WARNEFORD, V.C., COMES HOME.

They brought Lieut. Warneford, V.C., home last night. To the capital of the Empire he had served so nobly came the body of the gallant airman, who for ten short days was the hero of his countrymen and the idol of France. The coffin, draped with the Union Jack and covered with wreaths and floral emblems—including a miniature aeroplane and an aviator's helmet—was placed on a naval gun-carriage and drawn through the streets by men of the Royal Naval Air Service to Brompton Cemetery, where the funeral takes place to-day. A vast crowd, standing with bowed uncovered heads, paid a silent tribute to the passing of the hero.—(Daily Sketch Photograph.)
WAR LOAN FOR ALL: EVERY "DOLLAR" A SILVER BULLET.

N. OF K.'S BIRTHDAY PRESENT.

Widespread Approval Of Daily Sketch Scheme.

RECRUITS AS A GIFT.

Write At Once For Special Enlistment Armbits.

The suggestion of the Daily Sketch that the 65th birthday of Lord Kitchener, which falls upon Sunday, should be celebrated by a mass recruiting drive to convert the colours has found favour with the public.

The scheme, which propose that every recruit who enlists during the campaign and sends a recruit to the colours and finds a suitable substitute, was only mooted yesterday. It was then suggested that such recruits should openly announce that their sacrifice, or the sacrifice of their relative, was in the interest of the scheme. Lord Kitchener by proceeding to the enrolment centres wearing armbits emblazon Lord Kitchener: A Recruiting Agent. The armbits were free by the Daily Sketch to anyone who wrote to call for them.

SUCCESS TO THE IDEA.

The scheme was quickly apparent. Without waiting to receive their armbits, several more men rushed to the Daily Sketch for special enlisting armbits by announcing themselves as Kitchener's Birthday Volunteers. It was not known whether the armbits were copies of the paper by the press or whether they were genuine, but it seemed evident that they were dealing with men who meant business.

LONDON was quick to seize upon the idea, and before long the recruiting stations of Major Sir Post Stewart Back, chief recruiting officer for the Royal Northumberland Fusiliers in the London area of Northumberland, had already recruited over 2,500 men in less than a week—so he had a jointmany matters to attend to and no time for the en- sult. So impressed with the idea was Sir Post Stewart Back that he decided to hold a recruiting campaign in the City to-morrow.

ALEXANDRA DAY MARCH.

"I think that the Daily Sketch has shown some brilliant talent and likely to be productive of considerable result as a recruiting agent. The Daily Sketch will doubtless be continued."

"For the defence of the British and Canadian regiments.

There is some evidence that the Daily Sketch is doing considerable good. There are several instances of individual gallantry and I think the Editor must be heartily congratulated for the success of his campaign. I have already applied for several thousand of your readers, and I am certain that my men will be interested in the scheme.

"I have been looking for a scheme like this, and I am glad to see that the Daily Sketch has taken the lead in it. The Daily Sketch is an excellent agent for the cause of the British and Canadian regiments."

WHAT YOU HAVE TO DO.

The scheme has not been slow to see virtue in its promotion. From Truro came the news that the Royal Munster Fusiliers at Truro had adopted the Daily Sketch as their recruiting agent. A recruiting campaign in County Kerry, the county of the late Sir John Luke, was also conducted for the Daily Sketch. The assistance of the Daily Sketch was sought, and a conscript of armbits was immediately dispatched.

There is no time to lose by those admirers or Lord Kitchener who are anxious to show their appreciation of the work done by the Daily Sketch. His birthday is on Thursday—only two more days—and what you have got to do in this time is—:

They will be supplied free of all cost, but you must send, and not call, for them.

Second: If you can offer your services to the country place an armbit upon your

Third: If you cannot offer the Services find those who can and persuade them to take the scheme as Kitchener's Birthday Recruits.

This is a scheme in which everyone of our volunteers can share. In every station there is no recruiting sergeant who can share in the work, and yet be lightened from the fact that the men who will make the Daily Sketch are really to be a tribute to Lord Kitchener.

GERMANS ADMIT THEY ARE FALLING BACK

The French are taking a fresh offensive on the left of their line and are gaining important successes, which even the German wireless news could not conceal.

In Lorraine a first line trench has been captured on a front of 1,200 yards and held against a strong counter-attack. In the sector north of the Fecht the enemy attempted to advance and was checked by the French artillery.

A MOTHER'S NERVES.

When the children "get on your nerves," the trouble is with your nerves, not with the children. You find yourself scolding them when you should be reasoning with them, and if you are wise you will realise immediately that your nervous system needs prompt attention.

You observe, doubtless, that you wake up in the morning unrefreshed by your night's sleep, that you feel better at night than you do in the morning. You find you are getting irritable; things worry you that did not do so formerly, and you have headaches more frequently than ever you used to.

If you let this state of health go on uncorrected you invite a serious breakdown. The proper treatment is to take more rest, stop worry and build up your blood and nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you cannot procure from your Chemist or Grocer, send 4d. ECHOES OF THE TOWN AND ROUND ABOUT.

IS LORD HALDANE COMING BACK?

A letter to the Manchester Guardian says: “I was much pleased to deliver an important speech in London on the 5th of this month. The likelihood of the return to public life of the Labour party is now not in question, and the Liberals are taking up the gauntlet.

In the course of the second week of the war, the Liberals and Conservatives have been in constant touch with each other, and the determination of the Conservatives to take the lead in the war is now evident.

The prospect of a large-scale war is now a reality, and the need for a strong and united government is clear. The Liberal party, which has traditionally opposed war, is now prepared to support the war effort.

The Manchester Guardian says: “The Liberals are now prepared to support the war effort, and their support is essential for the success of the war. The Government must take the lead and provide the necessary leadership.”

But the five bob for just the one rose shows a whole heap more profit, and leaves all the more for other things that you tumble into.

FORESTALE PRUDER.

In Frederick Scott Oliver’s “Oxford by Battle,” just published, there is this passage on mistakes.

“Kitchener, Sir Edward Grey, Mr. Lloyd George, and Mr. Winston Churchill have all made mistakes. A great crisis it is the larger characters which are liable to make mistakes. Their superiority compels them to take risks which smaller men, who are more careful, cannot avoid.”

Smaller men, please take notice.

SHAKESPEARE AT DRILL.

A correspondent writes: “I found myself drilling the other evening next to F. K. Bonetti, the famous actor, who is a very keen member of the United Arts Riders, and he beguiled the tedious evening by reading me passages from Shakespeare, which we were standing easy. Mr. Benson drew a most humorous picture of those English and the German spirit in his quotations from ‘Richard III.’”

My readers will no doubt discover the passages for themselves.

NOTABLE SPORTING TROPHIES.

A well-known sportsman put in an appearance at Christy’s yesterday afternoon, and showed the world how well the new Chancellors of the University had been used in recent years.

In a Carlton Club, Lord Dormer (here he is) in a lift at the Carlton is saying to his pretty suite of garments at the Chateau Jack, that his brother’s neighbour and fellow from the West end at the County Club, had once recognised him as the only man who interfered with Lord Kitchener over the row about ‘Cromes,’ in order to get down to that fascinating feminine role.

“Don’t you remember?” he exclaimed. “And this is the last chance I’ve got of going into it. Last night I met you the big Bourbrier-Hammen war was raging in the West!”

SOMETHING.

“Shalom” and The Shield of David.

Jews everywhere are sending me some cheery letters from the Front, in which they distinctly see the simple character that has been shorn of the simple character that has been lacking in the war. Above each little mound the Jewish chieftain has a shield of David, upon which is inscribed in Hebrew lettering the simple word “Shalom,” which means Peace.

A RECON.

“He that cometh to me, cometh to the Father.” But in this case, he came to me with his trusty little box of £5 notes. As we are now in the War, I thought he would carry on with me, and he did. The £5 bonds are now the most popular way of getting money out of the War.

CARLTON’S AUNT’S SON A NAVAL OFFICER.

Among those less grandiose connections in the Navy is Charles Prittie, who, instead of going to sea, is looking for the old-fashioned way to make his fortune. His name is Prittie, and he is the son of the late W. Prittie, of “Charley’s Aunt” fame, whose photo this is. He was the son of the late S. Prittie, of the Royal Air Naval Division on the Antwerp expedition, and is now a professor in the University.

A TESTOSTERONE’S GRIEVANCE.

A letter from a youthful testosteroner that he most strongly objects to the mordant-chombers principle, and, as I understand it, names of well-known public houses. He has no wish to see any of them opened, but, feeling that the very idea wasrepugnant, he has written to “The Angel,” the landlord of the “The Angel,” and, saying that he had a “Nag’s Head,” Holloway. He wants to know why licensed houses should be advertised in this free and easy fashion.

“Robert Cecil, Esq., K.C., M.P.”

Quinn correct as was the description, it was curious nevertheless to read in the London Gazette that Robert Cecil, Esq., K.C., M.P., was sworn of H.M. Privy Council. The writer of the “car” was careful to add “commonly called Lord Robert Cecil.”

NERVOUSNESS.

We are all, just a little bit shy. We are, thinking of bombs and Zeppelins last night as the King walked the new air-raid sectors. Then he went to the “Nag’s Head,” Holloway. He wants to know why licensed houses should be advertised in this free and easy fashion.

THE TRIALS OF MANAGEMENT.

“MORRIS” at the Ambassadors is going great guns at the moment. We saw it yesterday, and I think the only way you would seem, is ignorant of its delights. But starry.'” He called it “Madrid.” But I saw the crispness, the bohemian, whites while the contents are fine, fat stickards. These are made to stand their deal, and you, and, generally, the curse to raise their heads skywards. No imagination? Who, then?

LIGHTS OUT.

We have been a kick left in as in town on the subject of the dark streets, but Bright is rather enjoying things. They can be used to log with a vengeance, and there are no lights at all after dark, on which a brisk little Brightonite might be engaged. Sometimes,” she sighed, “I almost wish the Zepples would come. Bright’s so jolly dark now that a raid would be almost as good as a firework display.”

She was very nervously thin, and would walk screaming with terror. Then she went quite helpless, but all power. I had to carry her up and down stairs. We were advised to take her to hospital, as it was spinal trouble she had. This we did, but as the treatment did not benefit Gladys we had her home again, and commenced giving Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Improved wonderfully soon she could walk a little, and so it went on till she was quite cured. She is now seven, and ever so bright and active."

SIR JOHN FRENCH AND THE YOUNG TERRITORIAL.

Touching Story Of Solicitude For Grief-Stricken Lad.

MOTHER DIED BELIEVING HER SON HAD BEEN KILLED.

Northern France, Monday.

A story which has been recorded illustrates in the best possible manner the solicitude for his men which is characteristic of Sir John French. During a surprise attack on the Hill last Saturday when the British Commander-in-Chief came upon a boy Territorial who was in tears saying his mother had died, Sir John was surprised to see that he was sobbing bitterly as if he wrote and questioned him as to the cause of his grief.

The lad, taken unawares, made attempts to overcome his emotion, and stemmed out some sort of excuses, but the Field-Marshal was too keen to let off, and, speaking kindly, insisted upon knowing what was the matter.

SAD LETTER FROM HOME.

Thereupon the boy produced a letter. It was a tragic letter written upon a younger brother in England, telling him of the death of their mother following the receipt of an unofficial report that her son had been killed in the Frenth. The fact of his death, as usual, was in humble circumstances.

General French sent the Territorial home on three weeks' leave. He gave him, moreover, a substantial sum to help pay the funeral expenses, and he dismissed him with the words: "Bless you, my boy. Your mother, at any rate, died with the satisfaction of knowing that her son did his duty."—Central News Special Correspondent.

FONND HIS HOME IN FLAMES.

Capt. A. Forbes Gordon, of the 8th Cameron Highlanders, was mortifying his house, the Border mansion of Langlee, on the outskirts of Jedburgh, last night, when he saw the house on fire. The children were safely removed from the two-divisioned home, but the whole of the main block was gutted.

TRY MENGASIA FOR YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE.

IF NITROSITIS ACTIVITY AND PREVENTS FERMENTATION.

Don't you and you still try pepsin, bromel, seed, charcoal, drugs, etc., as if they will not cure you, and in a case such as these things will not cure your trouble, in so case you should try a little of the magic Metaksia, and your trouble will go up and down and will all be cured. As seen from all the literature on the subject, the best remedy for your trouble is Metaksia.

A small dose of Metaksia will make your trouble entirely disappear.

A party on the river. They do not seem to have a care in the world, although it is war time. Even the bulldog is nice and cool.

The very latest club is the new River-side Murray's at Maidenhead, the week-end resort of people whom you associate with the West-end. Here stage favourites and others who figure in person... paragraphs have a very pleasant time on the river and the tree-shaded lawns.

ANXIETY OF THE HON. MRS. HOOD.

Mlle. Gaby Deslys was among those who visited the New River Club.

A new photograph of the Hon. Mrs. Hood and her two children, Mollie and Peter. Her husband, Lord Bridport's heir, of the Hood Battalion of the R.N. Division, has reported from the Dardanelles as wounded and missing.—(Yevonde.)
