

Supplemental Figure 2. Variation in the inter-assay coefficient of variation in relationship to the mean percentage inhibition over the 2 runs in 342 serum samples collected from 39 goats vaccinated against southern African territories serotypes 1–3 (SAT1–3) foot-and-mouth disease virus (FMDV) and subsequently experimentally challenged with field SAT1 viruses. The vertical dashed line indicates the typical positive threshold of 50% inhibition