THE FALSE: THE CAMERA EXPOSES GERMANY'S Faked Photographs For Neutral Nations: THE TRUE.

This German photograph, described with characteristic Hun insolence as an "Idyll from the environs of Rheims," is being circulated among neutral nations as proof of the "cruelties of Rheims" that have to be protected against the gas flames and asphyxiating bombs of Teuton Kultur.

The camera, which Germany utilizes as a means of deceiving neutral nations, is equally the means of exposing the real methods of Teuton Kultur.

ADVANCE LUGGAGE NEXT.

This manner will witness the entailment of several railway facilities.

The expectation, however, that the general travelling public will be the stoppage of all special rates for luggage, as they are now known, has not taken place with the regularity with which they are now known, and the subscriber has been told that he is in receipt of the latest information.

The attention of the railway public has been now called to the fact, however, that the general public is not prepared to pay the rates which are now charged.

Easter Unaffected

The Easter holidays will not be affected by the change. Mr. Hayes Fisher, on behalf of the London and North-Western Railway Co., has declared that the railway public has not yet heard of the new regulations, and that it is now too late to make any alteration in them.

The alteration will hit holiday-makers rather heavily, as they will have to pay the extra rates at the last moment.

The London and North-Western Railway Co. has decided to continue the system from May. Travellers will not be entitled to any further reduction on this system unless they are prepared to pay the extra amount.

This proposal is being considered by most of the railway companies and the Treasury committee which controls all the railways on behalf of the government. It is thought likely that uniform scales will be taken.

PRISON DEBT FOR CONSCIENCE

Mr. Long To Look Into Statements As To The Treatment Of Objects.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Hayes Fisher, on behalf of the London and North-Western Railway Co., said that the railways were willing to consider any statements made as to the treatment of consignments.

Mr. Samson, however, said that he had not received any consignments relating to the government, and that he was informed by the railway authorities that there would be no difficulties in the way of carrying them. But if there were, the railway companies would make the usual prison debt for consignments.

He added that there was no evidence to support the statement that there was any difficulty in the way of carrying consignments.

Mr. Cooper and Harold Edward Wood, were fined 4s. 6d. each for failing to report to the Local Government Board.

They were arrested for neglecting to report to the Local Government Board.

SCAVENGERS OFFENDED.

The House of Commons yesterday considered the case of the scavengers, who have been subjected to a number of regulations. The scavengers have given great offense to the scavengers. By orders of the Government, a German regulation has been issued in the direction of the scavengers, and the scavengers were unable to draw or read or write.

INDISPENSABLE COCOA-MAKERS.

SON CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Sidney Stan Lowther, aged 49, was remanded at St. John's, Westminster, for the murder of his father, Robert Lowther.

The prisoner was arrested with "Good morning, gentlemen," but the clerk advised him to make no statement.

In reply to the charge, he said, "All right." The prisoner was remanded for 16 days.

The prisoner said he was having a rest day, and the charge was not proceeded with.

CABINET & RECRUITING

Decision For To-Day's Statement In Parliament.

No Crisis, But Full Discussion Of All Material Facts.

CABINET TO MEET TO-DAY.

There is no "recruiting crisis," as is being alleged in some quarters.

The Government fully recognises its responsibility and points to the fact that the success of its recruiting campaign is in the hands of the public. It is not the Government's responsibility to assume the facts on which a sound judgment can be formed.

The facts, so far as they can be divulged, are that the public debate which was mentioned in the Prime Minister's statement this afternoon by the Prime Minister in a general debate.

The Cabinet meeting yesterday was exceptionally brief. It was well towards 5 p.m. before the Cabinet and had arrived, and by 6.10 most of them were dispersing.

Kumara-were again afoot last evening that there had been serious divisions of opinion among Ministers, but the Daily Sketch understands that at the resumed Cabinet meeting to-day there will be practical unanimity.

A new committee was appointed yesterday to meet to-day to evolve a satisfactory solution of the recruiting problem.

Mr. Asquith had an audience of the King last evening.

NO RESIGNATIONS.

No Likelihood That Mr. Lloyd George Will Leave the Cabinet.

From Our Parliamentary Correspondent.

Despite the persistent rumours of Cabinet discretion, which had, their vague yesterday afternoon, it has become known that there will be no difference in their last meeting without any immediate danger of resignation.

Mr. Lloyd George was mentioned as likely to leave the Cabinet. The reason given was, if so he said, that the Cabinet does, or it is not the Cabinet. It is regrettable that a mark discrepancy exists between the issues of this one and the other, for the issue of recruiting and the demands of the War Office. The Prime Minister has to deal with a military organisation in this country, and the difference is not necessarily a difference of those in the Cabinet who desire a comprehensive solution.

Hopes Of Enlightenment.

The main hope at Westminster is that the Prime Minister will publish the proposals of the secret committee and bring them to the House of Commons. It is a matter of regret that the Prime Minister has not been able to announce the proposals of the committee to his party, or to any public meeting, until the time for the issue of recruiting is over.

Will Sir Edward Divide?

It is assumed that in any case Sir Edward Carson will move his resolution to-morrow in order to restrain Mr. Lloyd George from making any further statement.

But whether he will press it to a division or not remains to be seen.

From the House of Commons Sir A. Markham asked whether the Cabinet had yet determined how many men of the age of 16 could be withdrawn from industry to serve in the Army, and whether the figures of the number of men expected to be needed were available to the House, either in public or secret session, before any extension of the Military Service Act, 1916, was proposed to be made.

Mr. Asquith said he hoped to deal with this subject in his statement to-day.

No "RECRUITS CRISIS," -- CABINET STATEMENT TO-DAY.

"WAITING THE HUN" ON THE BRITISH FRONT.

"Battalions Without Number" Racing Enemy Hordes.

ENEMY GATHERED IN FORCE.

"An enormous army, whose enegy need not be written, has found a position on a vast battle front, with an elaborate organisation stretching far in the rear. Commanded by the exasperative chief, it is ready for the coming feats of arms in which the Allies will intervene in a common way,"--Commandant de Céhèfes, in the Martin.

Events are rapidly maturing on the British front from 63 miles from north of Ypres to the Somme, and the paragraph quoted from the well-known French critic is one of only many pointing out the part which the hour of looking back may be very close at hand.

Opposite this British front there are at the present time more than 300,000 men at Verdun, according to "Colonel X," of the Paris Journal, there are only 2,000 divisions, 35,000 men, and, although only two or three persons know the composition of the enemy forces, it is superior even to this formidable force, and they must be amended to the enemy's artillery.

Still To Be Beaten.

It is an indication of the still unbroken inenace to France that 300,000 enemy in three large forces, composed mostly of fresh recruits, are already fighting on the battle front, as to sustain crushing pressure on the British front.

Whatever the final result may be, the second German army will be considered as already beaten before the "peace" of the left wing.

This is the task of the coming spring and summer to open up the way of the struggle--whether the initiative is to be taken by the enemy or by the British armies, and the world will begin to see very quickly, in fact, whether such an eventuality, that General has been waiting for, is of the world's historical sight.

The offensive operations of the enemy sustained very heavy casualties, and the enemy gained a footing in a small salient which is likely to front of Verdun.

Colonel Expedition, in the Times, estimations the enemy's strength on our front at 800,000 men, a proportion approved by General Verdun, according to "Colonel X," of the Paris Journal, there are only 2,000 divisions, 35,000 men, and, although only two or three persons know the composition of the enemy forces, it is superior even to this formidable force, and they must be amended to the enemy's artillery.

LOW BIRTH AND DEATH RATES.

How The Age At Marriage Is Affected By Occupation.

The Registrar-General's report for 1914 shows that the birth-rate in that year, 21.2 to 1,000, was the highest on record, being 21.2, which was the next lowest. The death-rate, 12.4 to 1,000, although higher than the rates in 1912, was the next highest, 12.4, which was observed for the first time in 20 years.

A new table introduced which shows that "the age at first marriage is conditioned mainly by occupation."

Dividing first marriages into four groups--early marriage, middle marriage, late marriage, and very late marriage--the Registrar-General found that the lowest marriage rate was in marriages between ages 20 and 24. The highest marriage rate was in marriages between ages 30 and 34. The marriage rate increased as the age increased, reaching its highest point in marriages between ages 35 and 39. The marriage rate decreased again as the age increased, reaching its lowest point in marriages between ages 45 and 49.

The table also shows that the highest marriage rate was in marriages between ages 20 and 24, which was observed for the first time in 20 years.

VON PAPEN'S CONSPIRACY.

The Federal Grand Jury has returned a true bill against Von Papen, a German politician, for his alleged part in the conspiracy to overthrow the government of the German Empire.

The grand jury charged that Von Papen, in concert with other conspirators, had plotted to overthrow the government of the German Empire by force of arms, and had conspired to murder the Emperor.

The trial of Von Papen is expected to begin shortly.

NAVY AIRED AUG. SUCCESS.

A report from Saloniki last night said that an air attack had been made on the Turkish base at Saloniki, and that the attack had been successful.

A bomb dropped by an Allied bomber hit a large oil storage tank at the beach, and set it on fire.

The oil storage tank was the only oil storage tank in Saloniki, and the Allied bombers had been fighting over the city for the past two days.

The bombing attack was the first of its kind in the Balkans, and it was expected to have a great effect on the morale of the Turkish military forces.

LONDON TRAFFIC STRIKE TERROR.

By 24 coins to 17 Croydon Corporation last night decided to strike over the traffic congestion on the Stockwell Road.

This decision, made by the Traffic Executive, was supported by a general strike of 1,000 workers in London.

The Traffic Executive, in a statement issued last night, said that "the Traffic Executive will not be responsible for any damage that may be caused by the strike."

DEADLY CATARRH?

(Chronic Cold in the Head.)

If you have any doubts about your ailment, ask yourself the following questions:

1. Is my nose runny?
2. Do I sneeze frequently?
3. Do I catch cold easily?
4. Is my nose stopped up?
5. Is my head ached?
6. Does my throat feel dry?
7. Do I feel tired all the time?
8. Do my eyes smart?
9. Do I suffer from headaches?
10. Do I suffer from sneezing?
11. Do I suffer from coughing?
12. Is my nose stuffy?
13. Is my sense of smell affected?
14. Is there fulness in my throat?
15. Do phlegm drop into my mouth?
16. Do I suffer from pains in my head?
17. Do I suffer from shortness of breath?
18. Does a change in the weather affect me?
19. Do I have to clear my throat frequently?
20. Is there a pain between or over my eyes?
21. Is there fulness or pressure in my head?

If you answer "Yes" to any three of the foregoing, you are in the grip of a chronic disease, which will only sap your vitality, kill your ambition and energy, and only too frequently terminate fatally in Cataract of the Stomach and Intestinal Consumption. Moreover, the constant swallowing of the feebly mucous during sleep, slowly but surely poisons the stomach, liver, kidneys and other organs. You need not, however, suffer another morning if you will only carry out the simple home treatment which cured me 7 years ago, and has, since then, cured hundreds of others.

With my treatment, known as the "Shirley System," relief is apparent from the very first application. The nose becomes clearer, the mucous no longer drops into the back of the throat, the frontal headaches disappear as if by magic, and that "tired feeling" on rising in the morning completely passes away. You will again feel that life is indeed worth living.

No matter how many treatments have been used, do not consider your case hopeless until you have tried the wonderful "Shirley System.

My treatment has proved so remarkably successful even in the worst forms of chronic Catarrh, Bronchitis, Head Noises, etc., that I gladly send it on 10 days' free trial on the distinct understanding that if the patient derives no benefit, no expense of any kind will be incurred. Write to-day (mentioning this paper) and enclose 1d. stamp to cover postage. Address, R. E. Shirley, 135, Holborn Hall, London, W.C. Advt.

HOW TO INCREASE YOUR STRENGTH.

Some Good Advice By A Specialist.

If you are losing strength, try early in the morning, confidence in all things, and feel discouraged, it does not matter whether the source is from illness, late hours drinking, smoking, or overindulgence of any kind, you are in danger of suffering a complete breakdown unless proper treatment is secured at once.

Strength can only be obtained from the food you eat. Therefore, if you are using up more energy each day than you obtain from your food, your case is hopeless until you can reverse the order of things and increase your strength in proportion to the amount you draw upon.

To get back your old-time strength and energy spend as much time as possible in the open air, breathe deeply, and get a little Sargol with three meals a day, will give you more strength and energy than 12 meals will give you without it. Therefore, if you are run down are constantly losing strength, are irritable, or your nerves are off, get a 5s. box of Sargol to-day. It will last you a week, and do more good than a month at the seaside.

THERE are certain persons who are deterred because they are wedded to compulsion. These very people have just been saying that it is unfair to call up any of the vast hordes of single men. The argument was that a number of married men are anxious to bolster up the figures of those 300,000 that conscription is for the sake of those 300,000, and if the Government were not to conscript married men the number of single men remains still unaccounted for.

A great many of shabby old men ambling about in this fashionable locality. Two of them, while bearded, and wearing a - there is not a chance of the entrance to the Albany. Perhaps the publicity given last week in the House of Commons by Lord Curzon was often a boon in most seethingly.

I am quite willing to accept any system of recruiting if it can be proved that it doesn't think all-round compulsion necessary. But theRetention of time-expired men, and the combed-out of single men in reserves, is advocated. Is it not rather for the sake of men who do not know that they know? It seems rather the men who do not know that they know, that they have no knowledge that such a thing were possible! But it is not for the sake of those who know, either. The Government has no knowledge of the enormous number of dependants, that if a man were married he would be broken up!

What Women Are Doing:

By MRS. GOSSIP.

One popular in Nottinghamshire is a very practical woman, a woman war saint, whose love of country is a practical. the usual noo~

...apart from being a fine judge of antiques of all kinds, is a great music lover.

Vanished Smiles. One of the chief attractions of Red Cross "week" will be the absence of Society programme sellers.

Programmes will be sold in the hall by the usual attendants and at the usual prices, so that you need not stay away because you have no small change.

Beauties In Blue. There was a great number of people dining at Cire's Silver Stilts, and nearly every seat was occupied by some of note. Miss Gladys Cooper, in pale blue Voilefארגון, and her husband, are still in London, where they are enjoying a visit to the city. Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock was with a party, and the Hon. Mrs. Alarick, with a party at Mount Stuart.

Improving. The Marquis of Bute has an almost recovered from his illness. Lady Bute and her husband are shortly going to give a garden party at Mount Stuart, Rosbury, in aid of the funds of the Bute branch of the Red Cross.

For St. Dunstan's. A very delightful entertainment was given on Saturday at the King's Hall in aid of the St. Dunstan's Home for Blinded Soldiers and Sailors. All the performers were the pupils of Mrs. Hackett., and Miss Matheson, ranging from the mere babies who came on as white rabbits to the big girls who went through difficult and amusing scenes. The big audience was chiefly made up of parents and aunts, but there were those present who didn't know a single child in the production and yet stayed happily till the very end. It will be a pity if Miss Matheson does not repeat the performance, as the work of arranging the dances and costumes must have been tremendous.

Young England Happy. The mixture of thrills and laughter at the Britannia Theatre is a very extraordinary public. Young England is difficult to please, and it was amusing to see how I was able to continue to enjoy a very impressive performance. Mr. H. H. Irving tells me that "The Barton Mystery," a large proportion of schoolboys amongst the audience, there was a whole row of them in the dress-circle.

I recognised among them Harold, the youngest pupil of the lady in the stalls; Tony Asquith in the dress-circle; the two Craig brothers, with their grandmother, Ellen Terry, in a box.

Mr. H. H. Irving tells me that "The Barton Mystery" was written especially for him by Mr. Walter Hackett, and he enjoyed the part of the wily Beverley as much as the audience.

Gene's Accident. The Marquis of Bute was not able to open at the Coliseum in her full "Pretty Precious" last night, and from the ankle down which has brought about the disappointment. It happened since I saw her on Monday, when I saw the wide-awake frocks she was going to wear.

I am able to tell you that Genee hopes to be well enough to dance by Monday, so that we shall all look forward to seeing her and then then.

And Some Frocks. Still, I can tell you about the gown all the same. They are quite unlike anything I have ever seen her in previously. One gorgeous dress is of many coloured silks, and she will forward them to a R.A.M.C. colonel who is in charge of a hospital close to the firing line. They are needed by the men as a record of their service.

SERIOUS ALLEGATION IN BREACH APPEAL.

Diamond Merchant's Counsel Says Actress Was Married.

AN EMBRITIVE DENIAL.

The truth of precise action in which Miss Doris Rhodes Burton, an actress professionally known as Dorita Dunhill, was awarded £700 damages in the High Court yesterday by her husband, Mr. George Dunhill, V.C., the well-known garden diamond merchant, came before the Court of Appeal at the Royal Courts of Justice yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Ruby Smith and Mr. Dunhill were applying for a new trial, but their application was based on the facts that if true, would put an end to the action. Their contention was that Miss Burton was married at the time she alleged Mr. Dunhill made the promise of marriage.

Appended to an affidavit was Miss Burton's marriage certificate, and the affidavit contained a statement that the husband was still alive, and that Mr. Dunhill had not thought fit to deny those allegations.

Mr. Vassell, for Miss Burton, said the Court were aware of the public notice that she was not the lady married in the marriage certificate.

"Utterly Fraudulent—If True.

"Having thought through the whole case, they should pay the costs of the application over to Miss Burton's solicitors, in order to repay them if their appeal proved successful, and asked that some portion of the damages should be paid to Miss Burton, either in a lump sum or by weekly or periodical payments to begin the payment of the appeal.

"Lord Justice Swinton Lady, giving judgment, said, if the case of Mr. Dunhill were true, it was an utterly fraudulent claim put forward by Miss Burton, and in the circumstances it was impossible to make an interim payment to the lady out of the £700 award.

The only order the Court could make was to stay all further execution on the judgment pending the hearing of Mr. Dunhill's appeal.

The-Mrs. Smith's application would be costs made in the appeal.

DEATH OF "FELIX.

Metropolitan, Monday.

The death is announced of Mr. Thomas Horan (Felix), the famous old-locked catcher. He was in his 71st year. -Metrop.

Horan played for England in 1897. He came here in 1878 and 1880, and played at the Oval in the match between England out, the Australians winning by 7 runs.

IF STOMACH HURTS DRINK HOT WATER.

A SPECIALIST'S ADVICE.

"If dyspepsia, sufferers from Bataliness, indigestion, flatness of stomach, gaster sickness, etc., take a quarter teaspoonful of pure fermented aged vinegar. It has a place of hot water immediately following eating, they would soon forget that they were ever troubled with stomach troubles, and there is no necessity to have to look elsewhere for remedies." In explanation of the statement, the specialist declared that mana forms of stomach troubles were due to acidity and flatness of stomach, and that there had been no good food combined with insufficient blood supply to the stomach. Hot water supply and the combination of the medicinal with a standard meal instantly neutralizes the acid and stops inflammation; the combination of the medicinal with Combined, therefore, being marvelously efficient and infallibly so, it is the use of artificial digestive, alkaline and medicines.

Doddly Fear.
The effect of Mrs. Gimp's words was just as great as if Betty had taken a slap upon her breast. The fright Betty had experienced when Thomas Quayle threatened her, and fastened his grip upon her slender wrists, had been nothing compared with the deadly fear which overcame her at the housekeeper's reassuring announcement.

"How—do you—get that letter?" she whispered.

"Book it myself," Mrs. Gimp informed her, standing firmly, arms akimbo.

"How dared you?"

The woman's features streaked in a lingering grieve.

There was no daring needed.

"You surprise me—you no business in my room."

Then you don't know my duties, Mrs. Chevonne," Gimp said, "and who could expect you—such a grand lady like you! I visit all the bedrooms ever day to see that the lady have made things tidy. I stepped in here and I couldn't help seeing a letter on the floor near the toiletable. I was going to put it back when an old soul it was addressed to a Miss Rose Foxwood, that puzzled me a bit, for the letter had you called Betty—through.

"But?!"

Gimp's face was enlivened in its cunning.

"No, no, ma'am. Mrs. Chevonne, which is a really quite a pity for you. I gathered something was wrong, and I had already thought that your being daughter to the old Rear Admiral was a bit too strange for even everyday life, to speak. Too, it seemed to me you must be a bit over sixteen years old."

"Better tell him by yourself, Betty."

"Betty held out her hand. "Give me that letter."

"No! If I know it, dear!" answered Mrs. Gimp.

"Betty's arm fell against her dress. She sat here, and that physical nausea which she had complained to Lavonelle increase and created her a shivering spine. She sat down limp, while Mrs. Gimp watched her vicariously, yet willed loving Betty Chevonne for causing her so immense and sensational a triumph.

Mrs. Gimp's Attitude.

When Betty spoke next her words seemed to be dragged from her throat.

"I suppose you have a few secrets of your own which you cannot tell us, like any other young person?"

"No, I haven't, dearie. I've been a respectable woman, a church goer every Sunday and Wednesday evening, first in your year. And the view if that isn't true, Betty and dear Betty. Being such a decent person, you cannot possibly bear a grudge; I've never had a hard conscience."

"We know, good God! We have no more sense than to sit here and question, and ask the girl's face, and eyes and preparing herself for concerned attention, and instead of coming here on her own private state? There must be some way out of this terrible bind. She'd done her best, and she must have been something more before Gimp declared.

"Wild ideas flashed through her mind. Will—the man—but she could see no way out."

Betty moved from her post suddenly, and was afraid she would have to go down her face—terribly genuine, these tears, which she turned, I hope, into a laugh. It looked good. She had not acted like this since her childhood.

The man who had let Lavonelle deliberately turn Vivian's backfaced to Lavonelle had been as capable and disinterested as the girl, and no sympathies in her choices were the emotions of raging despair.
