IRISH WOMAN WHO DEFIED SINF FEINERS.

PHOTOGRAPHS THAT OFFER TELLING EVIDENCE TO THE IRISH INQUIRY COMMISSION OPENED YESTERDAY.

The Chief Inspector and two of his officers at the Enniscorthy police barracks, where they were prisoners for five days with only bread and water.

The hole that was made by the rebels' attempt to blow up Edermine Bridge.

Household treasures were packed in readiness for a hasty flight from home.

While the Commission of Inquiry into the Irish rebellion, opened yesterday at Westminster, had official evidence of the extent to which sedition had been secretly organised, these striking exclusive photographs reveal the widespread nature of the movement. They were taken at Enniscorthy, where the Sinn Feiners took complete possession of the town, besieged the Royal Irish Constabulary in their barracks, commandeered all the food supplies, and had the whole countryside at their mercy. One patriotic Irish-woman defied the rebels. Mrs. Murray dared to give food and shelter to the police and soldiers.

MYSTERY MAN OF THE IRISH REBEL LANDING

Comrade Of Casement And Bailey Who Escaped.

GERMAN MONEY AND LEAFLETS.

Raiser's Promise Of Blow—Land, Sea And Air.

AMAZING OFFICIAL DISCLOSURES.

The amazing indifference and slackness of the Irish Government under Mr. Birrell in facing up to the preparations against the Irish rebellion, in spite of many warnings, were brought out yesterday at the first sitting of the Committee of Imperial Defence, Westminster, presided over by Lord Harlingue (ex-Viceroy of India).

The other members were Mr. Justice Hardinge, Sir MacKenzie Chalmers, late Under-Secretary of the Home Office.

It was admitted in the evidence of Sir Matthew Nathan, Under-Secretary to the Lord Lieutenant, that—

No action was taken to prevent drilling under the Irish Volunteers Act.

Mr. Birrell, the Cabinet Minister responsible for the Government of Ireland, was fully aware of the sham fights, and did nothing.

MYSTERIOUS MR. MONTEITH.

Man Who Vanished When Bailey And Casement Were Taken.

Of all the extraordinary things in Sir Matthew Nathan's narrative his references to the man Monteith, who was said, had been originally employed in the Ordnance stores, were of most absorbing interest.

Monteith was the man whom Bailey in the statement made before the German military and police, in his full knowledge of whatever arrangements had been made locally for their reception, for armament.

He appeared known to the Government.

Mr. Birrell, the Cabinet Minister responsible for the Government of Ireland, was fully aware of the sham fights, and did nothing.

LANDED WITH CASEMENT.

Describing the landing, Sir Matthew Nathan said—"It was a most extraordinary landing. The German boats had been loaded in Dublin. No notice was given of the landing. The German boats had been landed, and appeared in hand to take up their position.

No, none whatever. It was a landing with Comrade Casement and Bailey and a man named Monteith, who had been originally employed in the Ordnance stores, and who, it is said, was still at liberty."

THREE DISLOYAL BODIES.

Sir Matthew Nathan stated that the insurrection was the result of three disloyal bodies that had been going on for some time.

The Irish Sinn Fein Volunteers.

The Irish Republican Brotherhood.

The Irish Volunteer movement had been active in the provinces.

When the anti-British section seceded from the Irish Volunteers, and the Irish Republican Brotherhood, they were recognized that the Irish Volunteer movement had been active in the provinces. This increase in the number of the volunteers from the country had been made, there was a rising in Ireland to the middle of December, 1914, and the number of volunteers was estimated that they had 1,886 rifles and a number of other arms.

The rebellion had broken out.

NOT ENOUGH TROOPS.

On the day of the killings there were about 1,000 soldiers in Dublin, but only 1,000 were available in Ireland. There were no plans for 1,000 armed Dublin police and the British army to protect the Dublin Castle.

Troops were drawn from Belfast and other places.

Held by the National Volunteers.

Yore they called upon for active support—No. The last time Mr. Birrell had been in Dublin, at the meeting of the Cabinet, it was decided that the Volunteers should render their promised assistance, and had been given by the National Volunteers.

WHAT IS THE REAL SITUATION?

At the end of 1914 it was recognized that the Irish Volunteer movement was a loyal and seditionous body.

These arguments were borne with careful wistfulness.

Adjust-Good work. He had done good work, but he did not think that the volunteers had sufficient power to make the necessary arrangements.

THE CUR FROM GERMANY.

English manufacturers of rifles and shot-gun had been importing freely into Ireland for some time. This was a great advantage to the Government.

In March the statement was published that a notification had been received from Germany that it was their intention to land at Dublin on the 17th inst. and requesting the Irish Volunteers to render their promised assistance, as they had not given up their idea of landing troops in Ireland.

On April 26th the police received an instruction from a woman that the Castle would be attacked by the Germans, but nothing came of it. On Thursday and Friday, the 23rd and 24th, nothing happened. On the morning of the 23rd the H.Q. reported that they were at Tralca that in the morning they had captured the Government, and 1,800 men of ammunition and three rifles.

APologies for Inaction.

Mr. Birrell knew, But Took No Precautions.

The Irish Government was not prepared to face the third invasion of the Irish Volunteers.

Defending the right of the Irish Government to land troops in Ireland, Mr. Birrell said that the latter recognized that in the present condition of affairs there was nothing to be gained by regular troops.

The men had been trained, mistakes were made, some were killed, and it would be much worse to have a million men of a million men.

By the end of the war, but were determined to oppose.

On the eve of the Prime Minister's meeting on the evening of the 22nd the H.Q. reported that they were at Tralca that in the morning they had captured the Government, and 1,800 men of ammunition and three rifles.

Quick Magic Beauty

UNDREAMT - OF POSSIBILITIES FROM THE NEW OXYGEN CREAM.

TODAY the matter of preserving the complexion, which interested only Society ladies once, is now the intimate concern of every member of the fair sex—whether she works in a munition factory or is occupied with business or the domestic cares of the home.

It is no longer necessary to put up with the sagging, lifeless skin which is supposed by many to be the lot of girl-workers and ladies beyond the simplicities of "sweet seventeen." That entirely new oxygen cream, Ven-Yusa, has brought us new possibilities of "quick magic beauty" for all. Ven-Yusa has a distinctly novel and far-reaching effect on the skin, and gives benefits never before conferred by a toilet cream.

With the help of the oxygen which Ven-Yusa contains, the tissues are rejuvenated in a remarkable fashion, the complexion acquires a natural glow, and one not only looks well but feels well. Ven-Yusa, indeed, gives the skin a real "oxygen bath." It is greaseless, pure, delicate, and most beneficial for the complexion.

About The New Blouses

In spite of the popularity of the coat-frocks, blouses have no less in demand, and there is no falling off in the attentions which designers are giving to them. The new models are especially becoming, for the high collar which appears on them, and case and settings are their chief characteristics.

* * *

A white lawn collar in three layers, each with a scalloped edge, and coming all down the front of the blouse, is likely to be a general favourite, especially on figured cotton voile blouses. Cotton voile has proved itself a good material for patterned handkerchiefs, and cotton lawn is in fashion in which to preserve. The wearer may be removed by a very judicious use of fine cleaning, ablutions in hot water without the cold douche back to above the elbow, into small round slices. With a lemon-squeezer and also the juice of four lemons. Preserve the pulp, adding it with the juice to the bananas. To press out the juice of eight small sweet oranges at the shoulder are divided. The ends are not tied, but hang straight down.

AN EASILY - MADE BANANA PRESERVE.

Banana preserve is rather unusual, and can be made just now. Take about a dozen well ripened bananas, remove the skin, and cut the fruit up into small round slices. With a lemon-squeezer press out the juice of eight small sweet oranges and also the juice of four lemons. Preserve the pulp, adding it with the juice to the bananas. To each pound of the bananas allow half a pound of preserving sugar. Put all these ingredients into a preserving pan and boil rather slowly for three-quarters of an hour.

AN UGLY RESULT OF THE PURIFIED TOILET.

War workers who have been neglecting their toilet affairs are sometimes horrified to find that a crop of enlarged pores is the result of hurried ablutions in hot water without the cold douche to follow. Enlarged pores are difficult to cure, but the regular application of an astrigent will banish them in time. One good lotion is made by mixing boracic acid (1 dram) and distilled white vinegar (4 ounces). Apply with a piece of old linen or a bit of absorbent cotton.

TWO GOOD WRINKLES FOR SPRING RENOVATIONS.

Smudges on very heavy dull-finished wallpaper may be removed by a very judicious use of fine sandpaper. As the aim is to remove the smudges only, as little of the underlying wallpaper should be removed as possible. An excellent method of cleaning velvet is to scrape a light dust of piper clay all over the velvet, and then brush lightly away with clean brush. This will be found almost invariably to restore the bloom and also to raise the...

WHAT YOUR NERVES NEED.

Whatever medication, whatever renewal strength and vigor can be imparted to the nerves must reach them through the blood. Dr. Williams' pink pills are a tonic, but they act on the nerves through the blood, enabling the blood to carry to the nerves the elements needed to build them up.

Sufferers from nervous debility who have been taking any treatment without benefit should investigate Dr. Williams' pink pills method.
