

Supporting Information to the paper

Rolo, V. et al. Determinants of canopy gap characteristics in rehabilitating coastal dune forests.
Applied Vegetation Science

Appendix S2. Canopy openness distribution (dashed line) modelled as a function of two ecological states: the natural variation of canopy openness (red line) and the presence of forest gaps (green line). The concurrent distribution of both ecological states depicts a mixture of two normal distributions, the one for canopy openness with a higher mean value.

