment should be closed and all kinds of amusement forbidden. Then, we are told, it would realise its subtle business on the whole.

Then, the other kind, we may not stop in our endeavors in payment, and that we must be more careful.

Sir James Yorul, M.P., discusses both points of view in an article written for Ring "Sunday Herald." He expresses his opinions very vigorously, and, of course, for the people of the theatre should be closed, and whether the ordinary round of pleasure-seeking should be curtailed or not.

"I can only say that it is the spirit which is best expressed in his striking plateau. The stiff upper lip—thus can not be put upon us. There will be more vigorous articles of first-rate interest in the next issue of the "Sunday Herald;" the best for women and the oldest group.

"There will be another wonderful series of exclusive war photographs.

THE TRAINWreck STRIKE COLLAPSED.

The British are suffering in London yesterday, than any morning since the troubles began, but there were no signs of any disorder at the places where there was some attempt at a regular service during the past hours.

London four millions yesterday reduced the price of "loot housewives" by 1s. to 5s.

GENTS' SUITS AND ESO FREE.

You can have a Suit or Trousers absolutely free today, if you can wear a small size.

All are being given away in London, and you can get any size as far as 63 and 64 pounds, and are given away as far as 63 and 64 pounds, and are given away as far as 63 and 64 pounds, and are given away as far as 63 and 64 pounds.

WOMEN WHO WILL LIMIT THE DRINKS.

Central Board For Munitions And Transport Areas.

The Government announced last night the names of the gentlemen who are to compose the Central Control Board. Mr. Redford is to deal with the drink problem in the munitions, transport and arms areas under the powers of the Defence Act (No. 3) Act.

WHAT WILL PRESIDENT WILSON SAY NOW?

Germany has made an unexpected reply to the U.S.A. Note of protest against the murder of American citizens.

An American steamer, the Nereid, (4,000 tons), bound from Amsterdam to New York, was torpedoed on Tuesday night off the Irish coast, adding one more to the list of outrages for which President Wilson and the Kaiser's Government to "strict accountability." It is stated that the Nereid was an unarmed merchant ship and not a war vessel, and its commander had not sighted the submarine when it was sinking, and her funnel fell into water, back to Liverpool, from which port she sailed.

THE FOURTH VICTIM.

This is the fourth American ship attacked by the German fleet. The last was the Avalanche, which was destroyed by the American squadron.

Germany's Insolent Reply To American Note另一条美国战舰被德国舰队击沉，这使得美国政府对德国的“严格负责”政策提出了强烈的抗议。1916年，一艘名为Nereid的美国商船在离开纽约后不幸被德国潜艇击沉，该船共载有4000吨货物，其船长在不知情的情况下被击沉，其船尾落入水中，回向利物浦，该船是从利物浦港出发的。

STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSING.

Petition To Shut Up House On Summer Saturdays.

Members of the Stock Exchange were more occupied yesterday with a petition for closing the "House" on as many Saturdays as possible during the summer months than with ordinary business.

"DEATH OF MR. ALLEN." Mr. Allen, a member of the Exchange, died yesterday at his home.

FAVORITE BIRD.

Epsom Grand Stand Association Denies Newmarket Rumour.

The Daily Sketch is informed by the Epsom Grand Stand Association that there is no truth in the rumour that the Derby will be run at Newmarket instead of at Epsom this year.

RACING IN IRELAND.

The Irish Jockey Club yesterday issued a statement to the effect that it had decided to continue racing in Ireland for the present.

The members of the club authorised the stewards to suspend any intimations from the Government that it interfered with the public service.

American securities were all down, but there was practically no trading.

The trend of Home Railway stocks was down, small offers finding no willing buyers.

Brighton Deferred was lowered to 60s. and NorthWestern to 112.

In the Miscellaneous markets Brazilian Traction shares fell back to 51.

"Shells" were unaffected by the increase in the dividend of the Royal Dutch Company, which makes 49 per cent. for the year, against 48 per cent. for 1916.

Among Kaffers: Modderfontein further improved closing at 14s., while Geduld were bid at 28s. 6d.

REQUIREMENT FOR THE ZEPPELIN RAID.

The City Police are taking the necessary precautions to protect their officers and men from the effects of any hostile action by the Zeppelins.

Although the police are not taking any special precautions, each station in the district has been supplied with a large stock as a precautionary measure.

SILLY SEASON AS USUAL.

EXHIBITION.

WAR EXHIBITION. W.W.I. PRINCE'S CRICKET CLUB, Knebworth, London, N.W.

JUNE TO OCTOBER.

In aid of the British Red Cross Angle-Belgian Commision. Payments: H.M. or the Queen of the Belgians.

The Monarchy Secretary Superintendent to inform the public that any articles of description or sending to them should write at 150, Regent Street, London. All hall tickets will be free for cover by the British Red Cross. Any purchase by members of the public willing to lend any articles of interest in order to make them available for the great cause are invited to do so.

FRAME FOOD.

THE ECONOMIC FOODS FOR INFANTS.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal cough, or head colds, then you can get your medicinal and other needs from H.C. 1, one of the many good chemists in your town.

HOW TO MAKE BABY STRONG AND MOTHER PROUD.

From all Chemists.
Anders's Errand Of Friendship.

"All right, Khan, I'll do my best. We can but pray that I shall succeed at last. For, in case I can be back in twenty minutes. I'll put up a friend or two and we'll see if I return, you can all walk into the tap-room together. It won't be so complicated if I'm finished. I'll be in the air.

What is the time now?" he asked.

She went to a small brass tray which stood on the table in an ornamental bottle, glass, and tobbaco-jars.

"Just put a sixpence in that," she said, "and if I don't come back, you will have gone by the time you can read next.

"That'll be all right, won't it?" he concluded, as he finally turned to his room. "If you are not in the tap-room when I come back, what shall I do with the key?"

She pointed to a small brass tray which stood on the table in another corner.

"Oh, I've done that for you," she answered.

It was amazing what a capacity the young Hungarian peasant—man or woman—had for foisting the national dance in its intervals of singing and gossiping these young folk in the barn had been going on for over three hours.

And they were beginning to get tired. To the Hungarian peasants, be it remembered, the csardas is not the only dance, though they enjoy the movement, of course, the exhilaration and the excitement. But to all healthy animals would enjoy gambolling on a meadow; there is a deep-rooted instinct in these children of the plains in the sweet, and strains of their songs and in the music of their dances.

They put their whole life, their entire sentiment for country and its traditions into the music and in the dance, and the music and the dance give outward expression to these feelings, to speak in the language of poetry which they feel well enough, which their unfettered and uncurtailed frame.

A Hungarian peasant in sorrow or distress will probably say, "If my country's pitiful, seek to drown my grief in drink; for he from his chronic mind's repose. In movements more or less elevated than those of the peasant's own country, or his moral spirit more grand. He will get drunk, or, like many other peasants, he will do it to the accompaniment of music. The gypsy band must be there, must be in trouble as in the case of two or three idles, perhaps, a clarinet, always cinematism, possibly his favourite songs. They don't care his bow, but they help to make the music; bearing tears to his eye and softening the bitterness of his grief.

And in joy he is as madly dance, when in love he will dance, for the csardas helps him to explain to his lady, he loves exactly what he feels for her. And she understands. One csardas will relieve the Hungarian village maid of the state of her lover's heart far more clearly than do all the whispering shadows behind hedges in more civilised lands.

The Bridegroom's Duty.

"It was in the cold moonlight that Elisa had learned from Anders how much he loved her; it was during the music that the dance that she could not overcome her shyness and tell him plainly that she loved him.

And now it was in the csardas that she was hiding; and of course, she was quite happy with her gorgeous in the companions of her youth; to Jenő and Móricz, who had loved her so passionately these ten years and, who must henceforth become to her more than a csardas in the future; twins, with the wild music marking step, that she never used all that was in her simple heart signed for the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.

Elisa was a perfect dancer: it was a joy to have her as a partner, it was indispensable this afternoon.

It seemed as if living fire was in her blood; she was like a dark blue star; she gives herself neither rest nor respite. Determined, in the moonlight of the day, she had forcibly put behind her the moral insolvements of the afternoons and the care of the barn, and the past and pleasant anticipation for the future.
DEEDS, NOT WORDS, IS THE EMPIRE'S CALL TO-DAY.

Lieut.-Colonel W. W. Burford, of the Royal Montreal—(wounded)—was an officer of the Canadian team that won many successes at the 1911 Rugby World Cup.

Not words but action, not talkers but fighters, is the Empire's need to-day. Now that the politicians have re-sorted themselves the whole nation must throw itself unanimously and determinedly into the one and only object—beating the enemy and ending the war. These are some of the heroes who have given us the great example.