

Figure S1. Three-dimensional representation of a sacred ibis flight path in relation to a floodlight (top and side view, respectively). Using the times associated with each set of photographs and the calculated distance between each flight point, the velocity of the bird can be calculated.