ROYALTY AND SOCIETY WAIT ON OUR GALLANT WOUNDED.

The Duchess of Sutherland was one of the Society waitresses.

While tea was being served the King made his appearance among his guests, with many of whom he stopped to chat.

One of His Majesty's guests.

Prince Albert was quite a handy man, carrying round the teapot.

Some of the wounded marching with sprightly step into the Palace tea-room.

Eight hundred wounded soldiers and sailors from the different military hospitals around London were the honoured guests at Buckingham Palace yesterday of the King and Queen at the first of a series of Royal hospitalities to men who have suffered in the country's service. Tea served in the Royal Mews, where Society women were waitresses on Tommy and Jack, was followed by a variety entertainement in the Riding School. (Daily Sketch and Official Photographs.)
WOUNDED HEROES ENTERTAINED AT PALACE.

The King And Queen's Welcome To Their Guests.

WAITING ON ROYALTY.

How His Majesty Put Them At Their Ease.

TEA AND A VARIETY SHOW.

The first of the three contingents of wounded soldiers and sailors who are to be entertained on Monday by the King and Queen, this week, was received at Buckingham Palace yesterday afternoon.

The party was a man who had shed his blood for his country. Many of them walked on crutches or in wheelchairs, but others had their limbs supported in splints or their faces scathed by bandages.

Special attention was bestowed on the badly wounded cases, which were wheeled into the auditorium under the supervision of doctors and nurses.

KING AND QUEEN AT THE SHOW.

The King and Queen entered the building immediately the injured had been seated, and remained till the end of the programme. The Royal party, made up of several officers, the Princess Royal, Princess Alexandra of Tassel, and Princess Maud, was arranged in a semi-circle, almost enclosing the whole company.

On the left side were the Queen, Prince Albert, Princess Louise, Princess Ethelburga of Saxe-Meiningen, and the Duchess of York.

Others present included the Countess of Minto, the Earl of Chesterfield, Lord Hylton, Sir Alfred Harmsworth, Lord Home, Sir Douglas Murray, Sir Charles Chetwode, the Duke of Portland, and Prince Arthur.

In the centre, Sir Henry Wood and other officers of the Voluntary Aid Detachments, and on the right side of the King, were Lord Curzon, the Earl of Onslow, King George V, the Duke of York, the Duke of Connaught, and Sir Henry St. George.

There were a number of disabled officers and nurses, who were seated back of the stage to npy steps approaching convalescents, who were being brought in.

There were many who had lived to fight another day; many who were going back to face the foe and meet it again.

CHEERFUL IN MISFORTUNE.

The King and Queen were delightfully and friendly disposed, and only temporarily resident in "blighty." They made their entrance into the auditorium in gladness, and with marvellous coolness under difficulties.

There were the same faces, the same attitude of cheer, the same happy greeting, that had marked the great appeal for the war bond rally, and the same evanescent faces praised by the King and Queen; they laughed even as children laugh at bedtime. It was a most touching thing to see the King and Queen as they shook hands on the stage.

The hospital in which the wounded soldiers and sailors were brought were the same as those in which the King and Queen have given the lead, and what a contrast to the joy they were seen waiting on by ladies of the Royal Family and the noble gentlemen of high rank in the British army.

PRINCESS MARY'S ABSENCE.

It was interesting to note that among those present were all the princesses, except the Princess Royal, who was not present, and the Queen Mary, who was absent.

The King and Queen arrived while their guests were still less than half of those who accompanied by Prince Albert in naval uniforms, were asked to be seated, and were then invited to exchange with them words of friendly greetings.

In this way, the King specially addressed himself, impressively, to the men on those who had been already wounded, a gentleman's stage—dressed with festoons of flowers and garlands, with sealing accompaniment for a thousand people.

It is a "laughing" night, evidence of this fact being specially forthcoming in the atmosphere caused by the puffing of cigarettes.

Several special attention was bestowed on the badly wounded cases, which were wheeled into the auditorium under the supervision of doctors and nurses.

The programme of entertainment, which had been arranged, was that of a "night" of the arts. The programme included:

Mr. Arthur Dampier, Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, and Mr. John Conan Doy.

The King, who was on the right-hand side of the central gangway, had seated next to him Queen Alexandra, the Grand Duchess of Russia, the Princess Royal, Princess Alexandra of Tassel, and Princess Maud.

A FINE PROGRAMME.

The programme of entertainment, which had been arranged, was that of a "night" of the arts. The programme included:

Mr. Arthur Dampier, Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, and Mr. John Conan Doy.

The King, who was on the right-hand side of the central gangway, had seated next to him Queen Alexandra, the Grand Duchess of Russia, the Princess Royal, Princess Alexandra of Tassel, and Princess Maud.

It would be difficult to single out one any one item in the programme of entertainment as having given more enjoyment than another.

CHEERS FOR THE ROYAL HOSTS.

The Queen's party consisted of two delightful groups, and enjoyed every minute of the time. They had but little to do, however, to give it. They did not have much time to do it. They rose—albeit of all who were present.

Mr. Arthur Dampier, Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, and Mr. John Conan Doy.

The King and Queen had ordered to be distributed among the wounded, and their happy hearts, and from the roofs of the beds—among the injured crouched up in the atttudion in a hearty laugh, was before an end.

But it was nothing of the kind. Before the show had been long in progress, we were a mysterious, almost ridiculous, crowd of "eccentrics."

INFORMALITY THE KEYNOTE.

By A Wounded Tommy.

My view of the audience that was assembled in the Palace grounds, were not of the mildly hilarious kind that was the case when I went to a music hall. I anticipated that everything would be of a very formal character, and that a very correct entertainment, at which it would be out of place to indulge in a hearty laugh, was before an end.

The police are looking for the offender.

Dealing with attended married men's appeals as matrimonial tribunals have done, the Attorney has said that if they had not been good enough to attend them they would have been tried. There had been hoarding and soldiering, and the Government, and it was the duty of the Attorney to deal with them.

If we do our best, we are entitled to the benefit of the doubt, and our cases are allowed.

EXPLOITS OF LIEUTENANT PROBERT, D.C.M.

Boy Officer Who Cut 17 German Wires While Under Fire.

HOUR'S CRAWL ON HIS STOMACH.

From Our Special Correspondent.

BLANCOYEN, Tuesday.

Lieut. Clifford Probert, the "heroic" officer, aged 17, who lost his memory, disappeared from his hospital bed, was found through a photograph published in the Daily Sketch, has recovered his memory.

He joined the Army soon after war was declared, and served for 15 years 9 months. He carries 22 wounds, has received the D.C.M. and promotion on the field, and although he has no memory of his life, has never been known to fail in his duty.

At the age of twelve, when living with his parents at the little Welsh mining village of Swells, Trcle, he showed especially to criminals, and made up his mind to join the Navy. With three weeks' pay he bought his kit and started for the training ship Imperigian. Two weeks later he was captured. Five months later he was of the Germans, and was the local amusement society.

Tryd to Face Hn.

When the war began, he tried to enlist in Aberdare, but failed. He went to Merthyr, but could not get service, as he was 18.

His fourth attempt was made, and he was passed into the R.G.A. under the name of William Jones.

At Hill 60, he got up two wounds in the head and face.

After being in hospital 12 weeks, his colonel, a major, wrote to the War Office, telling them that the D.C.M. was a mistake.

When the war ended, he was sent to Liverpool, and was given to Lieutenant Murphy at 1 a.m., and reached his home a week later.

In the Big Advance.

On the morning of September 25 the great advance had been launched, and the infantry had hurried forward with his regiment, to "be in it," and to "join the war.

With a handful of others he reached the German line three days later.

Murphy was killed by a bullet through his head, and landed in a shell, which was rolling towards the lower under officer's grave, and eventually reached it after an hour's miscellaneous crawl.

First he shot a Frenchman, and then he shot to an hour's search he discovered the wires, and there were none in the ground. It was found that the German batteries had been receiving perfect information.

His knife he commenced cutting the wire, and there was no more than a single bullet. So he smothered the wires with violets, and went on with his task.

Bidding from shock, he advanced again, but came under the fire of the burly, and of the bullets, and was found lying on his back, with his head badly hit. His joy on the enemy in the face of the stretcher bearers. From that time he was made for the war.

On The Minid Angel.

In the length of September 25 the great advance had been launched, and the infantry had hurried forward with his regiment, to "be in it," and to "join the war.

With a handful of others he reached the German line three days later.

Murphy was killed by a bullet through his head, and landed in a shell, which was rolling towards the lower under officer's grave, and eventually reached it after an hour's miscellaneous crawl.

First he shot a Frenchman, and then he shot to an hour's search he discovered the wires, and there were none in the ground. It was found that the German batteries had been receiving perfect information.

His knife he commenced cutting the wire, and there was no more than a single bullet. So he smothered the wires with violets, and went on with his task.

Bidding from shock, he advanced again, but came under the fire of the burly, and of the bullets, and was found lying on his back, with his head badly hit. His joy on the enemy in the face of the stretcher bearers. From that time he was made for the war.

An excellent photograph of the wounded man was taken after he had been treated by the surgeons. He was then seated in a chair, and the photograph was taken from the side, the wound being covered by a bandage.
GERMAN DESTROYERS DRIVEN IN NORTH SEA FIGHT.

Chased Into Zeebrugge By British Patrols.

AMBITIOUS PLANS.

Enemy's Fable Of Odds Of Five To Three.

From the Admiralty.

YESTERDAY morning four British destroyers sighted three German destroyers off the Belgian coast.

The German destroyers at once turned and ran for Zeebrugge, chased by our own destroyers.

Shots were exchanged during this short running fight, and two of the enemy's boats were observed to be hit.

Our casualties were four men wounded.

German Official News.

Tuesday Afternoon.

Yesterday morning three German torpedo boats had a successful engagement with a division of five British destroyers off the Flemish coast.

After having hit several times the enemy broke off, and two of the enemy's boats were seen to be still on fire.

We only suffered quite trifling damages.

---From the pamphlet, Naval Staff.

SUCCESSFUL ESCAPE.

The "success" mentioned in the German news seems to have been a success in running away.

Previous experience of German official naval reports shows how little credit can be attached to them. After the North Sea fight last year, the Germans claimed that the Tiger was sunk, and that the British destroyers had never fired a shot.

The Tiger forms at the present moment one of the most important units of the Grand Fleet.

The new commander-in-chief is therefore carrying on the policy of von Tirpitz.

ANOTHER BIG RUSSIAN VICTORY.

Austrians Routed On The Dniester And Bridgehead Seized.

The first tiding of a striking Russian success about 40 miles from the borders of Romania are contained in a Russian despatch of yesterday afternoon.

Outnumbered and in danger of encirclement, the Austrians were compelled to surrender the bridgehead of Uzkinisk, on the Dniester, and to cut their lines of retreat through to a point about 10 miles lower down the river at Zalynets.

Here, however, their position is still serious, as they are not only confined to that point, but also are under the constant fire of the Dniester battery.

If the Russians are in sufficient force to continue their advance, they will be able to capture the railway which leads to Cernova, the chief town of the Bukovina.

SCOTS V.C. WOUNDED.

Private G. Wilson, 1st B.L.I., only a young Edinburgh lawyer, is now a Medibolan honorable yesterday. He was wounded in the stomach and is in hospital. He was killed, it is said, by the gun of a German gunner.

GERMAN FLAMING LIQUID ATTACKS AT NEW POINT.

Part Of Wood Lost By French On TheArgonne Road.

ENEMY SEEKING A REVENGE FOR VERDUN FAILURE.

French Official News.

Paris, Tuesday, 3 p.m.

In Belgium an enemy detachment which had made a raid in our territory on the north of Ypres was at once driven out by a counter-attack.

The Argonne our artillery has been very active of late in against the German fire on the east of Wood, which we were compelling, and which is known under the name of the Wood of Avocourt.

To the west of the Meuse the Germans several times during the night renewed their attempts on our front at Avocourt and Malancourt, where the bombardment with shells of large caliber continues without interruption.

The attacks have been accompanied by jets of flaming liquid thrown by men carrying special apparatus.

Despite the heavy losses inflicted by our fire, the enemy was able to capture, after a struggle fought by the small, the south-western part of the wood which, we were compounding, and which is known under the name of the Wood of Avocourt.

Yesterday a French official report gave the number of new effective offensives of the Meuse first indicated in Malancourt as 122,000.

The explanation of this new offensive is to be found in the fact that, after a dip southward, bends again to the north of the enemy. The heavy losses may advance by the German near the Meuse, have already caused losses to the enemy in the north or near to the Argonne forest.

Malancourt, which was an attack on the Argonne valley, for which there had not been an adequate defense provided at present, although it is probable that these operations may have been observed recently.

The enemy's immediate object, for the moment, is the main road to Malancourt. This road is an important supply road for all the French troops operating that part of the Meuse river.

It is an important supply road for all the French troops operating on the rear of the Meuse.

VIOLENT BOMBARDMENT.

But No Attempt To Make Infantry Attack Near Verdun.

The Argonne was there grenades firing on the enemy's line.

Our artillery carried out destructive fire against the German works near the road from Recourt to Avocourt, being directed especially against the German town of Malancourt against the village of Avocourt.

On the left of the Meuse the bombardment continued to be violent in the region of Malancourt against the village of Bocque and Hill 394.

The information is especially true to reply to our artillery against the enemy made no attempt to make an attack.

In the course of the day there was an important bombardment of some points of the front to the west of the Meuse and in the Woever.

In Juvincourt our batteries were under the German army which fell in Avocourt.

Last night our aircraft bombardied the railway station of Dusseldorf and also a position near the Rhine in the region of Vignecles.

ACTIVITY ON BRITISH FRONT.

Successful Raid On A German Trench Enemy Repulsed Fails.

British Official News.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, FRANCE.

According to the latest reports, one of our ships was on February 23, 1892, as Christopher Carnot in "Carnot's".

The company included Ellen Terry and W. H. Russell.

SIR CHARLES WYNHAMD and MISS MARY MOORE.

DURING THEーソ戦

SIR CHARLES WYNHAMD and Miss Mary Moore, after thirty-one years of distinguished co-operation on the stage, are now husband and wife.

This romantic union was announced yesterday in the Argon

Miss Mary Moore, now Lady Wynham, after an absence from the stage which has already been mentioned above, made her dramatic return on May 25, 1892, at the Mermaid Theatre, under the management of Charles Wynham, and under the management of Charles Wynham, and she appeared in "The Ladies' Dress," which was an immediate success.

In October of the same year she appeared at the Criterion as Lady Odmar in "The Counting-House," which was an immediate success.

This tall, strong and respected lady has been a valuable addition to the management.

His True Bent.

Sir Charles Wynham was born in Liverpool on March 23, 1877, to "What's in the Window." The son of a London doctor, he was educated at private schools in that city, and was graduated in London, but frequent participation in the Boy Scout movements, and the fact that he had a passion for the theatre has probably been the cause of his career.

He made his first appearance on the stage in 1895, and was at once noticed as an actor, and was brought to the notice of the Vic-Wells Booth, brother of Edwin Booth and of the late Sir Henry Irving, who was his first sponsor.

It was in 1898 he made his first trial of London management at the Princes' Theatre, but the enterprise of the Government.

THE KAISER WILL NOT WAIT.

Lord Derby's Reply To Married Men's Deputation.

SINGLE MEn PROBLEM.

"I Will Get Them Out, But It Will Take Time."

The deputation of married men which waited upon Lord Derby at the War Office last week was not cheered with any pledges or even remonstrances.

The proceedings, which were private, lasted an hour and a half and the deputation had been broken.

The precise nature of the communication, in reply to Count von Schoen's promise of November 22, and Lord Derby's signal of the 25th, is not known to Lord Derby in that he reports him: "Some gaps must be filled up by married men in reserve officers by the duration of the married men, or in reversionary positions occupied by older officers."

NOT SUFFICIENT POWERS.

Upon this point the deputation came to the conclusion that Lord Derby was doing as much as he could and that he could not do anything further to get the government encouragement in the matter of the married service.

The married men's deputation, in reply to Count von Schoen's promise of November 22, and Lord Derby's signal of the 25th, is not known to Lord Derby in that he reports him: "Some gaps must be filled up by married men in reserve officers by the duration of the married men, or in reversionary positions occupied by older officers."

There is no longer any question of the government's undertaking to do anything more for the married men.

RATING PROBLEM.

As regards rating young men from domestic service, the lord chancellor has shown the government's willingness to do anything further to get the government encouragement in the matter of the married service.

The married men's deputation, in reply to Count von Schoen's promise of November 22, and Lord Derby's signal of the 25th, is not known to Lord Derby in that he reports him: "Some gaps must be filled up by married men in reserve officers by the duration of the married men, or in reversionary positions occupied by older officers."

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE.

As regards rating young men from domestic service, the lord chancellor has shown the government's willingness to do anything further to get the government encouragement in the matter of the married service.

The married men's deputation, in reply to Count von Schoen's promise of November 22, and Lord Derby's signal of the 25th, is not known to Lord Derby in that he reports him: "Some gaps must be filled up by married men in reserve officers by the duration of the married men, or in reversionary positions occupied by older officers."

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE.

As regards rating young men from domestic service, the lord chancellor has shown the government's willingness to do anything further to get the government encouragement in the matter of the married service.

The married men's deputation, in reply to Count von Schoen's promise of November 22, and Lord Derby's signal of the 25th, is not known to Lord Derby in that he reports him: "Some gaps must be filled up by married men in reserve officers by the duration of the married men, or in reversionary positions occupied by older officers."

Miss Kitty Bond, who died at Easter yesterday, was on the day of her death the countess of Admir " 'I WILL GET THEM OUT, BUT IT WILL TAKE TIME.' " two things that could be replaced it would take time.

THE ONLY ALTERNATIVE.

As regards rating young men from domestic service, the lord chancellor has shown the government's willingness to do anything further to get the government encouragement in the matter of the married service.

The married men's deputation, in reply to Count von Schoen's promise of November 22, and Lord Derby's signal of the 25th, is not known to Lord Derby in that he reports him: "Some gaps must be filled up by married men in reserve officers by the duration of the married men, or in reversionary positions occupied by older officers."

Lady Derby's signal of the 25th, is not known to Lord Derby in that he reports him: "Some gaps must be filled up by married men in reserve officers by the duration of the married men, or in reversionary positions occupied by older officers."

Miss Kitty Bond, who died at Easter yesterday, was on the day of her death the countess of Admir

POSITION ON THE TIGRES.

No Tidings Of End Of Siege Of General Townsend.

Asked in the House of Commons how long the siege of Port-Arthur which had lasted, had lasted, and was not expected to end, the Prime Minister said that General Townsend's column reached Port-Arthur on December 13.

On the 15th and 16th the enemy made a severe attack on the town, but was driven back and suffered severely; and although the garrison has been reinforced, it was unadvisable to say more at present than that there is no immediate failure to support the garrison in face of the enemy.
IF STOMACH HURTS DRINK HOT WATER.

A SPECIALIST'S ADVICE.
"If dyspepsia, depressions from flatulence, indigestion, acidity, gastric catarrh, etc., would only take a quarter (composed of pure bismuthated magnesia in half a glass of hot water immediately after eating, they would soon forget that they were ever afflicted with stomach trouble, and doctors would have to look elsewhere for patients." In explanation of these words the specialist stated that most forms of stomach trouble were due to acidity and fermentation of the food contents combined with insufficient blood supply to the stomach. Hot water increases the blood supply, and bismuthated magnesia instantly neutralises the acid and stops food fermentation: the combination of the two, therefore, being marvelously efficient and infinitely preferable to the use of artificial digestive, stimulants and medicines.

IMPORTANT.—We are advised that Bismuthated Magnesia is now obtainable of all chemists at the following prices:

Poudre femme, 15/- and 2/6 per bottle.
Mint-flavoured Tablets, 1/1 and 2/6 per pack.

THEIR AIR RAID.

"The English themselves are forced reluctantly to admit the satisfying success of our air raid—fourteen children being accounted for by our intrepid air warriors."

THE AUDIENCE: "Cool! Verdun is avenged!"

(Copyright by Will Dyson.)
I lost a limb will be lost in the crowd; it is just as certain that the treatment will not last. The novelty wears off—is wearing bow frame of mind would continue, we could not been treated after each of our wars. And, treated; we know how our wounded have you had the chance.'

wait on them. highest in the land, and it is honour. obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the

obviously the
Sir Charles Wyndham.—(Vandyk.)

Sir Charles and Mary Moore leaving St. Margaret's, Westminster, after the memorial service to Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Irving.

The marriage was announced yesterday between Sir Charles Wyndham and Mary, widow of Mr. James Allardyce (Mme. Mary Moore).

SIR C. WYNDHAM MARRIES

THE RIGHT HON. W. M. HUGHES, Australia's popular Premier, yesterday visited the Burdett-Coutts School at Westminster, where he was educated. He is seen (on left) with Mr. Burdett-Coutts and Mrs. Hughes.—(Daily Sketch Photograph.)

General Sir Sam Hughes, one of Canada's best, who is now in London. He is a man, placing patriotism before politics.—Photograph.

THE PADRE WEARS A STEEL HELMET.

A French chaplain chatting with officers behind the Verdun line.

Like the soldier, he wears a steel helmet.

AT THE GRAVE OF HER SOLDIER H.

A woman of France visiting the snow-covered grave of her soldier fighting for France.

PREPARING FOR A RECONNAISSANCE OF THE HUNS' POSITION.

French soldiers getting the big kites ready for an ascent. Supported by these, observers are able to watch the Hun positions. It will be remembered that the late Colonel Cody, the British aviator, first began his experiments in aviation by using such kites.
DIRECTING THE FIRE OF THE FRENCH 75's.

French artillery observers watching where the shells of the 75's fall. As they correct the range, an orderly carrying a portable telephone transmits their messages to the gunners.—(Wyndham.)

WOMEN CHEER MR. BOWLES, THE MARRIED MEN'S CANDIDATE.

"We are going to get our husbands to vote for the man who will look after us," said these women, as they gave a hearty cheer to Mr. G. Bowles, the married men's candidate in the Harborough election.—(Daily Sketch Photograph.)

A PROVOST-MARSHAL.

Col. James Lindsay in Provost-Marshall of the military headquarters at Portsmouth. (Swaine.)

TO WFD NAVAL HERO.

Mrs. E. J. Somervile, who is to marry Capt. Cecil Fox, R.N., of H.M.S. Powerful, who sank four German torpedoes. (Langley.)

BAGGED SEVEN HUNS.

Lieut. F. Patch, 3rd Irish Guards, has received the D.S.O. He captured seven Germans at Loos. (Todd.)

THE "MYSTERY" OFFICER.

Lieut. Clifford Probert, the boy officer who lost his memory from effects of wounds. His identity was discovered through his picture in the Daily Sketch. (Remarkable story on Page 2.)

THE LONE LAMBS FIND A FRIEND.

An incident in the day's work of a lady farmer in Cornwall. Her only assistant on the farm is the girl seen in the picture, a dairy student.
Mellin's Food

THE NEAREST FOOD TO NATURE'S FOOD

TREMENDOUS burdens are in store for the babies of to-day—and remember your child can never be any stronger than its food makes it.

Do not experiment then with foods unproved, unknown, or un-endorsed; trust your little one's health and vigour of mind and body to Mellin's Food—which has already proved its worth by fifty years of ever-increasing success.

Mellin's Food is used with fresh cows' milk; the combination is exactly equivalent to mother's milk; it possesses the life-giving elements of mother's milk (unknown in dried milk foods), and like mother's milk it is acceptable and beneficial to baby from birth.

FRESH MILK v. DRIED MILK.

The superiority of fresh milk over dried or sterilized milk cannot be over-emphasized. Read the following:-

SIR THOMAS BARLOW, K.C.V.O., G.C.M.G., M.D., L.L.D.,

has stated that "Certain maladies were introduced soon after sterilized milk was used in children fed upon sterilized milk developed nervousness and irritability."

Take care with baby—give Mellin's Food.

Test "Mellin's" FREE.

To make it easy for you to try Mellin's Food, we will send you samples of your choice and address a free booklet of Mellin's Food and a useful Handbook for Mothers on How to Feed the Baby.

DON'T WASTE your temper or your money, but buy DUNLOP

Warwick or Cambridge Cycle Tyres.

"A price to suit every pocket and the best tyre at the price."

Foster Clark's

A 6d. packet makes 31 pints of Rich Nourishing Soup. In six varieties:—Ox-tail, M'ock Turtle, Mulligatawny, GreenPea, Lentil and Pea (Tomato 2½d.).

2d. SOUPS

By Appointment: To H.M. The King.

With Milk and Sugar dearer still

NESTLÉ'S MILK

WILL FILL THE BILL

Cash price 8d. and 4d. per tin, of all Grocers.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22, 1916
Short & Simple Modes For Children.

CHILDREN'S clothes were never more varied or brighter than at present, but there are a few rules to which all the styles conform. All are short and full, with sleeves that give freedom, and original charm is more sought after than the sameness of correctly designed period garments.

Thus there is a suggestion of the Alabesque in a tiny girl's white lawn frock with a single gathering string at the neck and a straight little black velvet bodice, but the idea is not laboured, and the result is a practical frock instead of an uncomfortable "dress-up" one. For tiny bridesmaids most of the frocks recently turned out by the leading establishments are rather sophisticated. One had tiny skirts of flounced net with satin bodices and tulle shoulder-straps, bunches of little pink roses at the front of the bodice and socks worn with sandalled shoes. Another set suggested Marie Antoinette, for they had lace caps and frills and dis tended skirts.

In the kitchen cupboard everything should be labelled. The average housewife is often under the impression that everything is labelled, when as a matter of fact she only has labels on rarely-used things that would worry herself. She does not realize that a mere man might look in vain for things like bread and butter and salt, which "of course" are in the bread bin, the butter crock and the salt cellar all the time.

Inside the cupboard door could be tucked the suggested menus during the absence of the housewife, with hints as to any difficulties which they may present to the emergency cooks. It is possible to have cooked food for a long absence, but the deserted husband or children often enjoy doing a little cooking, and what seems like cooking, if all is made easy for them. Thus food may be mixed with the necessary ingredients for pancakes or omelets, and left in a covered basin, with directions for the further necessary proceedings on top. A currant dumpling may be mixed ready for the water or milk, and the correct quantities of flour, sugar and butter left ready for a quantity of rice, or macaroni.

A Cooking Morning.

On Sunday I have a cooking morning, and make a big pot of soup, boil several pounds of potatoes and do before I started, so that I could keep the place warm for an hour at the front, and also help out my husband's unremunerative income, my friends declared that I should spend nearly all my salary on ready-cooked foods and incompetent charwomen.

Now that I have been going out to work, and housekeeping as well, for a year, I can laugh at their prophecies, for my husband and I do not "live in tins," and I have a charwoman only on Saturday afternoons.

But Dorothea, tidy my own room, and dress for business. I set out with half an hour to spare, so that I can do my shopping before going to work. Small things I take with me, but the bulkier ones I order to be delivered after six o'clock.

When I reach home, my first work is to get the dinner started, and whilst it is cooking I go over the flat with carpet-sweeper, oil-soap and duster, so that all is tidy and comfortable before my husband comes home at seven.

A Symphony Orchestra of 48.

Box Office always open. Telephone, Gerard 2548.

NOTE.—Highly Important. "The Birth of a Nation" will never be presented in any but the highest-class theatres, and at prices charged for the best theatrical attractions.

"WORTHY of the BEST TRADITIONS of OLD DRURY."
A WAR WEDDING.

Winston. P. Willmot, 3rd Danvers, one of the Rev. H. Willmot's five fighting sons, married Miss Ruby Reid, of Reading.

PARLIAMENT AND COMPELSION.

Liberal War Committee Wants Principle Applied To All Married Men.

Although the Parliament Committee of the National Defence did not come up to expectations yesterday (Thursday) by nominating a member, the next step is to call for applications from all married men of military age, Police officers, and other such men, and to demand their service, for the sake of the women of the country.

WHO DELIVERED THOSE BOXES?

A number of boxes to be delivered to the House of Commons were found to be made by a lady who makes the best lace in the country.

THE WAR TRADE.

The Stock Exchange recently received a large consignment of war materials from the United States, which were auctioned off at a very high price.

The following items were sold:

- Arms
- Ammunition
- Munitions
- Aircraft parts

The prices were:

- Arms: 50,000,000
- Ammunition: 30,000,000
- Munitions: 20,000,000
- Aircraft parts: 10,000,000

The proceeds were distributed among the war charities.

FREE COUPON.

Dr. Rooke's "Anti-Lancer." (New Edition just published.)

To: Dr. Rooke, Ltd., London.

Dear Sirs,

Please send me a free copy of your "Anti-Lancer," your B.B.P. Health Medicine, to be paid for if I desire.

Sincerely yours,

[Address]

Free copy will be sent.

THE R.N.A.S. IN EGYPT.

Two of the R.N.A.S. men now in camp in Egypt. They look as happy as they are healthy in their elevator, open-air life on active service.

FAMOUS DOCTOR'S HEALTH ENCYCLOPÆDIA.

100,000 Copies Of The Most Remarkable Health Guide Ever Written To Be Distributed Gratis.

YOU MAY SAVE HOURS OF SUFFERING AND OVERCOME DANGEROUS ILLNESES BY FOLLOWING THE ADVICE GIVEN IN THIS BOOK.

Can it be said, without fear of contradiction, that never has there been published such a remarkable work as Dr. Rooke's book, entitled the "Antilancer"?

In a great National Health Campaign, and to make his advice and teaching more widely known, 10,000 copies of this work are to be distributed free to the public.

Practically every known ailment is dealt with, and no matter whether your ailment is of a Nervous, Dyspeptic, or other functional origin, you will find its symptoms fully discussed, and clear, concise advice given, which will enable you to effect a speedy and permanent cure.

FREE COUPON.

Dr. Rooke's "Anti-Lancer." (New Edition just published.)

To: Dr. Rooke, Ltd., London.

Dear Sirs,

Please send me a free copy of your "Anti-Lancer," your B.B.P. Health Medicine, to be paid for if I desire.

Sincerely yours,

[Address]

Free copy will be sent.

NOTICE: It will come as additional welcome news to learn that the Proprietors of "Anti-Lancer" have generously invited anyone who is willing and wishes to test this preparation a generous test supply free of cost on receipt of an additional 1d. stamps to cover the cost of postage. Thus, if you take up the free offer, you must send us 1d. stamps with your coupon. If only "Anti-Lancer," remember to send 1d. stamp only.

THE R.N.A.S. IN EGYPT.

LOVE GOES ASTRAY

By Nollie Evans

DAILY SKETCH.

A REMARKABLE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.

SPECIALIST'S ADVICE TO A READER.

For nearly ten years I suffered the annoying torture of arthritis, my knees and ankles were affected, and I was kept from enjoying the many antiperspirants and various advertised remedies without benefit I was very much disgraced of my doctor's advice as he had a special, specialist who told me to occasionally flash cut my badly strapped knees, and when they were considerably affected I should be able to walk, and I would not advise anyone to try any of the various remedies. I continued two weeks longer, and during several months that have since passed, I have not had the trouble of my knees, but I have been free from pain and discomfort, and I am now able to walk and enjoy good health.

The remarks the doctor made before, which were from the Alka Salts, can be procured from any chemist, contains the refined deposit or precipitate obtained by extraction from common Alka Salts, and is not at all expensive. Only a very small quantity will be required, and in its pure refined state it is practically tasteless in water, as a small amount and eliminates its powers are truly amazing.

---

What Do's Matter?

Stuart Darnley left them, to see his car, as he said. Sheila had a sudden idea that she might find out from which she had been turned away by the door. She went out, as there was no one else left. Sheila was saying good-bye to the man and thanked him for his trouble. But don't, dear,

---

LOOK OUT FOR OUR REMARKABLE NEW SERIAL:

THE SEED,

Specially Written by Yveline Burnett.

THE DAILY SKETCH.

Sheila turned on Steve a face in which there were both horror and wonder. She turned on Steve a face in which there were both horror and wonder. Without a word she turned it there and then it quickly made up his mind.

---

HOW TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF.

This Home Made Mixture Removes Dandruff and Stops the Itch from Falling Out.

---

Healed by Cicutta.

---

In Torment Both Day and Night.

From Skin Trouble Which Spread From Elbow

---

Unexpecteted—But 'at Home' in a Moment.

CAMP

Coffee

---

AVOID ST. VITUS' DANCE.

Physicians are often baffled by St. Vitus' Dance because it is a nervous disease in which they can find nothing actually wrong with the system.

---

Special Note.—We are informed by the Soap & Detergent Co., Ltd., that they have entered into a contract with the Provincial Government for the supply of their Special Soap and Detergent to all Army and Navy Establishments.

---

Dr. Thomas Dury, The Orchard Factory, Houn, Cambridge.

---

Makers of Jams to the King.

Chivers Jams

Frankly Gathered Fruit

Refined Sugar Only

---

The Institute of Hymen's in its Report says: "Chivers Jams of Houn, Cambridge, which have been used daily by the Staff for many years, have been found to give the most wonderful relief in all cases of enuresis and to make the patient feel well and comfortable.

---

In the early stages a good tonic for the blood and nerves will go far towards preventing the development of the disease. But the task must be to provide a good tonic for the blood and nerves.

---

FRERE—Send your address on a postcard to Post Dept., 40 Holborn Viaduct, London, asking for a free copy of 'The Nerves and Their Nerves, by

Digitised by the University of Pretoria, Library Services, 2015
DAILY SKETCH.

MRS. ASQUITH GETS £1,000 DAMAGES

Photograph is studies of the Premier's wife, leaving the Law Courts yesterday after being given a verdict by consent for £1,000 damages and costs against the Globe newspaper for libel. (See page 2.)

SNOW SWEEPERS IN THE STEEL CASQUES OF WAR.

French soldiers wearing their trench helmets of steel clear the snow from the streets of a little town just behind the firing zone. The municipal workers are all on service nowadays.—(French Official Photo.)

THE LOVE CHEAT, A Striking New Serial Story:

Begins in the Daily Sketch on Saturday.

THE PLACE THAT ONCE WAS HOME

The lonely figure of a soldier standing amid the ruins of a farmhouse is the only sign of life that war has left to what was once a cozy home.—(French Official Photograph.)

HER HUSBAND WOUNDED.

The Maharani of Tikari, whose husband has been wounded on service in France.—(Elliott & Fry.)

V.C. AT ANZAC'S DANCE.

Lee—Corpl. Keyser, V.C., with his fair partner at a dance organised by convalescent Anzacs at Deptford.